Senator Places in Record Lawyers' Opinion Against Agreements

Officials, However, Show No Alarm Over Power Move

Times Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 26. (Exclusive)—Senator Ashurst of Arizona placed in the Congressional Record today an opinion by the Washington firm of Covington, Burling and Rublee stating that the Boulder Dam power contracts signed at Los Angeles are void and unenforceable. The opinion is a legalistic brief of 30 pages, purporting to analyze the Boulder Dam Act and dissect the power contracts in the light of decisions. It had been requested by Senator Douglas of Arizona, at the instance of the Arizona Power Commission of his state, undoubtedly was the senator's unsuccessful attack on the power agreements in a speech last week before the Appropriations Committee.

ARIZONA OBJECTS

Senator Douglas attempted to have the brief inserted in the Congressional Record last week, but met objection from Representative La Guardia of New York. Douglas thereupon sent it to Senator Ashurst, who succeeded in having it made a part of the Senate proceedings of today.

The opinion covers the contracts between the government and the two power takers—the city of Los Angeles, the Metropolitan Water District and the Southern California Edison Company, and holds both invalid.

Its effect on the contract with the city of Los Angeles it is "void and of no effect, and obligations under it are not enforceable because entered into without the assent of two-thirds of the voters, in violation of the state constitution."

OFFICIALS UNCONCERN FELT

Power and dam officials fail to see any serious effect from the opinion given the Arizona senator, engaged on the Colorado river, in view of the preponderance of legal judgment they have received showing that the Los Angeles contracts comply strictly with the terms of the Boulder Dam act, which safeguard the government in the project.

Ashurst tonight that Atty.-Gen. Mitchell will add his weight to the opinion favorable to the power contracts with a brief to be submitted to Congress within a few days. Meanwhile, the Appropriations Committee has the initial Boulder Dam appropriation, a closed letter and is

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, May 26. [To the Editor of The Times:] Reading all the papers over the week-end and it looks like Mr. Hoover is sorter going to get a few breaks. Even a glider airplane is not subject to as many conditions as a United States President. The cold winter was against him, the wet spring was against him, the wet Senate was against him and the dry House of Representatives was against him, high tariff was against him, low tariff was against him, big navy was against him, little navy was against him, and to add to his other hard luck the fish wasn't biting. So things just had to get better. There wasn't any way it could get worse. We shouldn't elect a President, we should elect a magician.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

Harbors and Veteran Relief Bills Will be Up After Disposal of Tariff

WASHINGTON, May 26. (AP)—Senate leaders determined definitely today after a party conference to defer action on the London naval treaty until the special session President Hoover is prepared to call and agreed on a legislative program looking to an early adjournment.

Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, informed President Hoover of this decision after a series of conferences with both Senate and House chieftains during the day and Mr. Hoover was prepared tonight to call the special session for the treaty immediately upon adjournment of the regular session.

MIAMI BOWS TO RIVAL

Long Beach in Census Lead

Florida City Has 110,025, or Gain of 272.1 Per Cent Over 1920 Total

Nevada and Arizona Among Sparsely Settled States Growing in Bounds

WASHINGTON, May 26. (Exclusive)—Miami, Fla., failed in the 1930 census to pass her rival beach city of Long Beach, Cal., in population, it was revealed today when announcement was made that Miami's population totals 110,025.

Long Beach leaped from 55,593 in 1920 to 141,390, it was disclosed in an earlier census announcement.

Although Miami's 1930 census shows an increase of 272.1 per cent, the city also was surpassed in percentage increase in the class of cities of more than 25,000 inhabitants by Glendale, Cal., which showed an increase of 362.5 per cent, and by Dearborn, Mich., which increased 1926.7 per cent.

CALABASAS TOWNSHIP DOUBLES POPULATION

Calabasas Township, in the Glendale district, was the only community figure released by the Los Angeles district census supervisors yesterday with a total population of 992 and fifty-five farms. The count represents an increase of 102 per cent over the census returns for 1920, which showed a population of 491.

INYO COUNTY LOSES POPULATION

SAN BERNARDINO, May 26. (Exclusive)—The population of Inyo county is 6604 as compared with 7031 in 1920, it was announced today by the Twelfth District California census office. The decrease is due to the elimination of farm operations in a large portion of Owens Valley by the purchase of water rights by the city of Los Angeles and to the closing of the borax mines in the Death Valley region, it was declared at the census office.

SPARSELY SETTLED STATES FARE WELL

WASHINGTON, May 26. (AP)—Proportionately speaking, Nevada, Arizona, North Dakota, South Dakota and New Mexico, among the more sparsely settled States of the Union, fared very well indeed in the 1930 census list of cities of more than 10,000 population.

Wyoming, Montana, Idaho and Utah were not quite so prosperous.

Nevada and Arizona thus far register in the count as the two States showing a more than 50 per cent increase in all cities of more than 10,000 population.

Nevada's one such city, Reno, increased by 53.9 per cent, making its count 18,483.

Arizona's two, Phoenix and Tucson, increased by 60.8 and 59.9 per cent, respectively.

Reno's large increase brought her within range of such cities as Pittston, Pa., 18,597; Auburn, Me., 18,521; Athens, Ga., 18,496; Glens Falls, N. Y., 18,527; Lakeland, Fla., 18,459 and Eugene, Or., 18,639.

Phoenix, population 47,950, now ranks just ahead of Stockton, Cal., 47,690, and Elmira, N. Y., 47,381, and just behind Everett, Mass., 48,073, and Jackson, Miss., 48,296. Tucson, 32,449, is in the midst of a varied crowd, Wilmington, N. C., 32,167; Moline, Ill., 32,330, both of which she passed; Rome, N. Y., 32,496; Meridian, Miss., 32,527, and Colorado Springs, 32,550.

South Dakota, which had but two cities, Aberdeen and Sioux Falls, on the 10,000 list in 1920, this year added three more, Huron, Rapid City and Watertown.

Rapid City, where former President Coolidge held summer capitol in the high school building, came in with an 80 per cent increase, the largest percentage of growth of any city in the State, making its population 10,387.

Sioux Falls, largest city in the State, now has a population of 33,342, in closest range to a Midwest array: Kokomo, Ind., 32,342; Norwood, O., 33,200; Mansfield, O., 33,434; Mansfield's twin, Waukegan, Ill., 33,434, and Joplin, Mo., 33,464.

North Dakota, which had Fargo,

WOMEN STRIKE FOR LIBERTY

Denver Irreconcilables Walk Out on Husbands in Rebellion Against Home Routine

DENVER, May 26. (AP)—A revolt against the conventions and routine of everyday life is in progress here today with eleven women, nine of them married, in seclusion in the country home of Mrs. Henry Swan.

The eleven women departed from Denver today, leaving children and husbands behind and forbidding communication of any kind with the Swan home. Husbands repaired to clubs and children went into custody of nurses as wives and mothers left the city.

The women jointly expressed a determination to "get away from it all" for a rest from the whole business of routine living. They are a little tired, they said, of bridge games interrupted by a clock which proclaims time to go home and prepare for dinner. They also are a little weary of luncheons and parties.

They say they have performed their wifely and domestic duties faithfully and well and, like their men folk whom they are forsaking for a week, are in need of a vacation.

A program for each day of the week has been outlined, a spokesman for the group said, but other than the facts that it schedules ropeskipping for morning and "bridge to their hearts' content for afternoon," and possibly evening, there is no definite information as to the activities.

RED RIVER PARISH HIT BY FLOODS

Two Villages Marooned and Hundreds of Families in Refugee Camps

SHREVEPORT (La.) May 26. (AP) The height of the Northwest Louisiana flood coursing down Red River and its valley lowlands, marooning several small towns and making refugees of hundreds of families, today centered in Red River Parish, twenty-five or thirty miles southeast of here.

The high water's progress from there will be through Natchitoches, Rapides and Avoyelles parishes to the Mississippi River.

Flooding is looked for in Natchitoches Parish as the swollen stream moves on, but at Alexandria, in Rapides Parish, next in the path of the flood, no fear of serious consequences was felt today.

Two villages in Red River Parish, Armistead and East Point, are marooned and mail was carried into the villages over the Louisiana and Arkansas Railroad on push cars by men in water waist deep today.

Hundreds of families in the Parish are in refugee camps set up by the Red Cross and are being cared for by the Red Cross.

COL. TURNER SET FOR HOP HERE TODAY

One-Stop Trip Will be Made from New York in Plane Like Lindbergh's

There is no record for a one-stop East-to-West flight across the country. Capt. Frank Hawks holds the nonstop record of nineteen hours, ten minutes and thirty-two seconds.

Turner said he probably will make his one stop at Wichita. He will carry his lion cub mascot with him.

He will use the same plane he flew in from Los Angeles here. It is similar to the one used by Col. Lindbergh, but has a 525-horsepower motor, 100 horsepower more than the Lindbergh plane.

LOST-FIGHT COST HIGH

Grundy's Outlay Put at $291,000

Senate's Funds Committee Gets Pennsylvania Primary Details

Wet's Bill Runs to $200,000 But Full Figures for Davis Lacking

WASHINGTON, May 26. (AP)—The Senate campaign-funds investigating committee learned today that Senator Grundy spent $291,000 of his own money in his unsuccessful race for the Pennsylvania Republican Senatorial nomination, while Secretary Davis, the winner, contributed $10,541 to his own campaign expenses.

The cost of the Senatorial campaign of Francis H. Bohlen, who headed the wet ticket, including Thomas Phillips for Governor, was placed at $200,000. The ticket ran third in the primary race of last week.

Robert L. Montgomery, treasurer for the wet ticket, testified the National Association against the Eighteenth Amendment contributed $100,000 to this campaign. Mr. Bohlen told the Senators he spent no money for his campaign but did a lot of hard work which he would not do over again "in a thousand years."

OUTLAY FOR GRUNDY

The cost of the Grundy campaign was put at $332,076 by Thomas Bell, treasurer for the defeated Senator. He said a campaign chest of $338,602 was collected and some bills remain to be paid.

The Senate investigators failed to get any definite idea of the cost of the Davis campaign. The Secretary had an alliance with Francis Shunk Brown, gubernatorial candidate, who was defeated by Gifford Pinchot for the Republican nomination.

Samuel Vauclain, treasurer of the Davis-Brown ticket, and the treasurers of the Davis-Brown campaign committees in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh were ordered to submit early reports.

Questioned as to what he thinks of the expenditure of $291,000 of his own money to seek a Senate seat and as to what he thinks of limiting these expenses, Senator Grundy smiled and said he is against limitation.

POOR MAN'S CHANCE

"Has a poor man a ghost of a chance of being elected in Pennsylvania?" asked Chairman Nye.

Grundy replied he did not believe Gifford Pinchot had spent much money in his successful race for Governor.

Recalling the Senate had called an expenditure of $191,000 in the Newberry case excessive and that Ruth Hanna McCormick this year spent $232,000 of her own money, committee members asked Grundy where the line should be drawn.

He replied he would not draw any line. Under the primary law, where the appeal must be to all the voters, he said, "the money must be spent."

"Do you think laws limiting campaign expenditures are illogical?" persisted Wagner.

"Yes, so long as money is spent according to the law."

Senators Dill, Democrat, Washington, and Wagner, Democrat, New York, examined Secretary Davis closely as to whether he had given any instructions to the Davis-Brown campaign managers about guarding against election irregularities. Davis said he had not taken any action, other than to say he wanted "a clean, pure election."

Grundy said the great proportion of his money was spent for "advertising and printing."

He said contributions were given to thirty of the sixty-seven county organizations and that he had no alliance with any other State candidates. The other $47,000 given to his campaign was scattered over a number of contributors, he said.

Chairman Nye withheld comment pending receipt of records of the costs of the Davis-Brown ticket. He said the committee is ready to call in county organization heads, if necessary, to determine the full amounts.

Davis said he conferred with William S. Vare of Philadelphia before announcing, and he understood he had the support of the Vare machine.

PURCHASER NOT GUILTY

High Court Rules on Liquor Law

Decision on Liability if Sale Involves Transportation Not Rendered

Sheppard Will Press Bill for Penalizing Patrons of Bootleggers

WASHINGTON, May 26. (AP)—The buyer of bootleg liquor was held by the Supreme Court today not liable to prosecution as a violator of the prohibition laws if the question of illegal transportation and possession be not involved.

The court declined, however, in another case, to declare whether purchasers who know illegal transportation will be involved are guilty of conspiracy to violate the prohibition law. It found that the case in which the government had sought to raise that issue had been foreclosed by the plea, equivalent to one of guilty, which had been entered when the accused was arraigned.

In a third case, the court held manufacturers using liquor and alcohol in the preparation of a nonbeverage product are entitled to operate until their permits are canceled for some violation and cannot be compelled annually to renew their permits.

ORIGIN OF CASE

The two cases decided on their merits were defeats for the government, and all three decisions were without dissent.

James E. Farrar of Boston, was indicted for purchasing liquor from a bootlegger. The Federal District Court for Massachusetts quashed the indictment, taking the position that the prohibition law does not, as the government had contended, make the purchaser equally guilty with the seller.

The government appealed directly to the Supreme Court, which, in an opinion by Justice Sutherland, declared the contention that any purchase without a permit was illegal could not be sustained. The court pointed out that the permit related to that class of persons who are authorized to deal with intoxicating liquors for nonbeverage purposes. Purchasers from bootleggers, it added, could not under any circumstances obtain a permit to make such purchases.

NO SPECIFIC LAW

Justice Sutherland stated that "since long before the adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment, it has been held, with practically unanimity that, in the absence of an express statutory provision to the contrary, the purchaser of intoxicating liquor, the sale of which is prohibited, is guilty of no offense."

Suggesting that Congress may have considered it more important to make the purchaser available as a witness against the bootlegger, the court added it had failed to enact any specific legislation making the purchase of liquor illegal.

Asserting the government for many years had not considered the purchaser guilty, the justice concluded that Congress in enacting the Volstead Act had "deliberately and designedly omitted to impose upon the purchaser of liquor for beverage purposes any criminal liability."

The second case was that of Alfred E. Norris, a New York banker, who was indicted for conspiracy with a Philadelphia bootlegger, from whom he frequently ordered liquor. When arraigned he entered a plea of "nolo contendere," intending to contest the question.

GUILT CONFESSION

He sought to attack the judgment entered by the Federal District Court at Philadelphia, and was sustained by the Circuit Court of Appeals, which took the broad ground that the purchase of liquor is no offense under the prohibition law.

The Supreme Court, in an opinion by Justice Sutherland, held the plea was equivalent to one of "guilty" and the trial court had properly sentenced Norris. Under these circumstances it found there was no question open which would

WORK CENSUS RELEASED

Supervisors Authorized to Give Out Figures on Unemployment Situation

WASHINGTON, May 26. (AP)—Immediate announcement of the unemployment census by all supervisors has been authorized by Census Director W. M. Steuart.

This will make possible a far speedier summary of the unemployment survey than by a Census Bureau compilation after all schedules arrive in Washington, as was first contemplated.

Supervisors, who earlier had been advised they were not to give out any information concerning unemployment, have now been informed that inquiries have become so numerous it was decided to permit announcement of the figures.

The census director's letter asked supervisors only for announcement of "the most significant class" of the unemployed, those "without a job, able to work, and looking for a job." The supervisors were instructed they must not give out any further information from the unemployment schedule at this time.

These figures, like other early census returns, are to be considered preliminary and subject to correction. They will be supplemented later by data given out from Washington for other classes of persons not at work at the time of the census, such as those who had a job, but were sick or temporarily laid off.

For cities and minor divisions whose populations already have been announced, supervisors were instructed to issue supplemental announcements.

Where schedules already have been sent to Washington, count will be made and figures announced from the Census Bureau.

Director Steuart authorised supervisors to make any explanatory statement with regard to unemployment as is thought "proper or advisable," to prevent "misunderstanding or misinterpretation" of the figures.

RED CHURCH RAIDS BACKED

Russian Desecrations Defended by College Professor Before Chicago Ministers' Session

CHICAGO, May 26. (Exclusive)—The church in Russia is getting what it has coming to it. And the same may be said of the church in America, where it is fast losing ground.

Prof. Edward A. Steiner of Grinnell (Iowa) College, shocked a meeting of ministers with that truculent statement today at the Central Y.M.C.A.

"The church in Russia," he declared, "receiving what appears to be desecration at the hands of the atheistic Communists, is only getting its just due, and the church of the United States, fast losing ground in the face of commercialism, is also receiving its just due."

The American situation is due to the growing unpopularity of the church "because the ministers are succumbing to the attacks of commercialism."

"The philosophy of the 'God of size and wealth' is towering over the true God as the skyscraper towers above the humble houses of worship," he asserted.

Prof. Steiner said that the Russian church has never been Christian, but pagan with a thin veneer of Christianity, and always was linked hand in glove with the Czar until the revolt.

Oklahoma City, capital of the newest State, showed a gain of 100.27 per cent, with a 1930 population of 182,845, compared to 91,550 counted in 1920.

Tulsa takes second place in the State after a ten-year argument with the capital as to which is the larger city. The first 1930 figures show Tulsa has 140,531 residents, an increase of 94.9 per cent over the 72,075 of 1920.

Texas' largest city is Huston, ship-canal port city, which has a population of 290,811, compared with 260,297 for Dallas and 254,562 for San Antonio, the largest city in the State ten years ago. Dallas remained in second place through the last decade. Houston jumped ahead of both Dallas and San Antonio. The latter city had an increase of 57.7 per cent.

The first three Texas cities all jumped from below the 200,000 mark to the 250,000 class.

El Paso did a remarkable job of growing, increasing from 77,560 in 1920 to 101,975 in the 1930 totals.

Topeka, capital of Kansas, jumped 28 per cent over its 1930 count with 64,005 at present.

DANCER MOVES TO SAVE DOGS

Irene Castle Opens Refuge as Police Get Order to Kill Canines

WAUKEGAN (Ill.) May 26. (Exclusive)—An order to the police to shoot all unlicensed dogs today brought Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin, good samaritan to all canines, to their rescue. She asked all residents who cannot buy tags for their pets to take them to her dog haven, Orphans of the Storm, at Deerfield, in order to escape execution.

Waukegan last year executed 500 dogs.

POWER PAPERS UNDER ATTACK

prepared to incorporate the $10,660,000 item in the second deficiency bill, which probably will be reported to the House late this week.

Such action is contingent only on receipt of revised contracts making it certain that the power contractees will take and pay for their entire allocation from the start and that the 1.63 mills price set by Secretary Wilbur will be a "minimum" charge never to be lowered.

AMENDED CONTRACT READY FOR COUNCIL

The Board of Water and Power Commissioners today will go before the City Council for ratification of an amended contract concerning the allocation of power from Boulder Dam as between the city, the Metropolitan Water District and the Edison Company, as units, with the government.

Following a meeting of the board yesterday with some of the directors of the water district an insertion for the protection of the city was made by the commissioners in an amendment proposed to the contract by the Edison company.

The changes occurred in the contract article as to the agreement in event the district shall fail for any reason to use all or any of the energy allotted, that is, for pumping water unto and in its aqueduct, and the Edison company there inserted the phrase that "the Secretary (of Interior) shall dispose of such unused energy, crediting on the district's obligation the proceeds of such disposition as received."

Within that phrase the board inserted . . . "of such unused energy, (until required by the district for said purpose) the proceeds," etc.

A provision is asked that no disposition of energy be made by the Secretary without first giving to a successor to the district which may undertake to build or maintain a Colorado River aqueduct the opportunity to take the allotted energy under the same terms to which the district is obligated.

A further provision is requested that in the event no such successor takes the energy, no disposition shall be made by the Secretary without first giving to each lessee the opportunity to contract on equal terms and conditions, to be prescribed by the Secretary, for one-half of such energy, together with such portion of the remainder as the other lessee shall not elect to take.

While the board and directors of the water district are prepared to sign the amended contract and present it to the Council for ratification, R. J. Coffee, Denver counsel for the Reclamation Service and representative of Secretary of the Interior Wilbur, is to have further conferences with Edison officials on the contracts.

With the ratification of the Council, provided the phrase inserted by the board meets no objection from the Edison company, the amended contract will be forwarded to Washington for the consideration of the House Committee on Appropriations.

Supreme Court Rules in Test Case require it to rule whether the purchaser who orders knowing that illegal transportation is involved is guilty of conspiracy.

Its action left that question for decision when a case can be found which presents the controversy in a form permitting a ruling on its merits.

The permit decision was in five cases, brought by the government against the Galeno Chemical Company, and others; D. P. Paul & Co., Inc.; W. H. Long, Inc.; the Swanson Chemical Corporation, and Martin H. Cooper, all of New York City.

AMENDMENT PROPOSED

There is a difference of opinion among Senate dry leaders as to the advisability of pressing legislation to fasten guilt equally upon the buyer and seller.

Senator Sheppard, Democrat, Texas, has such a measure pending and he announced after the decision today he will urge its early enactment, but Senator Jones, Republican, Washington, author of the Jones law, said he doubted the wisdom of such legislation.

Meanwhile opposition arose to the action of the Prohibition Bureau under the recent Supreme Court decision that paraphernalia and ingredients intended for use in manufacturing liquor might be seized.

A delegation of Wisconsin Legislators protested to Prohibition Commissioner Doran against the seizure of $6000 worth of such articles from John Lang in their State last week. Doran told the delegation he had had no report on the seizure.

DECISION WILL NOT ALTER PROCEDURE HERE

Daniel Beecher, chief trial deputy under Dist.-Atty. Fitts, yesterday stated that the United States Supreme Court decision will have no effect upon California prosecutions under the Wright Act.

According to Beecher, California law enforcement officers have concentrated their efforts solely upon the prosecution of offenders for sale, possession, transportation and manufacture of intoxicating liquor.

The Wright Act, Beecher said, was passed by the State Legislature and incorporates all of the provisions of the Volstead Act as they existed at that time.

Inasmuch as California authorities never have attempted to prosecute anyone for purchase of liquor, the decision will not alter the procedure, according to the prosecutor.

NAVY PACT VOTE TO BE DELAYED

cuss a definite date for adjournment while the rivers and harbors bill and the veterans' relief measures still are pending in the Senate. The Republican Senate steering committee agreed to give them the right of way after the tariff, however, and Senator Watson was looking to an adjournment by mid-June.

Senator Johnson, Republican, California, protested at the Senate party conference against "rushing" through the London pact and disputed with Senator Reed, Republican, a London delegate, over the merits of the treaty.

Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, acting chairman of the steering committee, announced the veterans' relief bills and the House motor-bus regulation measure will follow in order the rivers and harbors legislation.

TREATY BOMBARDED

Meanwhile certain high naval leaders continued their bombardment on the treaty before the Foreign Relations and Naval committees.

One after another of the admirals voiced disapproval of the limitation placed upon American eight-inch-gun cruisers.

Answering the request of Senator Johnson, the Foreign Relations Committee decided to request Secretary Stimson to turn over to it the correspondence exchanged between this country and Great Britain prior to the visit last year of Prime Minister MacDonald. In these discussions the preliminary negotiations for the London agreement were undertaken.

Naval officers heard today by the two committees included Admiral Charles F. Hughes, Vice-Admiral William C. Cole, commander of the scouting fleet, and Rear-Admirals L. M. Nulton, George C. Day, and William H. Standley, assistant chief of naval operations, and Capt. Alfred W. Johnson.

He expects to remain away from London for a month.

NEW DRY PLAN GETS APPROVAL

House Judiciary Group Acts on Modified Program

Three Measures in Move to Expedite Enforcement

One Bill Provides for Trial Before Commissioners

WASHINGTON, May 26. (AP)—A modified law-enforcement commission program to expedite prohibition enforcement and relieve Federal court congestion by defining misdemeanors under the Jones law and authorizing their summary prosecution before United States commissioners was approved today by the House Judiciary Committee.

After four months of deliberation the committee agreed on three bills designed to carry out the commission's recommendations. The measures were approved in a supplemental report submitted by Chairman Wickersham of the commission and Atty.-Gen. Mitchell. However, the bills do not grant broad discretionary powers to district attorneys and United States commissioners as originally recommended in the report submitted to Congress in January by President Hoover.

PROVISIONS OF BILLS

The Stobbs bill to amend the Jones law to fix the maximum punishment for misdemeanor violations at six months' imprisonment and a fine of $500, defines a misdemeanant as one who is not a habitual violator and who has in his possession, sells or transports not more than a gallon of liquor.

The first of the other two bills by Representative Christopherson, Republican, South Dakota, amends the United States code, defining a felony as an offense which may call for punishment of not less than a year's imprisonment, and misdemeanors calling for a maximum penalty of six months in jail, a $500 fine or both.

Under the second Christopherson bill, summary prosecution of offenses defined as misdemeanors under the Stobbs amendment and the first Christopherson amendment, is authorized before United States Commissioners.

It authorizes prosecution by complaint or information without a jury, but sets out that a Federal judge must either confirm or disapprove the commissioners' recommendations. Under it the District Attorney cannot refer an accused to the grand jury on a felony charge after he has entered a plea before a commissioner. However this measure would not affect the case of a violator who is bound over to the grand jury by the commissioner.

The Judiciary Committee had been unable to reach an agreement on the commission's recommendations previously and Chairman Graham requested Chairman Wickersham for a supplemental report, noting that there "seemed to be a wide diversity of opinion" as to what legislation the commission desired.

"I was directed to advise you," Wickersham wrote, "that the commission feels that among the bills so far suggested, its recommendations would be most effectively carried out by the passage of the following bills," referring to those approved.

MITCHELL LETTER

Atty.-Gen. Mitchell wrote Chairman Graham:

"The commission has given very careful consideration to these measures, and speaking for this (Justice) Department, I accept their conclusions on the various points that have been under consideration and hope that they will receive favorable consideration from your committee."

Chairman Graham was instructed by the committee to expedite consideration of the measures in the House along with measures to authorize the appointment of seventeen additional Federal district judges to relieve congestion in various courts.

Immediately after the bills were reported, Representative La Guardia, Republican, New York, described the program as a "legislative monstrosity," adding that "in a desperate attempt to do something, an entire new system of criminal procedure has been hastily, ill-advisedly and most unscientifically slapped together."

La Guardia said he will file a minority report.

WARDEN'S CHILD TO ACT IN FILM

Joan Marie Lawes Signed by Fox Corporation

Born Within Sing Sing Gates, Child Now 8 Years of Age

She Will Appear on Screen in Prison Life Theme

NEW YORK, May 26. (Exclusive) Joan Marie Lawes, 8-year-old daughter of Warden Lawes of Sing Sing prison has been engaged to act in pictures under a long-term contract by the Fox Film Corporation.

Her first appearance on the screen will be in "Up the River," a comedy of prison life, written directly for the screen by Maurine Watkins and to be produced under the direction of John Ford.

All her life Joan, or Cherie, as she was nicknamed, and called by the prisoners at Sing Sing, has always been familiar with prison life. She was born at the warden's home within the prison gate, June 23, 1922, and has always been permitted to travel freely about the prison and been on friendly terms with the prisoners. Aside from her schoolmates at Ossining Seminary, Cherie's only friends are the prisoners and servants in her father's home.

The little girl whose charming personality, frank blue-gray eyes and beautiful long, brown curls have made her the pet of the prisoners, is a gifted dancer.

With childlike eagerness she looks forward to making the trip to Hollywood in the company of one of her sisters. She is one of three children—one sister, Kathleen, attending Cornell University and the other, Crystal, a student at the University of Vermont.

Cherie has one regret in having to leave the prison environment which she has always known; she must leave behind her pony, bicycle, dolls, buggy and other toys which she cherishes. Since her contract is a long-term one it is likely that these things will be shipped to her when she is settled in the film colony.

EQUITY SETTLES TWO-YEAR ROW

Details of Pact With Agents Become Public

Gillmore Re-elected Head of Actors' Group

Coast Fight Not Abandoned, He Makes Known

NEW YORK, May 26. (Exclusive) Details of the plan to end a two-year dispute between the Actors' Equity Association and a dozen casting agents and personal representatives were heard for the first time and unanimously approved today by approximately 600 Equity members, assembled in their seventeenth annual meeting.

The plan submitted by the Equity council retains the regulation by which the agents and representatives must receive licenses from the association before obtaining employment for its members. The licenses stipulate again that agents can charge no more than 5 per cent of an actor's salary for ten weeks and that personal representatives can collect no more than 10 per cent for the duration of their clients' contracts. Equity's concession to the agents is the creation of an intermediate class of personal representatives.

CALLED ACHIEVEMENT

If such a special representative guarantees to aid the actor personally in obtaining engagements and negotiating a salary of more than $125 a week, he will receive 5 per cent of the actor's salary for the run of the play.

The agreement, which was reached Friday by Equity officials and Julius Kendler, acting for the personal representatives, was characterized by President Frank Gillmore as "one of Equity's most significant achievements."

GILLMORE RE-ELECTED

Referring to Equity's unsuccessful attempt to extend its organization to the motion-picture industry in Hollywood last summer, Gillmore announced to the membership that "the fight has not been abandoned," adding that "although Equity lost, it obtained 100 per cent better contracts and more respect for the actors."

Gillmore, who has been president of Equity since December, 1928, was re-elected on the regular ticket. John Emerson, whom Gillmore succeeded as president, was re-elected honorary president; Arthur Byron, as first vice-president, replaces Ethel Barrymore, whose name was omitted from the ballot for the only time in many years as a result, it is said, of her asserted quarrel with Equity's policies on the west coast last summer. Florence Reed replaces Berton Churchill as second vice-president.

Overproduction Listed by Edge as Economic Ill

PARIS, May 26. (AP)—Ambassador Edge told a group of French and American business men today that an excessive increase in production, due to the wider use of machinery and the development of water power, is one of the economic ailments of the world which ought and must be cured in some way.

Speaking at a luncheon given by the American Chamber of Commerce in honor of the French chamber, he pointed out that while the increase in population is represented by the figure 115 as compared with 100 for the prewar period, increased production runs to much higher figures—122 for wheat, 143 for sugar and 123 for cotton.

He declared that barriers to commercial exchanges will continue until a healthy point is reached in balancing production.

Court Reverses, Also Affirms, Realty Verdicts

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26. (AP)—The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals today reversed two decisions and affirmed another in ruling on three appeals from District Court judgments awarding property holders in the Rio Linda district, near Sacramento, damages against the Sacramento Suburban Fruit Lands Company. All of the cases involved, asserted fraudulent representations made by the company to prospective purchasers.

The court reversed an $8000 judgment in favor of John V. Kral and one for $4000 in favor of Anton and Kate Handler on the grounds the trial judge's instructions to the jury were argumentative and unfair. It affirmed the judgment in the case of George and Mary Weber against the suburban company.

Boys Believed Flood Victims

BALTIMORE, May 26. (AP)—In the belief that four boys who disappeared during a storm Saturday afternoon may have been swept down a storm sewer by sudden flood waters, city employees joined with parents and neighbors today in a widespread search.

The boys, Wilbert Alban, 15 years of age; Donald Moore, 12; Francis Welden, 9, and John Kelly, 14, had been playing near the sewer inlet at the edge of the city and had entered it despite warnings of nearby residents.

SAFE ROBBERS CARRY OFF PLUNDER IN BOAT

SANDPOINT (Idaho) April 26. (AP) Safe robbers sailed away with a safe containing $2000 here early today, using a boat to carry the plunder across the waters of Lake Pend Oreille.

Police reported the Eagle pool hall was entered about 1 a.m. by men who rolled the safe down to Sand Creek, loaded it into a boat and sped away like the buccaneers of old, leaving no trail for police.

Mexico Told of Hopes for Measure's Defeat

MEXICO CITY, May 26. (Exclusive)—Large American business interests in Mexico have been given the aid of the Southern Pacific Railroad, Southern Pacific Railroad of Mexico and the Missouri Pacific Railroad in their fight against passage of the Harris-Box bill, which would place Mexico on a quota basis, and in the opinion of these interests, would not only upset the existing friendly relations between Mexico and the United States, but would have a serious effect on the trade relations of the two nations.

Paul Shoup, president of the Southern Pacific Company, in a telegram today to President Ortiz Rubio, relayed through E. B. Sloan, representative here of the company, has the following to say: "We are getting all of the chambers of commerce and other business and agricultural organizations on the Pacific Coast to protest against Harris bill. We hope to have it stopped."

PROTESTS WIRED

Shoup, who sent his wire from San Francisco, declares that all the directors of Southern Pacific have sent messages to leaders in the House of Representatives protesting against the bill and that "we are quite hopeful that it will not become law and are doing everything in our power to that end."

The United States Senator from Missouri, Harry B. Hawes, has taken the Missouri Pacific's objections into the Senate and telegraphed C. D. Hicks, local representative of the Missouri Pacific, that he is "in accord" with the objections raised against the bill.

MESSAGE FROM TEXAS

Hicks also has received a telegram from the San Antonio office of the company in which it is stated the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce supports opposition to the bill as does Representative Garner from Texas. The telegram says "this district doing everything possible to defeat this bill on the ground that this legislation is adverse to the best interests between our country and Mexico," and that everything possible will be done to secure President Hoover's veto should Congress pass the bill before adjournment, June 15, next.

BURNED LINER'S CREW ALL SAFE

City of Honolulu to Return Under Own Power

Fire Damage Confined to Superstructure

Will be Rebuilt Here on Luxuriant Lines

HONOLULU, May 26. (AP)—All members of the crew of the City of Honolulu were accounted for at a roll call ordered today by officials of the Los Angeles Steamship Corporation, owner of the vessel, following persistent rumors that two of the crew perished when fire attacked the liner in its berth here yesterday. It was impossible to search the ship today for possible casualties because it is partly under water.

Flames broke out on the City of Honolulu about 4 p.m. (6:30 p.m. P.S.T.) yesterday. More than three hours later the liner was scuttled at her pier in an effort to extinguish flames which defied the efforts of the entire Honolulu Fire Department and four fireboats.

NO PASSENGERS ABOARD

No passengers were aboard when the fire started, all having gone ashore previously. Only members of the crew and Lassco employees were on the liner.

Officials of the steamship company at Los Angeles today said the steamer will be raised immediately and proceed to Los Angeles under her own power for repairs. Meanwhile another ship will substitute for the City of Honolulu in the company's California-Hawaii service.

DAMAGE ESTIMATED

Company officials said the City of Honolulu is valued at about $2,500,000 and that damage to the ship by fire will reach a figure not nearly half that large. Damage was confined mostly to the vessel's superstructure.

Capt. George H. Zeh, commander of the liner, said he believes he can take the City of Honolulu back to Los Angeles Harbor under her own power.

LINER WILL BE REBUILT ON LUXURIOUS LINES

Restored to a finer degree of luxury than before the fire which ravaged her after-superstructure while at dock in Honolulu Sunday night, Lassco's liner City of Honolulu will be back in service by mid-September, it was announced yesterday by Ralph J. Chandler, vice-president and general manager of the Los Angeles Steamship Company. After burning since 4 p.m. Sunday, the fire was extinguished at 3 o'clock yesterday morning, fire damage having been confined to the boat deck and passenger decks A, B, and C aft of the social hall bulkhead, said Mr. Chandler.

POWER PLANT UNDAMAGED

A radiogram from her commander, Capt. George Zeh, disclosed that the engines and boilers of the vessel are undamaged. The stern only is resting on the harbor bottom in thirty-two feet of water, said Capt. Zeh, estimating that the ship, which is on an even keel, can be floated and towed to the Pearl Harbor dry dock within a week. To supervise salvage operations, Capt. Leb Curtis, marine surveyor, will leave from San Francisco this morning, while T. W. Warkman, Pacific Coast head of the London Salvage Association, will depart from Seattle, for Honolulu tomorrow. Marine construction experts estimated, from meager details of the damage, that restoration of the City of Honolulu to service will cost in excess of $500,000.

PLANS UNDER WAY

Her machinery undamaged, she will return to Los Angeles Harbor under her own power for reconditioning. Mr. Chandler estimates a delay of three weeks at Honolulu for refloating and to temporarily repair the vessel for sea, so that she should reach here about July 1.

"We are already at work on plans to rebuild her with even more luxurious accomodations and modern equipment," said Mr. Chandler. "Meanwhile, the City of Los Angeles and Calawaii will handle the Hawaiian traffic under a "tightened" schedule, already in effect."

Passengers booked to sail on the City of Honolulu, from the Hawaiian port on the 31st inst. will be transferred to vessels of other services or may return on the City of Los Angeles, departing Honolulu, June 14.

Kirk, who had said he was the son of an official of a condensed milk company in Seattle, admitted, police said, he had used the story in the hope of soliciting financial aid from sympathizers.

Doran Inquiries Into Cause of 'Jake' Paralysis

WASHINGTON, May 26. (AP)—A more intensive investigation into the cause of the "jake" paralysis prevalent in many parts of the country has been instituted by Prohibition Commissioner Doran.

Returning to Washington after a two weeks' trip in Mississippi and Louisiana, he said the concoction imbibed consisted of creosote, carbolic acid, alcohol and ginger flavoring and contained some impurity believed to be causing the malady. He expressed the opinion that the impurity was contained in the creosote.

The commissioner said that on the southern trip he received direct information as to the activity of the distributors of the concoction.

NATIONALISTS' RULE PERILED

China Crisis Warning Given by Finance Minister

Immediate Defeat of Rebels Declared Imperative

Reds Held Responsible for Prisoners' Escape

SHANGHAI, May 26. (AP)—The Nationalist government of China faces another crisis menacing its safety. President Chiang Kai-Shek, personally commanding the government forces in Honan Province, which, since the 8th inst., have been attempting to turn back the Northern Alliance rebel armies, was informed by Finance Minister Soong that immediate victory is imperative to prevent grave detrimental developments within the government.

Backing his appeal for the quick defeat of the rebels who have fought a series of battles with Chiang's troops, the Minister's telegram states that Communistic and bandit depredations throughout China, failure of crops and demoralized business are combining to present the gravest menace the Nationalist government has encountered in its brief and turbulent existence.

FINANCIAL SITUATION

The government's depleted treasury has been subjected to an almost continuous levy to meet a succession of revolts, to wrestle with banditry that has scourged several provinces, and with plundering and massacre. Fields unplanted by farmers turned bandits or soldiers are unproductive, the country's buying power has faded, due to the drop in price of silver, and business failures are numerous.

The old story of asserted Russian participation in Communistic activities was revived today. A representative of the Nationalist government on completing a tour of the Yangtse Valley, the heart of China, asserted the various Red armies of China are instigated by the Russian Third Internationale to terrorize the populace. The purpose is to embarrass the Nationalist government.

BANDITRY SPREADS

Fighting a crucial series of battles with the Northern Alliance generals, the government has withdrawn its troops from many provinces. In consequence, banditry that has pilaged Kiangsi, Fukien and Kwangtung provinces in South China for many months, has spread to virtually all provinces south of the Yangtse River and to several north of that great artery.

Agreeing that there have been heavy losses on both sides, the Nationalist leaders assert their forces are converging on Chengchow from Eastern and Southern Honan for a decisive battle.

YOUNG ORATORS LEAVE CAPITAL

Seven Finalists Will Gather Later for European Trip

Judges' Trouble in Choosing Champion Disclosed

Several Ballots Necessary to Center on Gullion

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 26. (Exclusive)—The five boys and two girls who were finalists in the seventh National Oratorical Contest left for their homes today, following a weekend round of sightseeing and entertainment in the national capital, to meet again July 22, next, in New York, when they will embark for an eleven weeks' European trip as guests of the Los Angeles Times and associated newspapers sponsoring the contest.

The trip abroad is the reward given the high-school orators for carrying off first honors in their respective contest zones.

The difficulty which the judges at Saturday night's contest had in deciding the national champion was disclosed today when details of the balloting became known. On the first ballot Seymour Peyser of New York placed first with the west coast entry, Vernon Lawrence Withuhn of Seattle second and Edmund Gullion of Washington third. Gullion was the final winner.

JUDGES CONFER

Nobody received the five first places necessary to create a national champion on the first ballot and a consultation of the judges was held to determine the ranking of the first three speakers.

A second ballot was taken and it resulted in Peyser and Gullion each getting three firsts, and Withuhn two, eliminating the latter. A third vote of the judges showed four for Peyser and four for Gullion. After a discussion lasting twenty minutes, one of the arbiters swung over to Gullion, giving him the crown of national oratorical champion.

This year's contest is the first in which the East has furnished a national champion.

The contest began seven years ago and the Pacific Coast, the South and the Midwest have carried off the honors twice, each.

In 1925, the first year of the contest assumed national proportions Don Tyler, 19 years of age, of Los Angeles, was winner. That year, however, Washington made a determined bid for the championship through Miss Ruth Newburn, 18, of Eastern High School, who was tied with Tyler on the first ballot.

OTHER WINNERS

The next year the champion was Robert Sessions, 15, of Birmingham, the youngest orator to emerge victorious from the national finals. Herbert Wenig, 18, of Hollywood, won in 1926, and Miss Dorothy Carlson, 18, of Salt Lake City, won in 1927.

In 1928, Kentucky, the State in which Gullion was born, and also the birthplace of Miss Lourene Mokstad and William C. Turner, who represented Chicago and Louisville, respectively, in the contest this year, sent a champion to Washington in James R. Moore, 18, of Somerset.

Last year's winner was Ben Swofford, 18, of Kansas City.

The pleasure program arranged for the youthful orators wound up last night with a dinner and meeting of the Constitution Club at the home of John Hays Hammond, engineer, who has taken a leading interest in the contest since its inception, and who was one of the officials at Saturday night's finals. Young Withuhn of Seattle, who won third place, was the only contestant not present at the Hammond home. He left earlier in the day for home and high-school examinations.

Oil Promoter Loses Appeal

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26. (AP)—The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals today affirmed a Los Angeles District Court judgment finding J. W. Alford, principal in the "ten-way-to-win syndicate" oil case, guilty of conspiracy to use the mails to defraud and sentencing him to five years in a Federal prison. Judge Dietrich dissented from the majority opinion.

Alford was asserted to have obtained large sums of money by fraudulently representing he was drilling a development well on a 10,000-acre tract of patented oil land in Cimarron county, Oklahoma.

At his trial it was established he did not have title to the land and that he had not started drilling for oil.

Dope and Rum Found on Ship

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26. (Exclusive)—Hidden under coils of wire rope and other ship's gear, 370 one-tael tins of narcotics valued at $10,000 and fifty bottles of whisky were discovered today by customs inspectors on the Dutch tanker Phobos.

No arrests were made but Surveyor of Customs Tracey is conducting an investigation.

BAY CITY POLICEMAN SUED BY COLLEGIAN

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26. (AP)—Louis Lang, San Francisco policeman, was made principal defendant today in a suit for $150,000 damages filed by Donald Keyes, 25 years of age, San Mateo Junior College medical student, injured by a beating said to have been administered by Lang. Codefendants with Lang are George K. Whitney and Leo C. Whitney, proprietors of a beach cafe; Robert Barnett, manager; F. C. Ware, assistant manager, and Kenneth Underwood, a policeman.

WALES OPENS TRADE PARLEY

Development of Commerce in Empire Emphasized

Value of Communications as Time Saver Stressed

Prince Heard by Federation of British Chambers

LONDON, May 26. (AP) — Three hundred delegates from all parts of the empire today heard the Prince of Wales open the twelfth congress of the Federation of the Chambers of Commerce of the British Empire.

Both in the Prince's address and in the Presidential address by the Earl of Iveagh the need for development of empire trade was stressed.

"It is trade," declared the Prince, "upon which every portion of the empire is built up, and it is trade to which each part must look for its continued existence."

The royal heir emphasized the importance of communications in shortening the distances within the empire and said he himself has experienced the manner in which flying brings closer relations, adding that he hopes to do a great deal more flying. He congratulated Amy Johnson on her "plucky single-handed" attempt to shorten the time between England and Australia and her remarkable achievement in flying that distance in nineteen days.

COMMITTEE APPROVES INCREASE IN NAVY BILL

WASHINGTON, May 26. (AP)—A net increase of $97,000 in the $380,571,000 voted by the House for the Navy next year was approved today by the Senate Appropriations Committee in reporting the last of the regular appropriation measures to the Senate. The provision in the House bill authorizing $555,000 for the naval station at San Diego was eliminated. All changes are subject to House approval.

AUTOGRAPH BRINGS EASE TO LAST DAYS OF ARTIST

NEW YORK, May 26. (AP)—John Cecil Clay, whose declining days were made easy by an autograph, died yesterday.

In his prime Clay was known as the "Crayon Reporter" for his sketches of eminent New Yorkers. Then he was stricken with paralysis.

He was penniless and his suburban home, Butterfly Farm, was falling into disrepair when he read several years ago that an autograph of Button Gwinett, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, was worth a lot of money.

He remembered that his father, Col. Cecil Clay, had such a letter, written by Gwinett to an ancestor, John Ashmead, and in an old barn behind his home he found the document among forgotten papers.

It had not only Gwinett's signature, but those of five other signers of the declaration, and at an auction in New York it brought $51,000.

Two days later the barn burned down.

With his new-found wealth Clay had Butterfly Farm refurnished and repaired. It was there that he died yesterday at 55 years of age.

Bandits Shoot Three Victims

OMAHA, May 26. (AP)—Two bandits driving about the roads west of Omaha last night shot down three of their victims after robbing them. Each was wounded in the right leg.

The first victim was Miss Elsie Schroeder, 24 years of age, who was shot as she pleaded with one of the bandits to return a keepsake.

Albert Noeft was shot because he had no money and because he failed to get out of his car quick enough to suit them.

Joe Caniglia, 20, was shot when he refused to get out of his automobile.

Grand Jury Accuses Trio on Conspiracy Counts

Legal Deputy Files Slander Suit for $50,000

SEATTLE, May 26. (AP)—Prohibition Administrator Lyle and his legal adviser, William M. Whitney, today were indicted by the Federal grand jury which has been investigating the graft charges against the northwest prohibition unit.

Earl Corwin, prohibition agent, also was indicted on two counts. He made arrangements to post $2500 bail.

It was made known that Whitney was charged with "conspiracy to accept a bribe," and Lyle, Whitney and Corwin each were charged with conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act, the Tariff Act and the Internal Revenue Act.

Whitney today filed a $50,000 slander suit against Ralph H. Horr, Seattle attorney who, in addressing the Washington State Republican convention in Bellingham Saturday, inferentially charged Whitney with having participated in liquor deals.

FIVE LOS ANGELES STORES CONVENIENTLY LOCATED

'round the town with don herold

THERE are three "flannel days" ahead this week. Friday is Decoration Day. That spoils Saturday for work. Then comes Sunday. I propose a general exodus.

We might as well all tear loose and take a real vacation with all the trimmings—including flannel pants and a lazy sport coat.

This makes today, tomorrow and Thursday good days to get 'em—I mean the flannel pants and sport coat—at Desmond's. They're cool and economical as well. They'll pay for themselves saving wear on your other clothes. And they do add that holiday dash!

I'VE been wondering where I got the mistaken idea that Parmelee-Dohrmann's is an expensive store. I used to think I oughtn't to go in there with anything short of a $1000 bill.

I wonder if the name itself sounds expensive. Maybe if it were "Brown & Jones," it would not sound so heigh-ho.

Of course it is a fine store and a good-looking store, and when, in passing down Flower street, you peek into it, you do see some expensive-looking things, and maybe you, like I, have scampered past, leaving such swell stores for millionaires.

But I woke up to my mistake the other day when Helen and I went down to look for a wedding gift for Fred and Ethel. We saw full sets of 32 pieces of china for as low as $4.25—and beauties, too. Right alongside plates for $1000 a dozen! And all through the store I noted good-looking inexpensive things.

Fact is, Helen forgot all about Fred and Ethel on that trip, and bought herself a huge brilliant green bread and cake box for $1.18, a high-powered vegetable grater with a crank for $1.35, and a nifty bedside dimmer light, with four degrees of dim for $4.65.

GUDE'S had a letter from a man who said his Arch-Preservers are so comfortable he wishes he could sleep in them. This is an actual fact.

Helen (my missus) likes hers so well that she dreads to wear out her ordinary shoes. I think she'll wind up by giving her ordinaries (some almost new) to Tillie, our toiler.

What gets Helen is their beauty. She didn't think anything so comfortable could be so smart in appearance.

A funny thing about Arch Preservers. The women's are made by Selby. The men's by E. T. Wright & Co. The basic patents are the same. The specialized manufacture makes both kinds better, Gude's sell both.

THE Marmon double-dome combustion chamber is not as Greek as it sounds.

Even Helen has been able to get into her single dome a faint idea of what the double dome is all about. She asked me why the motor pulls so powerfully and I explained it was partly due to this d. d. combustion chamber.

Incoming gas mixture, instead of entering through a little slit, first comes into a little vestibule. That's one dome. It passes from here into the main combustion dome. That's the other dome.

In swirling around these two domes, the gas gets all swished up in figure-8 fashion. Any old gas remaining from the previous explosion gets well mixed with the new fresh gas. In ordinary chambers the spark sometimes goes off in a bunch of dead gas, and the explosion is dud or delayed. But every Marmon explosion is as crisp as a cookie, because the double dome mixes new gas with any old gas so viciously.

"The point is, one good explosion is worth three weak ones. You know how cars pull weakly on cold mornings at first — not a good enough mixture at first. Do you get it, honey?"

"Uh, huh. But gee, these sponge rubber arm rests on this rear seat sure do feel good to my funny bone."

Here against next Tuesday.

MOFFETT GETS CAUGHT IN FIX

Admiral Tells Choice of Sunnyvale Base

Afraid of Hydroscopics Around San Diego

But Had to be Prompted What Word Meant

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 26. (Exclusive)—Rear-Admiral W. A. Moffett, chief of naval aviation, chairman of the special naval air-base investigating board, and strongest proponent of the Sunnyvale site in the California dirigible-base controversy appeared as witness today before the House Committee on Naval Affairs, without making the impression on the committee for which the adherents of the northern location had hoped.

The admiral spoke in a low monotonous voice reading a prepared statement with such rapidity that members could barely understand what he was saying. Chairman Britten was forced time and again to request the witness to read more slowly as the committee was missing his points.

Moffett, aside from injecting two new opinions, confined his testimony to attempted contradiction of statements made by previous witnesses, notably those of Rear-Admiral Reeves of the Navy General Board. Admiral Reeves, who submitted the minority report of the special site-investigating commission favoring the southern site of Camp Kearny near San Diego, was the only officer of equal rank with Moffett on the investigating board. The other officers, who supported Moffett's report were junior officers of his department.

MOFFETT'S TESTIMONY

Moffett opened his statement by saying "I consider that the Sunnyvale site is definitely superior to Camp Kearny. I believe that strategically and tactically Sunnyvale is superior."

This statement was in direct contradiction to the testimony of Admiral Reeves who stated that Camp Kearny would be the nearest point to the theater of war and as such is superior to the northern site. He was joined in this view by Admirals Chase and Day, both members of the Navy General Board and leading naval experts in this country.

Moffett brought up the question of the airship operating to Alaska and stated that this would move the strategic center of a triangle made by the Canal Zone, Alaska, and Hawaii to Sunnyvale. This allegation had been previously denied by Admiral Reeves who stated that even if Alaska were included in the triangle at present with its northern apex in the Puget Sound area, the strategic center of dirigible operation would still be below San Diego.

The air admiral surprised the committee with the statement that Lakehurst is 900 miles nearer the canal zone than San Diego and the airships on the East Coast could protect the Panama Canal while the West Coast ships would operate along the Pacific Coast.

NOW AS TO HYDROSCOPICS

This was one of the two new factors set before the committee and the strongest point in Moffett's testimony. The second of the two additions caused considerable amusement to the southern base adherents when the admiral was unable to answer a committee member's question.

Moffett stated that the Camp Kearny field was subject to dust-whirls which would cause the deterioration of the ship. He explained this by saying that the dust in that region is hydroscopic and that when it settled on the framework of the ship it would absorb moisture, causing rust and early deterioration of the metal surfaces.

Representative Andrews of Massachusetts interrupted the witness by asking him eo explain to "an ignorant man" what was the meaning of "hydroscopic." Moffett turned to the man next to him, and finally said that Commander Rosendahl had explained it to him and requested the commander to explain it to the committee.

Rosendahl explained his chief's dilemma by saying that "hydroscopic" dust is extremely dry dust particles which readily absorb moisture.

Moffett said that this condition is not true of Sunnyvale and also that wind conditions are better at the northern site.

He said that Sunnyvale would be easier to defend as it lies between ranges of hills while Camp Kearny is open to shell fire from submarines carrying eight-inch guns. Previous witnesses from the Naval General Board emphatically stated that such a contingency is not worth worrying about.

SLAPS AT SOUTHLAND

Moreover, Moffett stated, that Camp Kearney would be protected only by 100 or so seaplanes in time of war, whereas Sunnyvale could be protected by seaplanes operated from that base for the protection of San Francisco.

Admiral Reeves told the committee last week that there "would be hundreds, perhaps thousands of planes based in the southern area" in time of war, and that in his opinion a seaplane base is impossible at Sunnyvale, as it is too far from the bay.

Moffett also took a slap at Southern California, apparently on general principles, when he said that "air operations in Southern California have been greatly overdone" referring to heavier-than-air as well as lighter-than-air craft.

In outlining the work of the special board, Moffett said that it has investigated 104 base sites of which ninety-seven are in California.

He concluded his today's testimony by stating that he believed that no reason has been given or can be given to uphold the claims that Camp Kearny is superior to Sunnyvale strategically, and that he believes the general board will admit Sunnyvale's superiority to Camp Kearny in time of war.

BAY'S POPULATION

All members of the general board who have taken the stand in the past ten days of the hearing have denied that Sunnyvale would be superior in time of war, or peace, from the strategic or any other standpoint.

Moffett will return tomorrow to complete his testimony and for a cross-examination by committee members.

Representative Evans of Glendale was both amused and surprised when Admiral Moffett stated that there were about 5,000,000 people in the bay area of San Francisco in 1930. Evans estimated that there are not more than 5,500,000 people in the entire State at the present time and at least half of these are in Southern California.

POWELL AS DETECTIVE PROVES CAPABLE ACTOR

CHICAGO, May 26. (Exclusive)—William Powell, whose film portrayals of Philo Vance, the scientific crime detector, have made him known to millions, proved today that after all he is only a screen detective. When he discovered that his baggage, which arrived with him on the Santa Fe's Chief from Los Angeles, had mysteriously disappeared, his confusion was great.

"Do you know," said Mr. Powell, "I am perfectly helpless in a case like this. The last seen of my luggage was when it was piled on a truck and wheeled away. I suspect a man in a red cap."

Then he whipped out a magnifying glass and made a minute study of the red brick wall of the station, while cameras clicked.

Mr. Powell is en route to New York and Europe. He will motor through Europe with Donald Colman and Ernest Torrence.

"We have mapped out no definite itinerary," he said, "but will vagabond it for three months and go wherever fancy calls us."

ROME USHERS IN ROGATION DAYS

Fasting and Prayer Will be in Order for Catholics

Imposing Procession Listed on Program Today

Ceremonies Merely Prelude to Feast of Ascension

ROME, May 26. (AP)—"The "rogation days," marked by fasting and prayer and designed to prepare the Catholic world for the feast of the ascension which falls on Thursday, began today with the services in honor of St. Philip Neri, known as "The Apostle of Rome."

This three-day period of special devotion had its origin about the middle of the fifth century, A.D., and was formally recommended for observance by the church all over the world by the First Council of Orleans, in 511. The practice seems to have started in Vienna, as an act of gratitude on the part of the faithful of that city after having been saved from a dangerous fire in the cathedral.

Tomorrow, second of the rogation days, will be commemorated with an imposing procession in St. John Lateran, "mother chureh of Christendom," and the cathedral of the Roman docese. Wednesday, the third day and the vigil of the ascension, will be marked by a no less grandiose cortege of clergy and laity in St. Peter's. On that day, too, the English ecclesiastics and seminarians in Rome will commemorate St. Augustine, First Bishop of Canterbury, who died in 604 or 605. This saint is not to be confused with the other Augustine, Apostle of Northern Africa, Bishop of Hippo and doctor of the church, the fifteenth centenary of whose death has already been observed this year.

POSTAL RATE RISE POSTPONED

SHANGHAI, May 26. (AP)—The Nationalist government Ministry of Communications announced today that the proposed increase in postage to points in Europe and America, scheduled to go into effect June 1, next, had been postponed until July 1, in order to give the International Postal Union fifteen days' notice as required by the union's regulations.

Mitchell today to report on enforcement of the Packers' Consent Decree since March 19, 1928, with information on the packers' efforts to have the decree modified and the Justice Department's attitude toward modification. The resolution by Senator Black, Democrat, Alabama, was adopted without objection after he declared that the Attorney-General is "now leaving the case to be fought out by grocers' associations."

JUDGE'S DEATH HELD ACCIDENT

Oakland Service for Victim of Tragedy Simple

Engs's Body Cremated and No Pallbearers Used

Courts Throughout County Closed in Afternoon

OAKLAND, May 26. (Exclusive)—While the simplest of funeral services were being read today over the body of Superior Judge Engs and the Superior courts of the county were suspended for the day in his honor, a Coroner's jury decided the 55-year-old jurist plunged accidentally to his death into a quarry near the Claremont Country Club from a narrow trail along its rim. The jury verdict was rendered despite the testimony of one witness who was positive foul play had entered into the death of the judge for whom the entire north and central sections of California had been searching for more than a week.

SEARCH RECOUNTED

Daniel McGregor testified he felt sure Judge Engs had been pushed from the trail, supporting his assertion with testimony he and a troop of Boy Scouts searched the quarry, including the dense willow copse in which the body was located, most thoroughly a week ago. The body was not there at that time, he said.

However, medical testimony that the judge had been dead at least a week prompted the jury to an accidental-death finding. It is believed he slipped from the trail while taking a walk the morning he disappeared from his own bedroom, just before he was to have sentenced the convicted defendants in one of the Alameda county graft trials. Judge Engs for years had been in the habit of taking morning walks in the vicinity.

The body was found yesterday by Jack E. Maher, iron worker of Alameda, and Paul Bonham, shirt manufacturer of Oakland, who had spent a week in active search, spurred by two rewards aggregating $1000.

NO PALLBEARERS

Judge Engs's body was cremated this afternoon. Services were so simple no pallbearers were requested and only a short eulogy was given. It was delivered by William Nat Friend, Oakland postmaster.

Because of the suspension of the courts, the Lesser-Horwege-Austin trial was postponed until tomorrow. John G. Garbutt, assistant superintendent of the Alameda county detention home, obtained a continuance on his motion for a new trial. He was convicted with former City Commissioner Parker. Trial of Burton F. Becker, ousted Sheriff; Cromwell L. Ormsby, Los Angeles attorney, and J. L. Davis, former deputy sheriff, was continued to June 9.

DEFENDANTS IN KEYSTON CASE FREED

Judge Reverses Action on Demurrers to Conspiracy Indictment of Nine

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26. (AP)—Federal Judge Kerrigan today sustained demurrers to the conspiracy indictment in the Keyston embezzlement case, thereby reversing the stand he had taken previously in overruling the arguments of defense attorneys. His only explanation of his action was that he is "convinced my recent ruling was wrong."

The ruling frees Douglas C. Alexander, Charles H. Clay and Elmer J. Griffin, all employees of the Lieb & Keyston brokerage house, from charges of participating in the conspiracy to embezzle approximately $550,000 from a San Francisco branch of the Bank of Italy.

Six other defendants in the case, including George M. Keyston, resigned president of the San Francisco Stock Exchange, also were freed of the conspiracy charges, but remain open to prosecution on four other counts charging misapplication of bank funds.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Wallenberg said he will seek the reindictment of all nine defendants on the conspiracy charge.

Plunder in Bank Box Raid More Than $110,000

ST. LOUIS, May 26. (AP)—Approximately $94,000 in negotiable bonds and about $20,000 in cash were stolen by burglars who plundered the safe-deposit vault of the Grand National Bank here yesterday, Ed Mays, president of the depository, announced after a check-up today.

The bonds, mostly industrial issues, were the property of customers and the cash belonged to the bank. Thirty boxes were plundered and one customer, whose name police withheld, reported a loss of between $40,000 and $50,000 in bonds.

Queer Malady Takes Toll of Children in Community South of Bisbee

BISBEE (Ariz.) May 26.(AP)—The fourth death since Thursday at Forest Station, little community thirteen miles southeast of Bisbee, from a malady the character of which has not yet been determined, was reported today by Dr. R. B. Durfee, Cochise County Health Officer.

The last fatality was an 8-months-old Mexican boy, Dr. Durfee said. The other victims also were Mexican children.

Physicians who have taken part in an investigation of the malady expressed belief that it might be infantile paralysis, but they said some of the symptoms and several medical tests have failed to bear out this theory.

Dr. Durfee has started a check of all deaths in the district during the last two weeks in an effort further to trace the disease.

Forest Station, which has a population of approximately 200, is under strict quarantine placed by Dr. Durfee.

Two Children Die as Result of Stove Blast

BRANDON (Man.) May 26. (AP)—Burns received when a gasoline stove exploded in their tent at a tourist camp here last night caused the death today of Joe, 5, and Sandra, 2 years of age, children of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Williams of Los Angeles.

The family arrived at the camp yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Williams left the children asleep in their tent while they prepared dinner in the camp kitchen. Two other children and a maid were asleep in the family automobile when the fire started.

The mother was in a hospital today suffering from the shock of the accident. The father was treated for burns on the hands, received while he was trying to save the children.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26. (AP)—Women are going back to bobbed hair, was the observation voiced today by Vernon L. Rose of Sacramento, State secretary of the Master Chirotonsors Association, new and flossy name for the California State Master Barbers, in fifth annual convention here.

"Women who let their hair grow for six or seven months say 'I can't do anything with it. I am going back to the bob'," declared Rose.

SEAGRAVE MAY HALT BOAT DASH

Speed Attempt Threatened With Delay Due to Row on Patents in Motor

LONDON, May 26. (Exclusive)—Sir Henry O. D. Seagrave, holder of the world's automobile speed record of 231 miles per hour, may indefinitely postpone his proposed attempt to regain the world's water speed record for Great Britain in a new $125,000 speedboat, Miss England II, due to a last-minute dispute over patent rights.

Lord Wakefield, owner of the boat, which is said to be capable of 100 miles per hour, today was informed by Hubert Scott-Paine, managing director of the British Power Boat Company, that Miss England's engine contains parts which infringe on patents held by his company. Unless the matter is adjusted to his satisfaction Mr. Scott-Paine threatens to make out an injunction to prevent the boat from being launched.

Both Sir Henry and Lord Wakefield declare the letter was a bombshell to them, and will make desperate efforts to arrange the mater so the boat can be launched in the next few days as planned. The letter does not mention the specific part of Miss England's motor which assertedly infringes on the patent.

Ziegler was found wandering about the ledges and undergrowth. While in a part of thirty-one other men hunting wild goats, he became lost. His absence was not discovered until the group returned here. Marsh and Ziegler set out and shortly after midnight found the missing hunter.

He had not suffered and was attempting to make his way back to this city.

Fate Snuffs Out Would-be Killer

CHICAGO, May 26. (Exclusive) In a crowded city street today Charles C. The arm of coincidence, reaching out through the person of Detective Sergeant John Barton of the stockyards station, had intervened to save the life of Mrs. Seavers.

ARIZONA RELICS LINK OLD ERAS

Casa Grande Discoveries Deemed Important

Indicate Cultural Contact of Distant Tribes

Beautiful Pieces Found in Cotton Field

TUCSON (Ariz.) May 26. (AP)—Dr. Charles Van Bergen and Arthur Woodward of the Southwest Museum of Los Angeles disclosed here today a belief that beautifully carved and decorated ceremonial pieces, potteries and incense burners found in a cotton field near Casa Grande, Ariz., indicate "a direct cultural contact at some distant period" of Central American and Mexican Indians with the Gila tribes.

Scientists who previously have made a study of Casa Grande relics have agreed that they are of a pre-Christian era.

MANY ARTICLES

Drilled sandstone disks, patterned with mosaics, are included in the relics which the Los Angeles scientists believe link the Indian cultures. There are also remains of mirrors made of iron pyrites similar to mirrors used by ancient inhabitants of Guatemala. Other articles which add to the mute testimony of the touching of the ancient civilizations, Van Bergen and Woodward said, are effigy vessels and plates, rings and bracelets, bowls, and a gem carved with the figures of three ducks.

Van Bergen and Woodward have spent most of their time since last January in researches of the ancient ruins at Casa Grande. The relics that have been found transcend geographical and political boundaries in their immense importance to science, they said.

FEDERAL PERMITS

They assured Dr. Byron Cummings, archeologist of the University of Arizona, however, that a representative collection of the articles will be left in the Arizona State Museum and the museum at Casa Grande.

The work of Van Bergen and Woodward at Casa Grande has been carried on under a permit from the Secretary of the Interior. Their researches have been made, they said, in a desire to learn "what is below Casa Grande."

Rio de Janeiro Round Trip Takes Forty-eight Hours

Two Struts of Rear Gondola Broken During Journey

Eckener Plans to Take Off on Voyage North Today

BY GUSTAV KAUDER

(Copyright, 1930, in the United States and Canada by the New York Times Company. Elsewhere by Ullstein A. G. All rights reserved.)

PERNAMBUCO (Brazil) May 26. (Exclusive)—The Graf Zeppelin landed here punctually at 9 o'clock this morning, (4 a.m., P.S.T.) The whole trip from here to Rio de Janeiro and back took forty-eight hours, including the change of passengers and mail, while all the planes on the same route require forty-eight hours for the one-way trip, staying overnight at Bahia.

The bad temper of the Brazilians about the uncertainty of the visit to Rio de Janeiro, was completely changed through the appearance of the silver giant and they admired us at least as much as we admired the beauty of their city. They showered flowers and gifts on Dr. Eckener, the most valuable being from the Brazilian Aero Club and Touring Club.

We ran into bad weather again at Bahia but landed punctually here this morning, the ship being tied to the mooring mast. Awaiting us here was William R. Leeds, who will join us for the trip to Lakehurst and the Old World.

Two struts of the rear gondola have been broken. This, however, will only take a short time to repair. In any case Dr. Eckener will try to start tomorrow at 11 p.m.

A night garden fete was given by the German Club in which the American, English and Spanish colonies participated. The club, for the first time in its history, used the black, red and gold flag of the German republic. A golden medal was presented to Dr. Eckener which praises him as the second Columbus.

Storm Symptom Found Off Coast

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26. (AP)—Three "disturbances" which may develop into anything from brief periods of cloudiness to storms are slowly drifting toward the Pacific Coast from the ocean, Thomas R. Reed, forecaster for the United States Weather Bureau, announced tonight.

The outlook, he said, is for fair weather, but with considerable cloudiness in California and the Intermountain region Tuesday and probably Wednesday, "and for unsettled conditions in the Pacific Northwest with rains west of the Cascade Mountains by Wednesday. The tendency will be toward lower temperatures in most parts of the Far West."

REPAIR WORK STARTS ON BRITISH DIRIGIBLE

CARDINGTON (Eng.) May 26. (AP)—The airship R-100 after waiting three days for the weather to permit her removal from the mooring mast to her hangar, today was shunted into the shed and before noon workmen were at work on her damaged stern. The airship buckled slightly during her flight last week. About three or four days will be needed for the work.

BLOODY RIOTING OCCURS IN INDIA

Three Large Burman Cities Scene of Disorders

More Than Score Killed and Hundreds Injured

Salt Raids Also Continue; Many Arrested

BOMBAY, May 26. (AP)—Bloody rioting here, in Rangoon and Dacca today brought British authorities in India face to face with a serious situation in these three large cities of Burma and the Indian Peninsula.

The rioting at Rangoon, the most serious of the day, had no direct connection with the civil-disobedience campaign of the Nationalists. It broke out between different bands of coolies, when laborers were imported to replace striking Burmese dock workers. The latest reports gave twenty-six dead and nearly 700 injured.

BAZAARS CLOSED

All bazaars were closed and cavalcades of mounted police clattered through the streets in large patrols. Detachments of the Cameron Highlanders and the Punjab regiment were on the alert and ready to intervene if necessary.

The rioters were brought under control by a vigorous display of force late in the day but none of the officials could guarantee how long the relative calm will last.

In Dacca, an important city of Bengal, 150 miles northeast of Calcutta, Hindus and Moslems fiercely fought each other during the day. Six deaths were reported and many injuries. Scores of arrests were made throughout the city by the authorities.

HELP SUMMONED

The situation was still so serious tonight that the chairman of the district telegraphed the Viceroy of India, Lord Irwin, for adequate police help "in order that the people may feel they are still living under the British government."

Communication with Dacca was extremely difficult and has been so for the past few days, but everything indicates that feeling among Hindus and Mohammedans is very tense.

Bombay did not escape unscathed. Two persons were killed and nineteen injured, including a Mohammedan woman, during the suppression of a riot in the heart of the Moslem quarter. A mob of 5000 Moslems stoned European policemen.

The police were compelled to fire several volleys, first over the heads, and then into the mass of the rioters. They were forced to fire in self-defense.

CAUSED BY TRIFLE

The disorders, which were centered in the Bhendi Bazaar, were caused by a mere trifle. A Mohammedan hooligan threw stones at a dog belonging to a European police sergeant and when the sergeant started to pursue him a group of Moslems began throwing stones.

A riotous mob of 5000 rapidly gathered. They marched on the police quarters and stoned the buildings and the police, who finally responded by revolver fire.

Armed police finally got the mob under control and dispersed them.

Salt raiding continued to engage the police. At Wadala 200 were injured and several hundred other Nationalists arrested in a raid on the government salt pans under eighty-three prominent leaders. The natives stormed the wire inclosure and thirty returned with baskets of salt.

The disturbance around the salt depot continued until the police were obliged to fire six rounds into the mob, wounding many.

COMMONS BEGINS DEBATE ON INDIA

LONDON, May 26. (AP)—Debate on Great Britain's Indian situation began in the House of Commons today with a plea from Wedgwood Benn, Secretary of State for India, for a "rebirth of mutual understanding and respect" between the mother country and her restless Asiatic domain.

The discussion was adjourned without the taking of a vote. Mr. Benn, defending Labor's Indian policy, asserted that in spite of apparent unrest the vast majority of Indians are continuing their peaceful pursuits. He declared the government intends to keep a firm hand on malcontents.

RAIL CLERKS WIN BATTLE ON DISPUTES

Injunction Against Espee Branch Line Sustained in Supreme Court Ruling

WASHINGTON, May 26. (AP)—The Supreme Court today sustained an injunction restraining the Texas and New Orleans Railroad, a branch of the Southern Pacific system, from interfering with, intimidating or coercing its clerical employees in selecting their representatives in labor disputes.

The controversy was regarded as of great importance not only to labor but to the railroads because it presented to the highest court for the first time the question whether injunctions could be issued under the Railway Labor Act of 1926.

Pointing out that transportation acts of 1920 provided for voluntary arbitration but not for compulsory relief, the chief justice analyzed the subsequent developments to show that it was the intention of Congress to give teeth to legislation aimed to preserve harmony in the relations of the railroads and their employees, and provided a practical plan to accomplish that result.

War Department Measure Passes

WASHINGTON, May 26. (AP)—The $456,544,151 War Department supply bill passed the last legislative hurdle on its road to the White House today with House approval of the conference report reconciling its differences with the Senate.

New Population Added Every Four and a Half Days

LOS ANGELES' permanent population is increasing at the rate of 1000 each four and one-half days. It is estimated conservatively that an annual gain of 77,600 will be maintained between now and 1935.

For each new 1000 population there is a corresponding increase of $1,174,094 in assessed valuation (land only) in the city...equivalent to a gain of $2,348,188 in actual appraised valuation.

The rise in actual appraised valuation of land in Los Angeles for the last two five-year periods has averaged:

$462,196 each day
$3,235,372 each week
$14,055,380 each month

The profits represented by this $168,644,560 a year gain in the city's land values go to investors who have had the vision to buy property in areas where value-making factors have been established...where growth will be greatest...and who hold it through such temporary depressions as may occur in general business conditions between peaks of activity in the realty market.

Consistently, generation after generation, real estate has proved the safest and most profitable investment, less subject to change or conditions than any other security.

IN 1930 Los Angeles is continuing to grow faster and build faster than any other major city in the United States. For the first four months of this year Los Angeles stands second only to New York in volume of building construction, with a total of $27,085,813 for the period...Indications point to a banner year.

The Los Angeles area is developing faster in people and wealth than any other section of the nation...so fast that every 24 hours sees an important rise in average land values.

Los Angeles at this time is the locality of all localities for profitable realty investment. Continued increase in values may be anticipated.

Immense realty activity is indicated for the next three to five years... greater growth. Realtors' organizations are steadily increasing standards of efficiency and service...making available to investors expert counsel regarding trends of growth in and around the city...where to buy for greatest possibilities of profit. Consult a Realtor.

STUDENT BODY GOES ON STRIKE

Protest Launched Against Removal of Principal

Reedley High and Junior College in Turmoil

Resolutions Passed Urging Dr. Hauck's Retention

REEDLEY, May 26.—Protesting the dismissal of Dr. E. W. Hauck as principal of the Reedley joint Union High School and Junior College, more than 500 students, comprising the entire student body of the school, today went on strike, and adopted resolutions which said that they will not return to school until the board of trustees of the school resigns.

Instead of entering their respective classrooms as usual this morning, the student body assembled on the lawn in front of the school and unanimously adopted resolutions demanding the retention of Dr. Hauck.

Dr. Hauck's dismissal was voted by the school trustees last Tuesday night by a vote of 3 to 2. The action of the board came in the face of a vigorous protest signed by 876 persons, including the parents of several hundred of the students, and by a student demonstration.

EDITOR BACKS BOARD

At last week's meeting of the board, community leaders of Reedley and Orange Cove urged the board to reconsider its proposed action, more than a dozen prominent business and professional men, members of the school faculty, junior college student body, and Parent-Teacher Association being numbered among the speakers. The only speaker in support of the board's action was John Fairweather, publisher of the local weekly newspaper, the Reedley Exponent.

Although refusing to re-elect Dr. Hauck, who had served as principal of the high school for eight years, the trustees have declined to date to state publicly any reason for principalship as justification for his dismissal.

their action. The board met tonight but no action was taken either for a renewal of the contract of Principal E. W. Hauch, or for a return of the approximately 500 students who went out on a strike this morning.

RUMOR FROM MEETING

Although the meeting of the trustees was held in secret, it was reported here that a resolution introduced by Dr. C. H. Traber that the entire board of trustees resign and seconded by H. H. Bennett, was defeated.

Dr. J. H. Hare, president of the board, announced after the meeting that some action will be taken at the next weekly meeting of the board to induce the students to return to their classes.

The question of Dr. Hauck's administration of the high school and creation and operation of the junior college during his term as principal, was an issue in the recent school election, and it is the assertion of his opponents that the majority of the board was elected on a basis of economy in the school and his removal.

Proponents of his removal give the increased cost of high school operation during his tenure of the

HAUCK AVERTS STRIKE

A strike of the student body was averted last Wednesday, when Dr. Hauck urged the students to resume their classes. The strike movement was launched last Wednesday when it became generally known that the trustees had refused to re-employ Dr. Hauck, but the walkout was averted by the principal, who advised the boys and girls that such a movement at that time would be of no assistance to him and would reflect upon the discipline of the school.

Today the students took the matter into their own hands and their action was directed at the school trustees' session tonight, at which, they were advised, a successor to Hauck was to be appointed. Dr. J. D. Hare is chairman of the school trustees. Other members of the board are W. P. Hartley, Roy Hillyard, Dr. C. H. Traber and H. H. Bennett. Hartley and Hillyard who were elected to the board recently on an economy platform, voted with Dr. Hare for dismissal of Hauck.

HOUND-DOG RING MUZZLED

Missouri Farmer Kicks Over Mail-Order Purchase for $50 of Cur He Sold for Two Bucks

BATESVILLE (Ark.) May 26. (AP)—The break-up of a hound dog fraud ring which came about when a Missouri farmer discovered he paid a mail-order price of $50 for a dog he previously had sold for $2 today resulted in an eighteen months' sentence for E. R. Moody of Hickman, Ky., reputed leader of the ring, on a charge of using the mails to defraud.

Moody and six others involved in the operations of the ring which was said to have fraudulently disposed of worthless dogs to huntsment and dog fanciers at high prices pleaded guilty when arraigned before Judge Martineau in Federal court.

Mack Lyons of Phoenix, Ariz., also was sentenced to eighteen months in the Federal penitentiary; Paul Davis and Bob Finley, both of Charleston, Mo., were fined $500; Mrs. Lillian Scott of Charleston was fined $250. J. R. Pierce and Gene Russell, both of Bee Branch, near Heber Springs, Ark., were placed on probation.

BAPTIST CRITIC SCORES CANNON

Georgia Church Leader Hits Bishop Over Charges

Says Methodists at Dallas Whitewashed Him

Market Activities Decried as Harm to Religion

SAVANNAH (Ga.) May 26. (AP)—The Savannah Morning News today published a sermon of Dr. John E. White, president of the Georgia Baptist Convention, in which Dr. White criticised the disposal of charges of stock speculation brought against Bishop James Cannon, Jr., at the recent conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

In the prepared sermon which Dr. White delivered at the First Baptist Church here last night, he said, in part:

"This is not a matter for Methodists only—it upsets us all. It is a wound keenly felt by all evangelical Christianity. It is especially a heavy blow to the cause of prohibition for which Baptists and Methodists in the South stand together in close sympathy.

"There should have been some way for a great church conference to indicate its support of Bishop Cannon's prohibition activities and, at the same time, to repudiate his gambling activities. The conference passed resolutions condemning all sorts of gambling, but it whitewashed the gambler. It pronounced against a public evil in the abstract, but condoned it in the concrete.

"Many great and good things are doubtless being done by the conference, but it will go down in history as the general conference of the Southern Methodist Church which whitewashed a gambling bishop."

ALEXANDER'S TOMB HUNTED

Museum Head, After Twenty-Five Years, Obtains Right to Dig Under Cairo Mosque

(Copyright, 1930, by the New York Times)

CAIRO, May 26. (Exclusive)—After twenty-five years of pleading Prof. Breccia, curator of the Greco-Roman Museum at Alexandria, announced today he has obtained possession of the keys to the mosque of the Prophet Daniel beneath which he hopes to find Alexander the Great's grave. He received the keys from the Ministry of Religious Foundations.

Breccia paid a tribute to Prince Omar Toussoum, the King's cousin, also to the Ministry of Religious Foundations, emphasizing the change which has come over Moslem prejudices against archeological research and praising the new desire to co-operate with Europeans and Americans or to direct the operations themselves.

Breccia has lost no time in getting to work. Soundings thirty feet deep have been dug, but nothing has been revealed yet, save for the fact the soil has been repeatedly turned up in modern history because of building and rebuilding. Breccia said the excavations will be long, difficult and costly, requiring the demolition of houses nearby. This entailed a delay in negotiations over indemnification.

Breccia persists in believing the Nebi Daniel mosque is Alexander's tombsite, but he holds out scant hope of sensational finds despite a clause in the contract that the body be undisturbed if found. He shuns press publicity now that his patient efforts to obtain permission from Moslem authorities have borne fruit.

MATCH CZAR BEGS LIGHTS

Kreuger's Peculiarities Revealed by Press

Swedish Capitalist Former Chicago Salesman

Loans $350,000,000 Among European Countries

NEW YORK, May 26. (AP)—Imagine Henry Ford without an automobile, and then consider Ivar Kreuger, the world's foremost match manufacturer, who never carries matches.

Kreuger's international match trust makes so many matches that it has to own vast forests to insure a supply of raw material.

From a fortune made in matches he has loaned more than $350,000,000 to needy European countries in the last few years.

Out of matches grew the gigantic Swedish holding concern of Kreuger & Toll, and the 225 subsidiary corporations it controls, including a chain of banks in the financial centers of Europe, pulp and sawmills, iron mines, factories, steamships, railroads, office buildings and apartment-houses.

But Mr. Kreuger revealed today in one of his infrequent newspaper interviews that he borrows all his matches.

He never carries one, nor a patent lighter, nor any kind of fire-making gadget. It is a habit. He just borrows them from whomever happens to be around. And he borrows lots of them.

Mr. Kreuger is 49 years of age, a young man for the position he holds in the world's business. Twenty-nine years ago at 20, he came to the United States from Sweden with $100 in his pocket and got a job selling real estate in Chicago.

The sentence was in a grammar test used by 20,000 high-school pupils in a State intelligence examination. According to Parker, it reads: "I believe that Representative Dickinson's campaign with its many meetings and speeches are not pleasing the people whom he represents."

Gov. Hammill, one of Dickinson's opponents, whom Parker asked for an explanation, said last night he is not responsible for the incident and joined in calling use of the sentence improper.

Look at this Silvertown.. after 22,517 miles!

WHAT'S THIS? A worn-down tire in a tire advertisement?

Yes, sir . . . exactly that! And with good reason. Any tire looks good when it's new. It's the way Silvertowns look after long punishment on the road that makes us proud of them!

This tire is one of the 62 that went out with the Silver Fleet. It came back with it, too . . . made the whole 30,000-mile trip without a single difficulty.

This picture shows it at the 22,517-mile mark. Shows how it looks after battling its way across two dozen states. After fighting its way through snow, mud, gravel, sand, rock!

And look at it! Match it up with tires you know that have gone that far! Any question about Silvertown being a better tire now?

If you like this sort of performance, come in and see us. We have the blood brothers of this casing. Tires that can give you the same mileage.

And in addition to these Silvertowns, we have other Goodrich Tires with the same punishment-taking ability. There are Cavaliers, for example . . . sturdy warriors that fight your battles with the road for you. And as for cost . . . our prices on both Silvertowns and Cavaliers will give you a most pleasant surprise. Come in. We have your size.

SECOND MOTHER GROUP IN PARIS

France's Welcome Extended by Gen. Gouraud

Wreaths Placed on Tomb of Unknown Soldier

Two Gold Star Parties Now in French Capital

PARIS, May 26.—Gen. Henri Gouraud, the one-armed hero of the Dardanelles, stood in reverent silence today under the Arc de Triomphe while the American Gold Star Mothers of the second group began their pilgrimage with homage to the Unknown Soldier of France. The American women placed five wreaths on the tomb prior to starting tomorrow for the battlefield cemeteries to see for the first time the graves of their sons and husbands.

At a reception later, Gen. Gouraud welcomed the women in the name of his government and told them how greatly touched he was by their tender mission.

WREATHS PLACED

"I have see kings, princes, potentates and statesmen pass there," he said in speaking of the visit to the Unknown's tomb, "but the pilgrimage of you American mothers has moved me most of all."

Those who placed wreaths were Mrs. Margaret Forsythe, Akron, O.; Mrs. Fred Ellis of Janesville, Wis., who placed one wreath in behalf of the Janesville American Legion post and another for Company M of the One Hundred and Twenty-eighth National Guard Regiment; Mrs. Elsie Jensen Newell of Iowa, for Post 193 of the American Legion, and by Mrs. W. N. Younie of Schiller, Iowa, for the Younie Legion Post of Schiller.

Ambassador Walter E. Edge spoke at the reception, assuring them that their great sacrifice had not been in vain and reminding them that their sons and husbands were cared for with tender hands.

FLAG STARS PROPOSED

Father Barker of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, suggested that Americans should add two stars to the forty-eight now borne by their flag. A gold star for the mothers and a silver one for the fathers.

Dean Frederick W. Beekman of the American Pro-Cathedral for Protestants, repeated Mr. Edge's assurances that mothers who gave their sons could feel certain that the world had been made better, and said Gen. John J. Pershing had urged him to tell them so.

Both groups of the gold star mothers and widows who have reached France thus far were in Paris tonight. The first has concluded its tour of the battlefield cemeteries. The second, which arrived only Friday, will start tomorrow morning.

TWO GRAVELY ILL

Two of the American women, most of whom are elderly, have developed serious illness. Officials of the pilgrimage said today that Mrs. Mary Reynolds of Damascus, O., and Mrs. Florence Williams of Portsmouth, O., are gravely ill, with some fear felt for their recovery.

Mrs. Reynolds is in the American Hospital suffering from acute peritonitis. Mrs. Williams contracted bronchial pneumonia while visiting her son's grave in Romagnes Cemetery. She is at the Hotel Nouvel in Verdun, from where late news said she is improved, but her condition still is grave. She is 72 years of age.

Mrs. Reynolds also shows some improvement, but army physicians still are alarmed by her condition.

The other two mothers of the first group who had been ill for several days, are recovered tonight. They are Mrs. Henry P. Golden of Coral Gables, Fla., who had been ill with a chronic stomach ailment, and Mrs. Minne Thompson of Carrollton, O., who had been a victim of acute tonsilitis.

GOLD STAR MOTHERS SEE LONDON SIGHTS

LONDON, May 26. (AP)—The contingent of American Gold Star Mothers now in England spent today in seeing London.

In huge sightseeing busses the mothers and widows of Twenty-seventh Division heroes who are buried abroad went the rounds of the capital's show places—the Tower of London, Hyde Park, Regent's Park and outstanding churches. No official receptions or functions were scheduled.

Tomorrow the American women will pay their first official visit to a military cemetery. They will go to Brookwood, where Mrs. Gertrude Harris of New York has a son buried.

They will go to Belgium tomorrow night and will make a complete tour of the battlefields and cemeteries there before proceeding to France. The Twenty-seventh Division, made up of New York National Guard troops, did much of its fighting in Belgium alongside the British.

FIVE JACKS PLUS FIVE ACES JUST RAISE DEUCE

CHICAGO, May 26. (AP)—The hollering and yelling in Joseph Gorman's room at 3215 Maypole avenue yesterday was because one gentleman in a gentlemen's poker game held four jacks and an ace, and another gentleman held four aces and a jack. This can be done in pinochle, but the gentlemen were not playing pinochle.

Fisticuffs followed, and it is not surprising. Nothing makes a gentleman holding four jacks and an ace angrier than to see another deck.

gentleman holding four aces and a jack. There was much biff-banging. Peaceful pedestrians paused outside, for many people enjoy a good fight, or even just a plain ordinary fight.

Some policemen came along and nine poker players went to jail.

No one explained about the five jacks and the five aces. It is the general opinion, however, that the playing card company must have made a mistake in that particular

MEMORIAL WILL HONOR MISSIONARY

Scholarship Fund Named for Woman Who Taught Indians to Make Lace

NEW YORK, May 26. (AP)—The Sybil Carter Memorial, named for a missionary who taught Indian squaws to make lace so well that their work brought in $1000 a month for many years and won gold medals at half a dozen expositions, was formed here today.

It is a $16,000 trust fund to provide scholarships for children of Indian descent.

The memorial was founded by the Sybil Carter Indian Lace Association, through which the lace was distributed. The association disbanded after creating the memorial, because there is no longer any field for its work.

Forty-four years ago Miss Carter, now deceased, went to the White Earth Indian reservation in Minnesota and began to teach the Ojibway women to make lace. Subsequently the training was carried to other tribes and schools were established at other places including Mesa Grande, La Jolla, Volcan and Santa Ysabel, Cal.

MARKET RADIO FIGHT BACKED

Farm Leaders Will Protest Closing of Channels

Meeting Held Today With Young at Capital

SACRAMENTO, May 26. (AP)—The fight of the State Department of Agriculture to prevent the Federal Radio Commission from withdrawing two air channels used for short-wave transmission of market news was indorsed by a group of State farm leaders meeting with Gov. Young here today.

The department's market news service, sent from San Francisco to seven other receiving stations at strategic growing centers of the State, was approved by representatives of the Farm Bureau Federation, the Farmers' Union, the University of California, the State Chamber of Commerce and other interested organizations.

The Radio Commission is to hold a hearing on the proposal in Los Angeles in July to be followed by a final hearing before the commission in September at Washington.

Three Women Rescued from Apartment Fire

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26. (Exclusive)—Three women, one a cripple whose escape in her wheel chair was cut off by flames, were rescued from a fire in an apartment house and an adjoining flat building on Grove street today by Wayne Baker, inspector for the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company. He was on a company truck across the street when the fire broke out. The screaming women attracted his attention and he took a ladder and raised it to their windows, carrying them to safety.

Those rescued are Mrs. Elmer Tubman, crippled for the last four years, and Mrs. Mary Dinniene, who shared an apartment with Miss Carolyn Fontes, nurse. The latter helped Mrs. Tubman to a fire escape so Baker could reach them.

Eureka Slaying Trial Expected to Be Lengthy

EUREKA, May 26. (AP)—Clarence L. King went on trial here today for the murder of his common-law wife, Minnie McCoy. More than half of the panel of 125 prospective jurors had been excused when court adjourned for the day. Court attaches estimated the trial will occupy two weeks.

Mrs. McCoy was shot to death February 20. King says it was an accident. Her body, hidden behind a huge log just off the highway north of here, was found six weeks later. King and Miss Pardee were married less than a month after Mrs. McCoy's death.

Rattlers Make Home in Cellar

JACKSON, May 26. (AP)—C. Bonti, rancher, living near here, says he is afraid to go in a cellar because a family of rattlesnakes have taken up their abode there.

Sometimes, he says, they sound like hail on a tin roof, but that has a soothing effect and puts him to sleep—provided he is sure all the doors and windows are locked.

It is strange, he finds, how seldom a man really has to go into his cellar.

Ex-Stage Star Divorces Mate

RENO, May 26. (AP)—Mrs. Lucy Cotton Ament, former actress who made a hit in "Turn to the Right," was granted a divorce here today from Lytton Gray Ament, former army colonel, whom she met during the visit here some years ago of the Queen of Rumania.

Rolph Workers Held to Have Played Politics There

This is San Bernardino and Pomona Day at Anaheim

ANAHEIM, May 26.—Confronted today with a spirited demand from church people of Anaheim, the management of the tenth annual California Valencia Orange Show today announced that program features that have been found objectionable will be eliminated or modified.

Rev. C. C. Root of the First Christian Church yesterday denounced the programs from his pulpit, declaring dancers have appeared inadequately clad, that a vaudeville act presented on the opening program was a travesty on the church, and that the show had been used by James Rolph, Jr., the speaker, for political purposes.

The latter complaint was directed more at Rolph's workers than at the speaker, it being declared that the workers distributed political literature at the tent.

The Midway was objected to on the grounds that it permits gambling devices to operate.

Rev. Thomas H. Walker, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, also voiced a mild protest when, after referring to the program features, he said, "If these things are going on what has become of the influence of the church in Anaheim?"

The first heat of the orange-packing contest for the championship was held tonight before a large and interested audience. Although there are to be three more nights of this contest, the winner will not be made known until Friday, it was announced. Although speed is a large factor in the competition, it is not the only one, and the condition of the boxes after packing will also be considered by the judges in making the award.

Results tonight were as follows:

Bradford Brothers of Placentia, Cora Showalter, time, 8m. 52s. Adie Weatherwax, time, 9m. 6 4-5s.

American Fruit Growers of Fullerton. Jessie Weldon, time, 9m. 59 4-5s. Sopie Williams, 9m. 27 1-5s.

Olive Fruit Company of Anaheim. Cora Yearout, 10m. 44 4-5s. Edele Sollows, 9m. 51 2-5s.

Tomorrow is to be San Bernardino and Pomona Day and Pomona residents are expected to come to view their community's prize-winning feature exhibit upon which first prize was awarded in its class.

Cock Fighting Charge Placed Against Throng

VENTURA, May 26. — Halls and corridors at the Courthouse today were thronged to capacity as eighty-one men, arrested yesterday by five deputy sheriffs under direction of Sheriff Robert E. Clark, at Wheeler's Canyon near Santa Paula, were herded into the courtroom of Justice of the Peace Malvern Dimmick to answer to charges of cockfighting.

The men, mostly Mexicans, are declared to have been holding the cockfights in a wholesale fashion yesterday when they were surprised by the officers at about 1:30 p.m.

The scene of the raid was on the property of the Limoneira Ranch Company's Mexican settlement in the Wheeler Canyon district, where, it is asserted, cockfights have been held each Sunday for some time.

Justice Dimmick's courtroom was filled to overflowing with prisoners, their families, relatives and friends today, closely guarded by officers.

Up to noon twelve men had gone through the wheels of justice, seven had pleaded guilty and each had paid a fine of $20. Two were granted stays of execution for a week, and the other three were lodged in the County Jail for non-payment of their fines. Twelve more had pleaded guilty and were awaiting judgment.

Evidence seized in the raid ranged from spurs which were attached to the legs of the fighting cocks, to pint bottles of wine, beer and whisky. Knives, decks of playing cards, dice and a loaded automatic pistol also were taken by the officers.

Anderson Given High Post in Building-Loan

INGLEWOOD, May 26.—Sanford M. Anderson, president of the People's Building and Loan Association of this city, was today being congratulated on his return from San Diego upon the two-fold honors accorded him there by the California State Building and Loan League.

At the close of the three-day convention Saturday, Anderson was elected third vice-president of the State body, which means that he will be in line for the presidency within three years of the organization which now represents investments in excess of $500,000,000 among its membership.

Anderson was also elected to another highly responsible post, that of assistant secretary of the Building Loan Federation of California, a State-wide building and loan reserve corporation, incorporated for $3,000,000.

The People's Building and Loan Association of this city recently passed the $2,000,000 mark in assets under Anderson's direction, although the enterprise is little more than five years old and started with assets of less than $10,000.

'HARD-BOILED SARGE' R.O.T.C. FAVORITE

Sergt. William A. Smith

VAN NUYS, May 25.—Sergt. William A. Smith U.S.A., a top sergeant of the "hard-boiled" variety, gets away with it probably better than anyone else of his stamp. In fact, he does it so well he has been for years the most popular instructor at the Van Nuys High School.

Six or seven years ago when the school decided to organize a Reserve Officers Training Camp unit, Sergt. Smith was detailed by the Army to take charge, and he has been here ever since. He has turned out almost 600 embryo officers, ready at the drop of a hat to buckle on a sword and lead a company over the top.

Sergt. Smith, when he first came here, expected to stay through a school season. He has so popularised his work that he is soon to commence his seventh term of training. There are about 400 army sergeants in the United States, training school R.O.T.C. organizations. Sergt. Smith probably has held his one office longer than any of the rest.

"Sure, I guess I'm what you call a 'hard-boiled' army sergeant," Smith said today in answer to the question. "But there are a dozen kinds of ways to be hard boiled. Strict discipline is the foundation of all teaching work, and when you get the right sort of boys they love it.

"I've turned out several Van Nuys boys that are now at West Point and at Annapolis. They are where they are because they learned to take orders without the bat of an eyelash. When it comes time for them to crack out military or naval orders each one of them will be a credit to their so-called 'hard-boiled' training," the sergeant concluded.

No Contests in Fourth District Court Expected

SAN DIEGO, May 26.—With only one jurist filing candidacy for each of three vacant seats on the Fourth District Court of Appeals bench, three unopposed candidates are seen, with Saturday the closing date for filing. This makes it clear that Superior Judge Lacey D. Jennings of this city will have no competition in his run for a seat as associate justice. Jennings is noted for his hearing on the prolonged Santa Margarita water suit, one of the longest trials in legal history. His election to the Appellate Court will leave a vacancy on the Superior Court bench in this county, to be filled this fall.

Judge Charles R. Barnard of Fresno has filed the sole claim on the office of presiding justice, it is understood, and Judge E. J. Marks of Santa Ana is unopposed for the other vacancy of associate justice. A vacancy in the court was left by the death of Presiding Justice W. A. Sloane of San Diego, and Judge Barnard's claim on this office left two associate judgeships to be filled. The court's calendar year calls for an equal division of the year among Fresno, San Diego and San Bernardino counties, with a four months' session in each city.

Schools Closed at Placentia Due to Disease

PLACENTIA, May 26.—With two cases of infantile paralysis reported in Placentia grammar schools within the week, and two other cases known in the county, Placentia schools were closed today for an indefinite period, pending investigation of the origin of the outbreak by county health officials.

The schools will remain closed until June 2, at least, members of the school board reported, and the date of reopening is expected to depend on the possible development of additional cases.

OFFICER IN NARROW ESCAPE

Highway Patrolman of San Diego Tells Court of Quick Jump to Avoid Anaheim Youth's Car

SAN DIEGO, May 26.—Leslie Ford, highway patrolman, testified before Judge A. L. Mundo today that quick work is all that saved him from serious injury yesterday while directing traffic at Cardiff. His testimony was given in connection with the appearance of John M. Shanlin of Anaheim to answer a charge of being drunk on the public highway.

Ford had stopped John D. Powell of Pasadena, on a similar charge and was talking to Powell, pulled off at the side of the road. He said Patrolman W. H. Wilkinson, working with him, had stopped another suspect about 200 feet back and had him pulled off to the side of the road also.

While Ford and Wilkinson were talking to the two drivers, Shanklin, according to Ford, criss-crossed the highway three times, his last maneuver bringing him across the spot where Ford had been standing before he leaped to safety behind Powell's car. Shanklin was found to be intoxicated and declared he is a juvenile, although his operator's license gives his age as 18. Judge Mundo bound the case over to the juvenile department of Superior Court.

Ford reported he had received complaints from three different persons near Cardiff yesterday of the reckless driving of L. L. Sharpp, of Los Angeles, he testified in Judge Eugene Daney's court. The three had been forced from the highway, they said, and when Ford located Sharpp and his car, he found Sharpp slumped over the driver's wheel, asleep.

Sharpp was sentenced to ten days in the County Jail on the charge of being drunk on the public highway.

Fountain Pens Used to Carry Narcotic Load

SANTA BARBARA, May 26.—The use of fountain pen barrels for carrying morphine tablets and other drugs to drug addicts was the new method of transportation of drugs uncovered in the early hours this morning by Capt. Dave Burnham and Lieut. Coit of the police department, when they raided on search warrants premises at 18 Presidio street. Three arrests on charges of possession of morphine and hypodermic outfits were made.

The police had learned that drugs were being sold in certain sections of the city and suspected one man of being the purveyor, but for several weeks he had eluded them, and they were unable to find his abode. Yesterday they saw him enter a room. The raid followed.

Soo Lee, Chinese, 26 years of age, was arrested in his room at 826 Anacapa street on charges of possession of morphine tablets, a small amount of yen shee, and a hypodermic outfit, and of being a drug addict.

In his room the officers found two fountain pens from which the insides had been removed and the space used for carrying morphine tablets and hypodermic needles. Edward Louie, 41, and Lee Gin, 78, were also arrested by the officers on charges of possession of morphine and of being drug addicts. They refused to open the door of their room when the police demanded admittance and the officers broke in the door. All three are held in the City Jail.

Rancher Bitten by Black Widow Spider Survives

SAN BERNARDINO, May 26.—Although apparently recovering, F. S. Herbert of Colton was still in a critical condition today, suffering from the effects of a bite on the back of his neck by a "black widow" spider. At one time last night it was feared Herbert would not survive. He was bitten while cultivating his orange grove Saturday afternoon, west of Colton.

As he passed, the spider apparently fell off a tree. Herbert felt the sting of its bite, but brushed it off and paid little attention to the incident. Within half an hour he was stricken with a violent illness and was barely able to reach his home.

The illness became acute when Herbert suffered cramps of the abdomen. A physician was called and began administering an antidote to check the spreading of the spider's poison.

The case is the first of its kind reported this year. In the San Bernardino Valley a number of cases were reported last year, one proving fatal.

OCTOGENARIAN DIES IN REDLANDS HOME

REDLANDS, May 26.—Walter P. Hunt, 98 years of age, died here yesterday. He was one of the early pioneers of the West.

The deceased was born in Erie county, New York, in 1832, where he lived until 1854. He came directly from the East to San Francisco, engaging in mining and later turning to farming for a living. From San Francisco he went to Portland, Or., and Lewiston, Idaho, where he made his home for sixty years.

Before coming to this city seven years ago Hunt made his home for a short time in San Diego. After a strenuous life he settled down here and for two years had been in failing health. He died Friday afternoon at the family home, 927 Orange street. Besides his wife he leaves one brother, Frank B. Hunt, of Collins Center, N. Y.

RIVERSIDE THEATERS DESPOILED

Bandits Take Large Sum from Golden State and Fox Houses There

RIVERSIDE, May 26.—Bandits early today robbed two local theater box offices of more than $3700. The safe of the Golden State Theater, containing in excess of $2500, was carted away during the night. At 9:30 o'clock this morning, two masked gunmen entered the lobby of the Fox Theater and, after gagging and binding three employees, rifled the safe of somewhat more than $1200 in cash.

The Golden State Theater safe was found at 11 a.m. in the hills near the Union Pacific bridge over the Santa Ana River. It had not been opened, and, according to Sheriff Sweeters, finger prints were left on the safe in abundance by the robbers. The Golden State robbery was discovered by the janitor, A. A. Jenkins.

The police, on arriving, discovered that entrance into the theater had been gained by jimmying open a door of a balcony fire escape that opens onto an alley. An automobile had been driven into the alley and the strong box carried down the fire escape.

The missing strong box was located by E. D. Hunt, father of Manager Roy Hunt, who is in New York City, and Earl Wilson, assistant manager. They believed the bandits would attempt to open it and began a systematic search of the hills west of this city. Near it was an abandoned Dodge touring car which was stolen last night from John Gillespie of 2938 Walnut street.

While police were busy investigating the Golden State robbery, two masked men ordered T. W. Edwards, Negro janitor of the Fox Theater, a block distant, to take them to the manager, at the same time punching his ribs with a heavy-caliber revolver. In the office of the playhouse were Assistant Manager Lester Solberg and Miss Ida Mae Richards, private secretary. Edwards and Miss Richards were bound and gagged. Solberg was ordered to open the safe, and was then subjected to like treatment. The robbers remained nearly half an hour, cleaning out the safe before taking a leisurely departure.

Bandit Pair Robs Service Station

SANTA BARBARA, May 26.—Albert Terry, in charge of Van Fleet and Durkee service station at Lamar and Vernon streets, was held up and robbed of $100 at 9 o'clock last night. In his report to police Terry said that he was closing the station when two young men came up behind him and covered him with revolvers.

He was forced to open the station and the cash box. The two men grabbed the cash and fled to an automobile which they had waiting around a street corner.

Terry described one bandit as about 23 years of age and nattily dressed, the other, about 17, and roughly dressed in leather coat and cap. Police started an immediate search for the bandits but up to a late hour last night they had not been apprehended.

CHICKEN CANNERY WORKING OVERTIME

RESEDA, May 26.—One of the largest industries now in San Fernando Valley is the Runnymede chicken cannery here. So great has been the demand for the plant's product that crews are working from 8 a.m. until midnight each day.

During the week the pay roll of the plant was doubled to handle the 4000 fowls that daily are being slaughtered and canned. Both hens and cockerels are being used. Yesterday an order was placed for special machinery to handle the odd-shaped cans that are used in canning the fowls whole.

The plant fills a long-felt want in the valley area as it now furnishes a ready buying source for the surplus chicken stock that accumulates in large quantities in the valley each week.

BOUQUET OF BRIDE HITS RIGHT ONE

Caught by Miss Stuart at Brother's Wedding, Sister Keeps Promise to Wed, Too

GLENDALE, May 26.—Within an hour after she had attended the wedding of her brother, William A. Stuart, Jr., to Miss Doris Carver at the First Baptist Church, Saturday night, Miss Catherine Stuart of 1007 East Harvard street hastened back to the church and was married to Will White, who had acted as one of the ushers at the Stuart-Carver nuptials. Cecil Zaun, another of the ushers, acted as White's best man at the second ceremony.

Miss Stuart told her friends at the reception that followed her brother's wedding that, if the bride's bouquet should fall to her, she would be married, and the bunch of flowers somehow landed right in her grasp when it was tossed by the bride.

The entire party hurried back to the church as soon as Miss Stuart could don her wedding gown and Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher, Jr., performed the second ceremony.

Funeral Today for Victims of Double Tragedy

CHINO, May 26.—Tomorrow morning at the Japanese Temple in Los Angeles funeral services will be conducted for Mrs. Tatsu Inai, wife of a prominent Chino Valley truck gardener, and her 18-month-old son, both of whom died at the hands of the mother shortly after midnight Sunday.

According to authorities who investigated the tragedy at the Inai home here, the mother had suffered a mental hallucination that her son would grow up and lose his mind. This fear led her to desperation, and, taking her child to the garage late Saturday night, forced a teapoonful of strychnine down his throat and then swallowed a portion herself. Inai knew nothing of the tragedy taking place until his wife reeled into the home with the dying baby in her arms. Both died in great agony. Inai had procured the strychnine some time ago for use in poisoning gophers in his truck garden.

Thomas J. Willis, local undertaker, is in charge of the double funeral services to be held at the Japanese Temple. Three children, all older than the dead baby, and the father are left.

More than 1000 persons were in attendance at each of the services. Brigham H. Roberts of Salt Lake City was the main speaker at each of the services. The next quarterly conference will be held here September 6 and 7.

YOUTH DROWNS IN PLUNGE

Raymond Stewart of Montalvo Declared to Have Been Pushed Into Outdoor Pool at Matilija

VENTURA, May 26.—Said to have been pushed into the outdoor plunge at Matilija by swimming companions, Raymond Stewart, 23 years of age, of Montalvo, was removed lifeless from the water at 3:30 p.m. yesterday. The young man was worked over by Sheriff's officers with a pulmotor, but efforts to resuscitate him were of no avail. He was pronounced dead by Dr. Paul Stanley of Santa Paula.

Stewart, who is said to have been playfully pushed into the water by one of the many bathers at the plunge, was in the company of Leona Gains and Ethel Hammer of this city, at first was believed to have sustained a broken neck when he fell into the pool, but an autopsy ordered by Coroner Oliver Reardon last night showed that the youth died from drowning, his lungs being filled with water. The only exterior abrasion, Reardon said, was one over the boy's left eye.

Stewart is said to have been in the plunge an unidentified woman standing at the edge of the water remarked to bathers that the boy had been under water for quite a length of time.

C. A. Roby and Norris Ewing, both of this city, brought the body from the water and authorities were immediately notified. Undersheriff Howard Durley and Deputy Bob Clark, Jr., rushed to the scene with a pulmotor.

Move Against Oil Drilling in Beach City

SANTA MONICA, May 26.—Declaring that sentiment against drilling for oil in this city is developing tremendous momentum as referendum petitions are being brought in fully signed, members of the special oil committee of the Santa Monica-Ocean Park Chamber of Commerce, headed by Morton H. Anderson, predicted today that next week's campaign would witness still more impressive evidence against the threatened "oil invasion."

That an overwhelming majority will vote against drilling under present regulations, which through a recently adopted ordinance opened approximately a third of the city's area for the industry, was predicted at the chamber headquarters. A petition carrying seventy signatures from the heart of the Ocean Park section, where the original demand for the right to drill emanated, was turned in at the chamber, it was reported.

"We are after a show-down, a city-wide vote on the issue, with every citizen privileged to register his own views on oil drilling in Santa Monica," John L. S. Cooke, chamber secretary, declared. "The stand of the chamber is simply that the issue is too important to be settled by anything but a city-wide vote."

Members of the newly formed Santa Monica-Ocean Park League, favoring the oil drilling, headed by J. B. O'Neil, chairman, were just as confident they would win in the end. They predicted there would be no referendum election, and there were rumors of a compromise which would enable test drilling in a carefully selected district where no high-class residential property could be injured.

Farm Bureau's Tax Committee in Five Sections

SANTA ANA, May 26.—The tax committee of the Orange County Farm Bureau has been divided into five sections so that a broader knowledge of the tax situation in the county may be had by the organization due to the extent of the study required, it was announced today by R. D. Flaherty, executive secretary.

Decision to separate the committee was made by that body, headed by E. E. Campbell, president of the Orange County Farm Bureau, after he had submitted a copy of the California Farm Bureau Federation's tax program recently adopted at a meeting of the State directors.

Up until recently the tax committee had confined itself to a study of proposed reappraisement of Orange county land values. Under the new program, the study will be extended to general government and county offices, Roy Bishop, chairman; highways and bridges, O. C. Stewart, chairman; schools, Le Roy Lyons; bonds and special assessments, Ross Shafer; California Farm Bureau State tax program, J. A. Smiley.

"The committees will make a special study of tax problems in the county in respect to agriculture," Flaherty said. "Following the submission of reports by the subcommittees, a general report will be prepared by the general committee and given to the board of directors.

"The Farm Bureau is seeking this tax information so that our organization will be in a position to take definite stands on tax problems as they arise throughout the year."

Two Men Held at Ventura on Liquor Charges

VENTURA, May 26.—Two men were held in the City Jail today on charges growing from the capture by police Sunday night of a coupe loaded with 304 gallons of intoxicating liquor.

The men are Sam De Blase of Modesto, charged with possession and transportation of contraband beverages, under bail of $2000, and Angel Bono, Los Angeles, accused of possession, with bail of $1000.

Both men appeared before City Judge Thomas Mellandt today, who set the time for their arraignment as 10 a.m. Wednesday.

The rum car fell into the hands of officers who were stopping vehicles from Santa Barbara at the bridge in search of two hold-up men wanted by the Channel City police. It contained thirty-nine five-gallon and nine one-gallon cans of liquor, according to police.

EDUCATIONAL CLUB ELECTS

HUNTINGTON PARK, May 26.—The Educational Club has elected Miss Lucille Smith, principal of the Liberty School, president. Paul Webb of the high school will be the new vice-president and Miss Mabel Mattoon, also of the high school, has been chosen secretary-treasurer.

Goleta Youth Dies in Ocean

SANTA BARBARA, May 26.—Disdaining the cautions of his fellow-swimmers, Deannie Scavarda, 16-year Goleta youth, was taken with cramps and drowned off the Goleta sandspit in the Pacific Ocean early last evening. Young Scavarda and a group of other youths went swimming after eating a hearty picnic lunch. Scavarda swam far out into the ocean against the admonitions of his friends.

He was pulled ashore by Esther Sexton, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sexton of Goleta, and Joe and Louis Rossi, also of that place. They heard his cries for help and attempted the rescue.

Santa Barbara firemen were called to the General Hospital, where the youth was taken, and worked for two hours with the pulmotor but could not resuscitate him. He was a junior in the Santa Barbara High School.

Fall from Cliff Injures Youth

NEWPORT BEACH, May 26.—Vernon Lowe, 20 years of age, of 1645 Monte Vista avenue, Pasadena, fell from the cliff at Inspiration Point at Hazel Drive and Ocean avenue, Corona Del Mar, at 1 a.m. today and suffered a broken arm, strained back and internal injuries. He is in a critical condition in a Pasadena hospital.

With two other Pasadena youths, W. C. Moore, 601 West Mariposa street, that city, and John O'Connor, 1019 Glenn avenue, the boys were trying to find their way down to the beach; Lowe, thinking he had found a path, started to follow it, but pitched headlong over the high cliff onto rocks below.

The Newport police department was notified. Officer Frank Naylor responded to the call and took the youth to the Newport Beach Hospital, from whence he was removed to the Pasadena Hospital in an ambulance.

Gasoline in Slot

To accommodate the late motorist who finds himself with an empty gas tank between midnight and daybreak, and vainly seeks a service station that has not closed up for the night, the Union Oil Company has installed in a service station at Washington and West Adams street a gasoline-vending machine.

Anyone needing a small quantity of fuel to drive their car a few more miles can obtain a gallon during the wee small hours by dropping a half dollar into this vending machine. It promptly shoves out a gallon can of gasoline, and a refund for the can is obtainable if the empty can is returned.

The idea is being tried out as an experiment. If it proves to be successful similar machines will be installed at other convenient points, according to an announcement by the company.

Gas Pressure Low

Gas pressure is reported to be rather feeble in the Ferguson No. 2 well which the General Petroleum Corporation completed at the outer end of its Seacliff pier about two weeks ago.

The well started off at the rate of 1000 barrels daily, and is now yielding approximately 800 barrels. Its performance is similar to that of many other wells in the Seacliff field. On the mainland the older wells have always been rather low on gas to boost the oil out of the hole.

Many Are Signing

Umpire Paul Grimm reported last night that a surprising response is being made to his call for signatures on the new oil curtailment agreement, which will be in effect May 1 to November 1, inclusive.

More than a dozen of the smaller operators had signed the agreement yesterday, Paul Getty, representing George F. Getty, Inc., having been first to put his name to it. Barnhart-Morrow, which was not signed up before, is reported to have notified the umpire that its signature will be given. Oscar Howard, who has not heretofore been curtailing, expected to sign up today.

water wells is situated is El Cypress rancho, owned by C. D. Newton of San Diego, and W. D. Madden, former British Vice-Consul at Ensenada. The oil removed from one well at a depth of only twenty-five feet is reported to test 26 deg. gravity.

The Mexican government has granted Newton and Madden oil-prospecting concessions on alternate 200-acre tracts extending for twenty miles south from the ranch. As soon as a power line can be built a real oil test will be drilled there. The fact that the showings are so close to the ocean is taken as an indication that the formation may be similar to that at Huntington Beach, Venice, Seacliff and Elwood.

More Venice Oil Permits

During the past week the City Council has granted permission to drill for oil in Venice to the Zobelein Company, W. H. McMullin, William H. Theis and James Jennison. The City Planning Commission, meanwhile, has recommended drilling permits for John A. Gilligan and H. S. Haseltine, G. A. Zarb, Painter & Tatum, F. C. Finkle, Grace P. Warden, Edgar K. Brown and William H. Theis.

Starts Newport Test

Three days ahead of its time schedule the Standard Oil Company spudded in yesterday its Irvine No. 1, a wildcat well which is being drilled on a peninsula in upper Newport Bay. The land is a portion of the James Irvine ranch which occupies a great deal of area in that part of Orange county.

Standard has 1200 acres under lease around the peninsula, and thinks the area well worth a thorough test even though numerous wildcat wells drilled in the Newport district have failed to develop into producers. There has been considerable tar oil found there at shallow depths, which has caused many geologists to believe that there should be an important pool of lighter oil somewhere in that vicinity.

Southern California Utility Statement Issued

Four Months' Income Higher Under Lower Rates

April Income Declines from Last Year's Level

Gross earnings of the Southern California Edison Company, Ltd., for the first four months of the current year ran about 3 per cent ahead of the earnings for the corresponding period last year, despite the rate reductions placed in effect late last December, John B. Miller, chairman of the board, announced yesterday with the issuance of the company's operating statement.

Gross revenues since the first of the year aggregated $12,475,490.79 which compares with $12,078,422.52 for the same period last year, and represents an increase of $397,068.27. Kilowatt hours sold increased 5 per cent, amounting to a total of 785,891,647.

EXPENSES HIGHER

Operating expenses, including maintenance and taxes for the same period, showed an increase of $294,651.41, or about 6.5 per cent over that reported last year, and amounted to $4,829,973.20. The balance as net operating income before fixed charges amounted to $7,646,417.59, as against $7,544,000.73 in 1929, an increase of $102,416.86.

The amount remaining available for dividends and depreciation after fixed charges was $5,327,869.73, against $5,375,864.07 last year, a decline of $48,194.34.

APRIL GROSS FALLS

Gross revenues for the month of April amounted to $3,042,122.34, which compares with $3,119,073.02 reported for April, 1929, and represents a decrease of $76,950.68, or about 2.7 per cent. At the same time operating expenses, including maintenance and taxes, increased $83,907.56 to $1,182,770.74.

The net operating income before interest charges, etc., totaled $1,859,351.60. This compares with $2,020,299.83 reported for April last year and is a decrease of $160,948.23, or 8 per cent.

April net income available for dividends and depreciation after fixed charges amounted to $1,242,483.98, as compared with $1,470,845.29 for April, 1929, a decrease of $228,359.31.

Stock Rulings Given Approval

Referring to the special rules governing stock brokers and indirectly stock exchanges, which the State Corporation Commissioner has announced will be effective June 15, next, F. E. Sanford, secretary and manager of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, yesterday stated that these rules do not impose any unwarranted burden on any parties concerned, but crystalize the efforts at public protection advanced by the major recognized stock exchanges of California.

"This exchange has already taken steps to co-operate with Mr. Athearn," Mr. Sanford said. "The capital of the nation should be conserved for honest enterprise and its profitable employment, and the new rules of the Commissioner of Corporations certainly should be welcome."

Signal Oil to Amend Articles

Stockholders of the Signal Oil and Gas Company at a special meeting yesterday approved the proposal of directors to amend the company's certificate of incorporation whereby the shareholders waive preferential rights to purchase stock in any new financing program involving the issuance of additional shares or to other obligations convertible into stock.

The amendment is in line with similar actions recently taken by a number of other major oil companies and is understood to be in preparation for a financing program to facilitate a further expansion and development of the company's activities. Details of the financing, which is generally believed will be of a convertible nature, are expected shortly.

Preparations Bond Issue on Gold Standard

PARIS, May 26. (AP)—Subscribes to reparations bonds to day received assurance of the officials of the Bank for International Settlements and their co-operating bankers that redemption of the bonds always will be upon a gold basis.

The treasury officials and bankers of the nine countries in which the German war settlement issues will be distributed reached agreement whereby the gold basis of redemption will prevail even if money in the countries involved depreciate.

Agreement also was reached upon many points concerning the issue. It is now thought that the formal offering to the public can be made next week. The present sessions of the bankers are expected to continue through tomorrow after which their decisions will be turned over to the committee of jurists who will pass on their legality.

The price of the issue will not officially be made public until the end of next week.

Funds for the purchases will be made available from the present resources of the company, he stated.

The company was recently organized for the purpose of acquiring public-utility interests in the East and Middle West as well as in California and the acquisition of the five additional freight lines is in step with an expansion program being conducted by the company. Common stock of the company has already been placed on a dividend basis.

BY EARLE E. CROWE

One healthy development arising out of this period of depression in business and the security markets is the pronounced tendency of business men and security buyers to again study business statistics. The slipshod reasoning and the happy-go-lucky attitude characteristic of great periods of prosperity have necessarily given way to thoughtful study of trends, always one of the hard lessons driven home by declining profits.

"When will business begin to turn the corner?" is the pertinent query for which answers are sought from the mass of current business statistics. It is one of the strange phenomena of the prosperity eras, however, that few people as diligently probe business statistics to answer the question, "When will business begin to turn downward?"

DATA STUDIED

Throughout this country there is not a business man, worker or security buyer who is not looking for signs of revival in business. Most of them hope for somebody else to announce the discovery, but there are a vast number, nevertheless, who are doing their own exploratory work by brushing up on the relative significance of the different business barometers.

Not all authorities agree on the indices that first announce recovery in business. Pig iron production, carloadings, bank clearings, bank debits to individual accounts, equipment orders, foreign trade, commodity prices, interest rates, department store sales, electrical output, stock market prices, etc., all have their place in the field of forecasting general business.

Stock market prices usually discount improvement in business, but first the people who deal in stocks must form opinions. The stock traders, naturally, are as anxious as the business men to detect the signs of improvement. It is the composite opinion of hundreds of individuals, expressed in the purchase or sale of stocks, that invests the stock market with its function of discounting changes in the business trend.

EACH HAS PLACE

Pig iron production, freight-car loadings, debits to individual bank accounts, equipment orders and foreign trade are probably the most important barometers of recovery, but each must be viewed as only part of the whole story. From these data must be obtained answers to the questions: "Are the industries increasing rate of operations?" and "Are retail consumers increasing buying activities?"

Figures on monthly pig-iron production trace the trend of new construction. Iron and steel enter into all forms of building activities, without which no business revival ever made much headway. Expanding operations by the motor manufacturers and the railroads are first reflected in iron and steel production. Similarly, equipment orders of such companies as General Electric, Westinghouse, Baldwin Locomotive and other manufacturers reflect the increasing operations in industry.

LOADINGS IMPORTANT

Freight-car loadings, as segregated by commodity and district, are a reliable index of purchases by retail consumers and industrial companies. They show which districts are buying, what commodities are moving and which industries are the most active. Interpretation, however, must be made in the light of seasonal tendencies of freight movements. Bank debits are an indication of retail purchasing activity and foreign trade figures are evidence of foreign buying of American manufactured goods and raw materials.

Interest rates, yields on securities, industrial operations and stock market prices and volume of trading all point to the conclusion that the stage is set for a major advance in general business. When the turn will come is information not yet definitely available, but will be revealed at the proper time through the recognized channels.

METAL MARKETS

CLEVELAND, May 26. (Exclusive)—Daily Metal Trade today says: With steel demand tapering off prices continue weak. Some automotive part makers have booked sufficient additional business to enable them to step-up production with a consequent increase in their steel needs, but this is exceptional rather than typical. Metal furniture manufacturers are not taking in much new material at this time nor is the stove manufacturing trade.

NEW YORK, NEW HAVEN AND HARTFORD

The New York, New Haven and Hartford Railway Company operates about 2130 miles of road serving New York City, Connecticut, Rhode Island and Massachusetts. It has valuable freight connections with the Boston and Albany and the Pennsylvania railroads. A large part of its freight is carried through Long Island Sound by the company's own steamers. Manufactured goods and mine products compose 50 per cent and 34 per cent, respectively, of the total tonnage carried.

A very few years ago the New Haven road encountered financial storms heightened by government control during the war, but since then, under an able management, net earnings have reversed their sagging tendencies and were in 1929 sufficiently great to permit resumption of dividends on the common shares. Earnings after all charges amounted to $11.62 per common share in 1929 against $8 in 1928.

Today the road is in a strategic position in any merger plans which may be worked out. Several different plans have been rumored—connecting the New Haven and Pennsylvania, for one—or the New Haven with the Boston and Maine. In either position the New Haven would benefit to a large extent.

Liens of Coast Counties Gas on Mart Today

Public offering of a new issue of $4,000,000 Coast Counties Gas and Electric Company first mortgage 5 per cent bonds, due May 1, 1960, will be made today at 99½ and interest to yield over 5 per cent by Dean, Witter & Co., Anglo-London-Paris Company, Tucker, Hunter, Dulin & Co. and National Bank-Italy Company. The proceeds will be used for retiring all bonds of subsidiary companies, funds for capital extensions during 1930 of about $1,350,000 and for the reimbursement of the treasury for additions and improvements already completed.

Standard Oil Company of California controls the utility through ownership of 90 per cent of the outstanding Class B common stock of Pacific Public Service Company, which in turn owns all of the common stock of Coast Counties Gas and Electric. It was reported late yesterday that the entire issue has been sold.

CHICAGO, May 26. (Exclusive) Paul C. Dodge & Co., Inc., today announced the formation of a group of security dealers for the distribution of no-par common stock of Atlas Stores Corporation, the stock to be sold at the market on the Chicago and New York Stock exchanges.

GROUP ACTS TO CONTROL PATHE FILM

Preferred Shareholders Seek Proxies to Protect Their Interests

NEW YORK, May 26. (Exclusive) Organized to protect the interests of the 8 per cent preferred stockholders of Pathe Exchange, Inc., a committee of stockholders is endeavoring to secure sufficient proxies to support its contention that in view of the fact that the corporation has defaulted in the payment of at least eight successive quarterly dividends on the 8 per cent preferred stock, such stockholders are now entitled at the adjourned annual meeting on June 9, next, to elect eight directors, constituting a majority of the entire board.

Members of the committee include Richard A. Rowland, chairman, formerly general manager of First National Pictures, Inc.; Robert W. Daniel, chairman of the board of Liberty National Bank and Trust Company; Root, Clark, Buckner & Ballantine, counsel; Frederick R. Ryan, secretary of McCombs & Ryan, and W. A. V. Waterman, of Waterman, Bonn and Company, members of the New York Stock Exchange.

A statement issued by the committee points out that at the annual meeting April 29, last, Joseph P. Kennedy, the then president, described the condition and prospects of the company as highly unsatisfactory and stated that unless the directors secured sufficient funds to carry out adequate production and distribution immediately, he would resign. Mr. Kennedy's resignation was subsequently announced.

Ruling Made on Investment Trust Stock Trading

NEW YORK, May 26. (Exclusive) The committee on stock list of the New York Stock Exchange after considering certain questions in connection with investment trusts arising out of right of corporations generally to purchase, under certain restrictions, their own stock, has adopted the following resolution:

"Not to purchase or otherwise acquire for its own account, or indirectly through a subsidiary, shares of its common stock, however, except, either (a) under peculiar exceptional and special circumstances.

"In case any such purchase is made, to submit promptly to the committee on stock list all relevant facts in connection therewith in order that the committee may determine whether the number of listed shares shall be reduced by amount so purchased, and upon request of the committee to take such steps as the committee deemed necessary to make such reacquired shares unavailable for trading without further application."

The intent of the first sentence is to prevent a corporation from trading in its own stock, and at same time to place strongly before the management the suggestion that purchase by an investment trust of its own stock is a transaction which should be entered into only on rare occasions, and then only with justification of unusual circumstances. The intent of the second sentence is to prevent situations arising where considerable amounts of stock of any investment trust may have been purchased for its own portfolio leaving investors and street generally under a misapprehension as to the amount of stock actually outstanding.

It is expected that the exchange will be made on or after June 7, next.

NEW DIAGNOSIS OF OIL ILLS

Overproduction of Gasoline Held Causing Loss of $1,250,000 Daily in Industry

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

NEW YORK, May 26.—What's happened to the oil industry? The refiners are again at their old tricks of producing too much gasoline. And so are the producers. The Federal Conservation Board suggested 2,572,000 barrels per day as a fair production for 1930. But now the runs have increased to 2,700,000 barrels. With what result?

One writer puts it this way: "The oil producers of the country are selling their product at about $1,250,000 a day less than they should because they are producing 100,000 barrels daily in excess of economic requirements."

The future of the business rests with the producer himself. If he holds down production, he can make better terms with the refiner and the refiner then can secure a better price for his product. Simple enough to state, but quite another job to accomplish.

But when there is no control of the production itself—such as is taking place at the present time—the refiner makes his own price, with a resulting loss all down the line.

Overproduction once again is causing havoc. The Gart Creek field in Texas is an example. It held its production for weeks to 10,000 barrels a day. Something happened. Now it's giving to the oil world, already flooded with oil, 23,000 barrels a day.

A rise in crude prices for the Mid-continent field was expected two weeks ago. But confronted with such a condition, why should crude prices be increased?

John Moody, the investment analyst, has been comparing the present stock market year with that of 1908.

Not much impressed with the "good-news" stories issued from time to time by the business and political leaders, Mr. Moody says that they bear a close resemblance to "the employment drives," and "sunshine clubs" and other organizations of 1908.

The stock market rise in 1930 after the drop of last fall was too rapid—so the natural reaction has been taking place.

After stating that American business will probably see some further weakening in the price structure of certain commodities—steel for example—this New York observer has come to the conclusion that substantial recovery may not take place until late summer or autumn. But before long there will be many real opportunities in the stock market.

Here's his prediction: "Meanwhile, the dull summer months, unless I am all wrong, will provide opportunities for bargain hunters to select good stocks with care without the stress of the fast-moving markets to confuse them."

So start checking your favorite stocks over to see which ones to buy. You need not rush in, for there will be plenty of time to pick, if Mr. Moody's prediction proves to be true.

United Founders Investment Trust Lists Holdings

Listing for the first time the holdings of United Founders' Corporation and subsidiaries in excess of $100,000 in public utilities, railroads and insurance companies, investment concerns and banks, the corporation has just mailed letters to stockholders showing the shares held in a total of 134 domestic and foreign stocks. The list does not contain investments in 540 bond issues owned by the group which, together with preferred stocks, totaled almost $70,000,000, according to the letter.

The subsidiaries of United Founders' Corporation include American Founders' Corporation, four investment companies controlled by the latter, and Investment Trust Associates. The underlying securities in the consolidated portfolios showed, exclusive of interest and dividends received and profits taken, approximately 6.8 per cent appreciation in value between November 30, last, the date of the annual report, and March 31, last, it was stated.

Total market value of the investments on March 31, last, was reported as substantially in excess of book value (cost less investment reserves.) This calculation is on the consolidated basis, the issues of the stock of subsidiaries held by United Founders or subsidiaries being excluded. The number of United Founders' Corporation stockholders since November 30, last, increased 37 1-2 per cent to 81,140 as of April 15, last. Of these 61,048 were owners of fifty shares or less.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, May 26. (AP)—A decline in time money rates to the low levels of the year failed to stir up much enthusiasm for bonds today. Although the undertone of the market was distinctly firm, prices had a tendency to sag lower around and the day's volume of trading was only nominal.

Short-term loans were reduced to 2 per cent flat, a cut of ½ of 1 per cent. A similar reduction was made in the other maturities, bringing the rate in sharp contrast with the 6% to 7½ per cent range prevailing a year ago.

United States governments were firm on extremely small turnovers. The strongest issue was the Treasury 4s, which rallied 12-32 on a volume of only $33,000. Interest in the Liberties was negligible.

The series of unfavorable earnings statements by the railroads led to some liquidation of carrier company bonds, especially those of the adjustment income description. The St. Paul income 5s became the most active issue in the list, breaking 2¾ net to the new 1930 low of 81¾.

Convertibles lagged and the market missed the familiar activity of American Telephone 4½s, all but $14,000,000 of which had been converted at the close of business last Friday by holders desiring to exchange for stock-carrying rights. The revised conversion price on the few bonds outstanding is $180.88 and the market price, readjusting itself to this figure, gained more than 5 points in the face of weakness in the shares. Volume in the debenture involved only $56,000 par value.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in order given. To expedite transmission, the cents are omitted when the same as the last, and both low and close when same as high.

Stock Prices Strengthen Slightly as Trading Activity Again Slackens

No change in the hesitant attitude of traders was indicated on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday as the week's operations got away to a slow start with the volume of transactions falling below Saturday's half-day session to take a place among the quietest days over the past two years. Only a small number of the more popular issues were called in the dealings and price changes were narrowed to fractional limits.

California Bank was an exception as a transaction of fifty shares of the issue lifted the stock 3 points to 115.

Standard Oil of California led the activity with a turnover of 2300 shares. The stock advanced to 70½ only to ease back to 70 for a net gain of 1-8. Richfield rallied on brisk trading and after reaching 22 1-4 ended at 22, up ⅛ net. Union Oil, on the transfer of a board lot, firmed up 1-4 to 45 3-4, while Union Associates held unchanged at 44½. There were no sales in Rio Grande or Pacific Western. Shell, however, firmed up 1-8 to 21.

Western Air Express, which turned active late last week, continued in an upward direction and after advancing a point to 42 closed at 41 3-4, up 3-4 net. Transamerica was relatively quiet and yielded 3-8 to 42 1-8 after ranging within ⅛ point. Security-First National added 1-4 to finish at 112 and Pacific Finance at 37 5-8 was up 1-8. Byron Jackson continued to trade at 15 and Claude Neon at 38.

Sales totaled 8678 shares valued at $404,942; previous day, 8866 shares valued at $328,460.

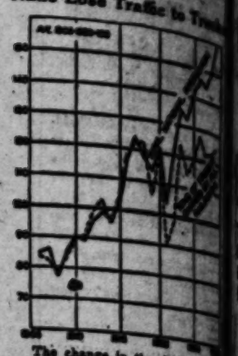
Rails Lose Traffic to Truck



The change in the class relationship that formerly existed between volume of manufactures and volume of freight loadings that has occurred since 1920 is graphically illustrated in the chart prepared by the Guaranty Land Trust Company from data compiled by Carl Snyder of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. The tendency for production figures to exceed carloadings is attributed almost entirely to the expansion of motor trucks for short haul service of the carriers.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, May 26. (AP)—A small group of utility, industrial and investment company shares moved forward briskly during the early hours of trading in today's curb market, only to encounter renewed selling late in the day, which canceled the gains and sent several issues below last week's final levels. Except for a short time in the morning, trading failed to develop much vitality, and total sales were only 642,400 shares.

Electric Bond and Share was an active feature, and was bid up more than 2 points to 106¾, only to close at 103½. Central States Electric, Consolidated Gas of Baltimore, and International Securities closed a point or so higher. American Gas lost 2 points and Niagara Hudson a fraction.

There was a soft spot in the industrials, breaking nearly 4 points in sympathy with farm implements on the big board. Pratt & Lambert dropped 6 points to 85½, the year's low. Parker Aircraft sold up a couple of points in response to announcement that the name would be changed to General Aviation Corporation and that it would become an important aviation holding company for General Motors, but it later reacted, closing up only about a point. Ford of Canada "B" gained 4 points and Pittsburgh Forging put up a like amount to 32, the year's top.

Oils were steady to firm. Gulf gained nearly 2 points and Standard of Kentucky a point.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low and both low and close when same as the bid.

REPARATION BOND OFFER DISCUSSED

Commission Accountant Says Issue May be Last on American Market

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26. (Exclusive)—The Bond Club was told today by George P. Auld, accountant-general of the reparations commission for four years, that the forthcoming German reparations bond issue probably will be the only one placed on the American market.

How large a figure the reparation bond issues ultimately will reach is problematical, he declared. If the bonds were issued covering the whole of the unconditional annuity, they might amount to a total of $2,000,000,000 to $2,500,000,000.

While the American market is not likely to be asked to purchase later reparation bond issues, there will undoubtedly be a considerable amount of German industrial financing sold here, Auld stated.

Germany's ability to pay reparations is founded on the fruitfulness of her industry, and that industry will require from year to year large amounts of fresh capital. A part of what would be Germany's normal capital accumulation will be impounded by taxation to serve the reparation annuities, and unless increased savings are made, that part is likely for many years to be brought back to the service of German industry through the issuance of industrial obligations and equities to foreign investors.

The forthcoming $300,000,000 German bond issue, of which the American market will take $80,000,000 or $90,000,000, is a sound loan, Auld declared, as it is well protected and will aid in the further economic improvement of Europe. Of the issue, $200,000,000 will be a partial mobilization of the reparation annuities for the benefit of creditors, and $100,000,000 will be a loan for the benefit of German railway and postal service.

The annuities generally are secured on the duties of German customs and the taxes on tobacco, beer and spirits. In addition, the unconditional annuity, on which the mobilized bonds are based, is secured by the impounding of a tax of equal amount levied on the railways, taking the place of the Dawes plan mortgage, which is to be canceled.

WILD WAVE SENDS HER TO HOSPITAL

Miss Martha Marsh

Miss Martha Marsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Marsh of Hermosa Beach, was reported yesterday to be improving at the Good Samaritan Hospital, where she has been since last Thursday following injuries received when swimming in the surf at Hermosa.

While riding the breakers she was caught by a wave and thrown to the bottom in such a way that a vertebra in her neck was cracked. In all probability she will be confined to the hospital for about six weeks.

Miss Marsh is an active member of the Junior League and a popular member of the younger set of Los Angeles.

LEWIS BRIBERY PAY-OFF TOLD

"Go-Between" Says He Got $10,000 for Juror

Fear Kept Woman from Cash, According to Weaver

Most of Money Returned to Oil Man, Witness Says

Jack H. Weaver, hotel man and confessed go-between in a jury bribery plot to buy the vote of a woman juror in the first Julian stock overissue trial in 1928, told his story yesterday afternoon to another jury of eight women and four men in Superior Judge McLucas's court, where S. C. Lewis, former president of the Julian Petroleum Corporation, is on trial for attempted bribery.

Under the direct questioning of Dep. Dist.-Attys. Costello and Jones, who are prosecuting the case, Weaver told of how he first plotted the bribery scheme, talked it over with Mrs. Caroline Love, the juror, and then approached Lewis and others.

It was while being cross-examined by Lewis, acting as his own attorney, that Weaver astounded the courtroom by stating that Mrs. Love had told him she intended to vote the oil promoter not guilty of the charge before the subject of money was discussed.

TOLD OF PAYMENTS

Rambling along most of the afternoon Weaver recounted how he had informed Lewis that Mrs. Love could be reached and then told of having received from Lewis the sum of $10,000, in three payments.

"I never gave the money to Mrs. Love," declared Weaver, because I was informed by her husband that she was afraid to do business with me. Later I gave most of the money back to Lewis."

The plot as outlined by Weaver began as the result of a friendship between himself and Mrs. Love's husband and he stated that after a talk with the Loves he approached Lewis

"I first talked to Lewis outside the courtroom where the Julian case was going on," Weaver declared. "I told him that a juror could be fixed and he then asked me to see him later.

AGREED ON $10,000

"In the first conversation I told Lewis that Mrs. Love was my niece and that I could talk to her and that she wanted $20,000 to let him out. Later we agreed on $10,000 and Lewis gave me $2500 as the first payment. Mrs. Love wanted all or none, so then in two more payments I got the $10,000."

"When I went to San Pedro, where Mrs. Love lived," continued Weaver, "I was told by her husband that she was sick and afraid and that the money was not to be paid before the case was over."

When court ended late yesterday afternoon Weaver was still under cross-examination and had already testified that Mrs. Love told him before the subject of money was mentioned that she was going to vote Lewis not guilty. He also admitted that he had repeated Mrs. Love's statement to Lewis before he asked him for any money.

LETTER IN RECORD

A number of conversations beteen Weaver and Lewis went into the record during the cross-examination and also a letter which was written by Lewis to Hubert Morrow, attorney for H. B. Chessher, one of the brokers charged by Lewis with having formed a plot to ruin him.

During much of his testimony Weaver seemed to be unable to remember details of his asserted transactions with Lewis and at one point declared that he could not remember because he had been drinking. The witness, however, stoutly maintained that his account of Lewis giving him the money for Mrs. Love was true.

According to Costello and Jones the present witness will be followed to the stand by Mrs. Love and then a number of others will be called to complete the prosecution's case.

During the afternoon Mrs. Love and Miss Leontine Johnson, former secretary to Lewis, were called into the courtroom and identified by

TWO Japanese Ambassadors met here yesterday, en route to Tokio on leave, and their meeting proved a surprise to both.

They are Dr. Harnichi Nagaoka, Ambassador to Germany, and Akira Ariyoshi, Ambassador to Brazil. They are accompanied by their wives, with Miss Masako Nagaoka accompanying her parents.

Yesterday they were the guests of Japanese Consul T. Sato, who acted as guide in showing them Los Angeles. Dr. Nagaoka arrived Saturday and Mr. Ariyoshi yesterday. They are sailing tomorrow for Tokio. They are stopping at the Ambassador Hotel.

FOX FILMS PLAN TO EXPAND

International Sales Convention Hears New Head of Concern Tell of $27,000,000 Program

A total of $27,000,000 is to be expended by the Fox Film Corporation during the fiscal year 1930-31, according to the opening statement of Harley L. Clarke, newly elected president, at the first day's session of the international sales convention which got under way yesterday at the Ambassador.

Winfield R. Sheehan, vice-president and general manager, announced that $25,000,000 of the total is to be spent on the year's program of forty-eight feature-length productions, while the other $2,000,000 will be expended on the construction of new sound stages at the Fox-Movietone studios at Beverly Hills and for new sound equipment.

The 1929-30 year just closed was one of the most successful and prosperous enjoyed by the company, according to James R. Grainger, vice-president and general sales manager. He pointed out the new program marks a $7,000,000 increase in expenditure.

Clarke said that talking pictures still are in their infancy and properly nurtured will grow rapidly into a giant economic force for good. As long as he is president, he said, none of the corporation's holdings will be disposed of. On the other hand there is a definite expansion program planned. It is believed his remarks referred to the Fox Film holdings in Loew's, Inc., which controls Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

"This is my first public visit to the capital of the world's motion-picture world, since purchasing the Fox interests," he said. "Naturally I have come to observe and to learn rather than to talk and direct.

"I believe that the motion-picture industry is the greatest of all public-service organizations, demanding the highest standards in quality. The products of this industry come closer and closer every day to the hearts of the American people than those of any other industry. It is my purpose that we may always serve the American public with an increasingly better type of amusement and provide in one form or another all the amusement for all the people.

"The talking picture is only in its infancy and will rapidly grow into a giant economic force. Seldom if ever has any industry been blessed with an opportunity for directing a force of such vast importance. This is a trust I will not take lightly.

"It is my belief that the industry is entering a new epoch, and one in which great heights will be attained in quality and in the economic value of its pictures."

Clarke declared that the laboratories of both General Theaters Equipment, Inc., and the Fox Film Corporation are working full blast on devices and processes for better projection, sound, lighting and color.

The delegates have come to Los Angeles from all parts of the world. They will remain throughout the week, with many programs of entertainment in view during the sessions.

WOMAN TAKEN FOR ATTACK ON ANOTHER

As the aftermath of an attack on Miss M. Murray in front of her home at 1014 North Virgil avenue, Friday night, Mrs. Anna Willey, 1067 East Fiftieth street, sister-in-law of the victim, yesterday was arrested by Detective Lieutenants Toledo and Curtis and booked at Central station on a charge of malicious mischief with intent to injure a person. The detectives say she admits the charge.

Later Mrs. Willey was released on $1000 bail with orders to return today for further questioning.

GRAPE-MARKET DEAL EXPLAINED

Leaders Address Meeting of Growers

Support for Farm Board Plan Urged

Dallas Gray Analyzes Ills of Industry

Continuing the drive of the several grape-growing and marketing organizations to obtain an 85 per cent agreement with the Federal Farm Board's plan of co-operative marketing, leaders of the industry last night addressed a gathering of vineyardists at the Chamber of Commerce in explanation of the Federal plan. The meeting was one of several held at different points in the State as a part of an educational plan to support the Farm Board program.

Dallas Gray, a member of the executive committee seeking to obtain signed contracts between the growers and the Farm Board, gave a detailed explanation of the government's proposal to stabilize the market for grapes through the purchase of surplus stocks.

Practically all the larger co-operative growing and marketing organizations have agreed to the Federal program and the work of procuring the signatures of the independent growers is progressing rapidly, Mr. Gray said. He procured a number of signed contracts from vineyardists attending last night's meeting.

Mr. Gray explained that the chaotic conditions of the grape market for the past several years have been due to the dumping of excess stocks of both grapes and raisins into markets already crowded.

POOL WILL PURCHASE

"The operation of the co-operative selling will be carried on through the agency of the California Grape Control Board," Mr. Gray said. "There will be seventeen members, one nominated by the Farm Board, three each from the California Vineyardists' Association, California Fruit Exchange and the Fruit Industries, Inc., and the others from the California Raisin Pool.

"By the payment of a stabilization fee of $1.50 a ton for fresh grapes and $5.25 on a dried basis, on all tonnage handled, the pool will undertake to purchase and dispose of all surplus and either to return it to the market or hold it."

ADDITIONAL OUTLET

With the inclusion of the established grape and raisin co-operative marketing organizations in the Federal Farm Board's plan, Mr. Gray declared that provision would be made for an effective control of raisins as well as all other grape by-products. He said the formation of the California Raisin Pool would furnish an additional outlet for the independent commercial raisin packers who did not care to market their products through the Sun-Maid organization.

"All of us who have known anything of the market conditions for grapes during the past year," Mr. Gray said, "are aware of the haphazard method of shipping to central markets. At one time there were more than 1500 cars of fresh grapes lying in the terminal at New York City, which has a nomal capacity for only 225 cars a day. At other points grapes were at a premium.

"With this effective method of control exercised under government supervision the product can be evenly distributed where it can be best sold.

"This plan, advanced by the government's farm agency, is to my mind, what every grape grower has been praying for for forty years. If we do not succeed in obtaining the necessary 85 per cent agreement, then we can certainly look for a withdrawal of all government support or aid for the California grape industry and it will be a serious check on all of the plans of the Federal Farm Board.

"We received a telegram last week containing a promise from the Farm Board to take care of all surplus in the 1930 California grape crop, this, of course, provided we succeed in our endeavor to obtain an united front from the growers."

Mr. Gray pointed out that under the government's plan of financing of the co-operative agencies with an interest rate of less than 4 per cent the overhead savings to the in-

DEED OF VALOR IN AIR RECOGNIZED

Cherished Memorial
J. H. Doolittle with deceased son's medal and diploma.

FATHER OF FLYING HERO GETS MEDAL

"Jimmy" Doolittle Given Posthumous Award by Noted Aviation Group

After covering himself with glory as a member of that fighting band of war birds—the Lafayette Escadrille—Jimmy Doolittle, a Los Angeles boy, was shot down by the Boche and his wounds brought a furlough to America. That was in September, 1917; but he had a stout heart and so he volunteered, while here, to test-fly a high-speed new plane in Buffalo, N. Y. And in doing so gave his life.

Yesterday Jimmy's father—James Rood Doolittle of 1230 South Olive street, member of the membership committee of the Chamber of Commerce, received a gold placque commemorating the son's supreme sacrifice. It came from the Ligue Internationale des Aviateurs of which Clifford B. Harmon is president and was accompanied by a diploma signed by Eddie Rickenbacker, Col. (Bill) Thaw and others famed for war-time exploits in the air.

The placque bears on its face the silver wings of peace while the other side is engraved with the tribute: "In Commemoration of Your Supreme Sacrifice."

It is just another prized decoration for the proud father to add to his already plentiful collection. Mr. Doolittle says he has "two handfuls of medals;" including the Medaille Militaire, the Croix de Guerre and other highly coveted awards won by his son.

James Ralph Doolittle — the "Jimmy" of the story—enlisted in the Lafayette Escadrille early in 1916, and continued to fly over the German lines with his patrol until September, 1917, when he was wounded. Recovering quickly while in the United States, he offered his services to the government to test the experimental planes in Buffalo. He flew one type after another successfully, until he encountered the one that killed him. And of this one, just prior to his death, he had written to his father:

"This one has a landing speed of 125 miles an hour, Dad. It'll take a darn good pilot to land her."

CLUBS JOIN IN PROGRAM

The Arnams and Optimist Clubs will hold a joint meeting tomorrow at the Biltmore. The Arnama Club is an ex-service men's organization and holds its regular meetings at the Alexandria every Friday. THE WORLD FORGOT

A young engineer who has been traveling in Sonora tells me about a girl who seems to have found a more definite recipe without so many hoodoo words—libido and such.

She is a very pretty girl, the engineer says. She has an old adobe house out on a lonely beach where the gray Sonora hills look down into the blue waters of the tropical gulf. She has a fishing launch, a pack of hunting hounds, a fast automobile—and a Mexican cook. Her nearest neighbor is about 150 miles away.

She has a husband or something of the kind—a charming half-Spanish boy. His clothing is reduced to a pair of overalls. She wears overalls and a shirt—and there were indications that the shirt was just put on for company.

The girl has oodles of money in her own right. And has nothing to spend it for.

AW, PLEASE, JOE!

An open letter to Joseph Toplitsky:

Dear Joe: I see where you have bought out the Alphonso Bell estate for $10,000,000.

Joe, you remember when you were a hat check boy at the theater and I was a scared kid reporter. For old time's sake, have a heart. Stop the wheeze about that cement plant. Root up the plant. Joe, honest, I can't stand hearing any more about that cement plant. Joe, I got feelings and they are just wore out.

P. S.: Joe, you certainly must have checked a lot of hats to get $10,000,000.

CROOKS

One problem that Los Angeles will have to face and solve is the crook problem. We already hear that two of the most powerful gangs of New York and Chicago have joined forces to pick Los Angeles.

Our misfortune is that it is grand picking. This is the softest spot in the world for graft.

MOVE ON!

Miami, Fla., solved the problem pretty well in the case of Al Capone. The police of that place kept arresting him until he closed his Florida mansion and lit out for Cuba.

Crooks are nearly all yellow in their hearts. The celerity with which they wilt under this treatment is rather amazing.

A close scrutiny by the Bar Association of the attorneys who are openly retained by criminal gangs will also help. We are not dealing with unfortunates who slip from the pathway; we are in an organized war.

ACTORS ARE SCARCE

Things are at a curious pass in the theater world. Never were there so many actors out of work—facing want and starvation. Never was there such a dearth of good actors. Or, to say it in another way, there has never been a time when interesting personalities were so scarce.

COST MAP SUBMITTED

The assessment district map for the construction of sewers in the Ogden Drive and Twelfth Street District was filed with the City Council yesterday by City Engineer Jessup. It was referred to the Health and Sanitation Committee.

In the committee on amateurism consisting of fifty-six members, the discussion proceeded more rapidly and smoother than was anticipated after the earlier scenes. The English insisted on the qualifications that these rules must be in conformity with the Prague congress, which pronounced against broken

NEW TURN IN JULIAN CASE

Quick Usury Trial Conclusion Possibility With Defense Suggestion on Disputed Evidence

A sudden conclusion of the Julian usury case, now being tried before Superior Judge Aggeler, may come within the next few days if the prosecution adopts a suggestion offered in court late yesterday by defense attorneys.

In the face of the State's inability as yet to get documentary evidence into the record, former Judge J. Perry Wood, representing one of the sixteen defendants, yesterday asked Special Prosecutor Stafford to state by what documents he expects to prove his case so that Judge Aggeler may decide whether the proffered evidence constituted a public offense.

If this is done and the court rules the evidence does not sustain the indictment a speedy end to the trial will be in sight. If his ruling is favorable to the prosecution, the State can then proceed with its attempts to get the disputed documents into the evidence.

"Why keep these business men here for weeks?" argued Attorney Wood, in support of his arguments. "Why put the taxpayers to unnecessary expense? The State has been trying for nine days to get its documents into evidence and has not yet succeeded and there is no reason to believe that these efforts ever will succeed."

Special Prosecutor Stafford declared that he did not care to make a statement on the situation last night, but indicated that he will this morning. After court adjourned he held a conference with Chief Deputy District-Attorney Stewart on the matter, but their decision was not revealed.

Before Wood made his suggestion, Attorney J. Wiseman MacDonald spent a large part of the day arguing that there was no usurious dealing in the stock pool agreement on which the indictments are based. He berated the grand jury for ever returning the indictments.

"Shame on a grand jury that would return an indictment on a document which they admit they did not know the contents of," declared MacDonald.

Not a witness took the stand at the trial yesterday, the entire day being consumed in the lengthy arguments that have characterized the case from its inception. At the end of the day four of 383 pages of photographic documents offered by the prosecution had been admitted in evidence against three of the sixteen defendants. There is no evidence in the record yet against the others. The difficulty encountered by the prosecution is the fact they have not yet been able to identify the photographs as true copies of the original pool agreements.

ROCK DISSOLVED AS JURY WATCHES BREATHLESSLY

In an effort to disprove the city's contention that the collapse of the St. Francis Dam on March 13, 1928, was "an act of God," in legal parlance, but was caused by faulty engineering, a simple experiment with a piece of rock and a glass of water yesterday held the interest of the jury for a few moments in the court of Superior Judge Mahon where the suit of Ray E. Rising for $175,000 for the deaths of his wife and three children in the disaster is now on trial.

William Mulholland, former engineer of the Water and Power Department, had been called by the defense as a witness. In his cross-examination Attorney Lawrence, counsel for the plaintiff, asked:

"Would the conglomerate rock, upon which the left wing of the dam was built, dissolve in water?"

"Not in a million years," was the engineer's answer.

The attorney then placed a piece of rock which had been identified as a fragment taken from the dam site in a glass of water. There was a deep silence in the courtroom and interest in the experiment was aroused to a high pitch. The rock in the glass of water began to dissolve and disintegrate. An audible murmur swept through the room.

In further cross-examination Mulholland declared he doubts if the fragment of rock used in the experiment came from the site of the dam. Warren H. Afton of Stockton and Rising had testified that it had.

The suit is the first of a series that was filed against the city following the disaster which caused an estimated loss of between 500 and 600 lives.

It was indicated yesterday by Attorney Jess E. Stephens, former City Attorney, counsel for the defense, that efforts will be made by the city to show that the dam gave way because of an earth movement and not because of faulty construction; that the disaster was what is legally termed "an act of God."

Taking of testimony for the defense will continue when court convenes this morning.

GRAPE PROGRAM INDORSED

Fresno Mass Meeting Unanimously Demands Drive for Signatures Proceed to Success

FRESNO, May 26. (AP)—Unanimously demanding that the campaign for the California Grape Control Board proceed to a successful conclusion, 4500 growers and business men of the San Joaquin Valley voiced their approval of the Federal Farm Board program at a mass meeting at the civic auditorium tonight.

The vote was taken on a motion by L. R. Rogers, grape grower, seconded by Granville Kimball, another prominent grower, after addresses by Wylie M. Giffen, chairman of the Committee of Fifty, M. J. Newhouse, representative of the Federal Farm Board. Dr. Theodore Macklin, co-operative adviser to the Farm Board and A. Setrakian, grower.

Following the vote to continue the campaign, a call for volunteer campaign sign-up workers was made and more than 2000 responded.

Mr. Newhouse declared the Federal Farm Board cannot be held responsible for the success of any sign-up campaign, including the grape-control campaign.

The meeting was held for the purpose of presenting to the growers the situation faced by the campaign because of the failure of growers to sign the contracts in the past month with but three weeks left before the campaign must close.

Chairman Giffen told the meeting:

"On March 12, C. C. Teague, California member of the Farm Board, stood on this platform and presented in his fine way this program for the stabilization of the grape industry. I think there was not a dissenting voice and we went away with high hopes that within sixty days 85 per cent of the tonnage would be signed. It has been much longer getting under way than we anticipated. It is now four weeks since the first contract was signed and now the committee of fifty finds that the time is more than half gone and the contracts are less than one-quarter signed. The time for the ending of the campaign is set for June 15, because of the packer agreement terms, and by the very nature of things, the campaign must be completed by that date.

"For some reason you are waiting. Where thousands say they are going to sign, only hundreds sign. At this rate, it will take five or six months to complete the campaign. If we are going to handle this year's crop it is necessary that we know in the next thirty days whether we go ahead on the Teague plan or whether we continue in the chaotic way of the past two or three years."

FINAL PANTAGES PLEAS OFFERED

Defense Asserts Fair Trial Prevented by Errors

State Holds Briefs Cover All of Points Raised

Arguments Heard by Five Members of Family

Fundamental and vital errors prevented Alexander Pantages, theater man, from obtaining a fair trial on a charge of having attacked Eunice Pringle, dancer, Attorney Louis Titus, of the defense staff, asserted yesterday in an oral argument before Division One, District Court of Appeal, in the showman's appeal from conviction and a sentence of from one to fifty years in San Quentin.

Five members of the Pantages family heard Attorney Titus deliver the final plea. They are Mrs. Lois Pantages, wife of the appellant; Lloyd, Rodney and Carmen Pantages and Dixie Martin, adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pantages.

STATE'S CONTENTION

The State dispensed with arguments. Dep. Atty.-Gen. Richards said that all of the points raised by the defense argument were covered in briefs before the court. The people, he concluded, were willing to submit the case on the briefs already filed.

Attorney Titus argued that "one of the most important and vital errors was the exclusion of all evidence as to the previous moral character of the prosecutrix." In this connection he referred to testimony offered by the defense as to visits made by Miss Pringle to the quarters of Nicholas Dunaev, author of the skit offered by the dancer for booking by the theater man.

FURTHER ARGUMENT

Presentation by the prosecution of physical facts in corroboration of the dancer's testimony gave the defendant the right to produce evidence as to the dancer's moral character, Titus said.

The attorney also took exception to statements made by the District-Attorney in the latter's final argument to the jury. Counsel also referred to "public clamor," which, he said, must have found its way into the District-Attorney's office, into the judge's chamber and into the jury box.

Grant Boy of Kidnaping Fame Cleared in Quiz

Dicky Grant was in the news again yesterday, reports being published that police had made a burglary charge against the 13-year-old boy who figured in a sensational kidnaping case last year. These reports were denied by Detective Lieutenant Lester of the juvenile bureau, who handled the case.

Lester said that Dicky and his brother, David, 16, both of 312 San Fernando Road, while playing in the ruins of the Rose Trunk Manufacturing Company's factory at 300 North Avenue 21, which had been swept by fire, carried off some charred articles. Later, the officer said, an official of the company made a burglary complaint. Lester questioned the boys and reported that they admitted taking partly-burned articles which they supposed to be of no value and which they returned. They were not arrested.

Dicky disappeared from his home late in 1928, and was the object of a widespread police search in which airplanes were used to survey isolated mountain canyons. Last year the boy was found in a town in New Mexico in company with a former handy man of his father's. The man was tried on a charge of kidnaping.

Stimson to Head Young Campaign

Organization of the forces seeking the renomination of Gov. Young in the August primary was completed yesterday with the announcement of Marshall Stimson, attorney, that he has accepted the chairmanship of the Young campaign committee in this section and that George I. Cochran, president of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company, has been named the committee's treasurer. The first salvo of oratory in the Young drive for votes of Southern Californians will be fired next Monday evening at a ratification dinner to be tendered Gov. Young at the Alexandria. The Governor will be the principal speaker.

Veterans Open Circus Tonight

Everything is set for the opening of the Spanish-American War Veterans' annual circus and fiesta tonight at Lincoln Pleasure Park. The circus will continue through next Sunday, with matinees Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Friday, Memorial Day, the management will be host to several orphan homes and the Boy Scouts.

Many free attractions are offered nightly. The entire proceeds will go toward sending the fife and drum corps to the convention at Philadelphia in August.

CONTRACT LET FOR MAIN-STREET LINK

Contract for widening and paving a link of Main street from Wilmington four miles north to a point near Nigger Slough, was let yesterday by the Board of Supervisors to the firm of Kovechivich & Price. Work on the improvement, which will cost approximately $300,000, will be started within three weeks, according to County Road Commissioner Jones. Completion of work on this link will mark the complete restoration of Main street as a major traffic artery between the city and the harbor district.

Courses of Instruction in Courtship, Marriage and Other Home Making Subjects Should Be Established in Schools and Churches, Savant Suggests

Courses of instruction in courtship, marriage and all subjects having to do with home making should be established in public schools and churches, according to the opinion expressed by Dr. George B. Mangold, professor of sociology at the University of Southern California, in an address given yesterday at the Ministerial Association meeting at First Methodist Episcopal Church.

"If religious and secular teachers are not allowed to instruct pupils in these vital matters the young people will receive their distorted information from sources that are not calculated to raise the moral standards which today threaten to undermine our social system," said Dr. Mangold.

The speaker scored "companionate marriage" on the ground that it places the erotic impulse first in importance in the life of young people.

"As a matter of fact, the relationship between men and women is wholesome and constructive only whensafe guarded and spiritualized," said Dr. Margold.

Dr. Herbert Booth Smith, president of the California branch of the Lord's Day Alliance, spoke in favor of Sunday closing laws for California and Oregon which, he said, are the only two States in the Union which have no Sunday laws.

Minister Sues His Wife Due to Another Woman

Rev. Roy L. Larson, 1914 Rosalia Road, pastor of a Four Square Gospel Lighthouse, yesterday sued his wife, Lethe Brooks Larson, for divorce, asserting his wife's companionship with another woman embarrassed him before his congregation and relatives.

The pastor accuses his wife of inviting Florence Glauser to his home shortly after the marriage, although he says he could not afford to support her without compensation.

Installed in the best bedroom, Miss Glauser paid no rent and not only monopolized Mrs. Larson's time, but also once lured her away to Oklahoma. Larson says he was importuned to purchase his wife an automobile in which the trip was made.

There are no children and no community property is listed for division.

Geographic Club Host to Chinese

Problems of the Chinese interesting to the Occidental were under discussion last night at the regular monthly meeting of the Pacific Geographic Society at the Elks' Club when Dr. Edmonds, president of Pomona College, was the principal speaker.

The members of the society entertained a number of Chinese educators and residents with a musical program which included a number of musical selections given by Chinese students of Southern California universities. The meeting was presided over by Carl Palmer as chairman.

Wife Charges Intemperance

Declaring that her husband's drinking habits made living with him impossible, Mrs. Jewel Nicoles, for the loss of whose love Verl Nicoles recently sued Glenn Seibert, yesterday sued for divorce.

Nicoles, manager of a manufacturing concern, asked $25,000 heart balm, charging Seibert "came between" him and his wife.

Mrs. Nicoles in her divorce complaint charged that her husband insisted on living at his parents' home, and refused to provide a household for her.

AUTO SIGNAL PLAN ACTION DUE TODAY

New Ordinance Changing Control to Police Group Expected to be Acted On

Formal action will be taken today by the Police Commission approving the proposed ordinance authorizing the commissioners to make a study of street traffic problems and transferring the traffic signal bureau's personnel from the building and safety department to a bureau of street traffic engineering under the Police Commission.

The ordinance, prepared under direction of the Traffic and Lighting Committee of the City Council, was given tentative approval yesterday by the Police Commission in a committee of the whole meeting in the Mayor's suite.

Under the measure, William E. Dorsey, chief of the traffic signal division, and twenty-nine men employed under him, will be transferred to the proposed bureau of street traffic engineering in the police department, relieving for police duties one sergeant and four officers now employed in police traffic work. Painters and others employed by the police department would be absorbed into the new bureau.

ANNULMENT DENIED TO WIFE OF SOLDIER

Although she had telegrams from officers confirming the report that her husband had deserted from the United States Army, Superior Judge Mahon yesterday refused to annul the marriage of Mrs. Namoi Le Vere to James La Vere. She said he was soldier at Vancouver, Wash., when she met him. "He visited me at my mother's home in Portland, Or., several times after we were married on October 3, 1928," the wife continued. "Then I did not hear from him." On going to the barracks to see him, she was told he had deserted.

RAIL CROSSING WANTED

A request that the City Attorney proceed to obtain a crossing over the Southern Pacific tracks at the extension of Sherman Way was received by the City Council yesterday from City Engineer Jessup and referred to the Public Works Committee.

MEMORIAL BLOOMS SOUGHT

Los Angeles Guild Plans Flower Fiesta All Day Tomorrow at Ambassador Gardens

Providing flowers for soldiers in hospitals on Memorial Day and for soldiers' graves is the special objective of the Flower Mart fiesta arranged for all-day tomorrow by the Los Angeles Plant, Flower and Fruit Guild in the Ambassador Gardens. A program of attractions beginning at 10 a.m. and ending at 7 p.m., is announced by the committee, of which Mrs. Elisabeth Lloyd-Smith, mother of Harold Lloyd, is general chairman of the day.

Mrs. George E. Hill of New York, representative of the national guild, will fly here today from San Francisco to participate in tomorrow's fete. Mayor Porter has issued a proclamation urging residents of Los Angeles to support the city beautiful gardening movement which dedicates its first public affair to providing flowers for soldier dead and soldiers in hospitals, as well as for the sick and poor throughout the year.

Forty clubs are sponsoring the event tomorrow. The program includes a card party from 10 a.m. till 12 noon, when the Mayor is scheduled to speak; a fashion revue directed by Mme. Irene, and with Peggy Hamilton, fashion editor of The Times, as hostess, from 12 noon until 2 p.m., with music by Hamp's orchestra; a bridge party from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m., and a dansant from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. Roy Wilcox heads the flower committee, and promises a profusion of flowers which may be sent to invalids, old people and children.

dustry will be a very considerable item.

The meeting was largely attended by Southern California vineyardists living in the vicinity of Los Angeles.

Mr. Gray stated in his address last night that a tentative date of June 15 had been set as a time limit for obtaining the signatures, but added that this time might be extended until July 1.

LEWIS BRIBERY PAY-OFF TOLD

Weaver. Miss Johnson is among the prosecution witnesses but, according to William Beirne, her attorney, will probably refuse to testify.

Before Weaver took the stand yesterday afternoon, W. E. Yorba, clerk of the Superior Court Department Twenty-three, was called as the first prosecution witness. He testified that he was clerk in the department where the first Julian case was tried in 1928, and declared that Mrs. Caroline Love was a member of the jury.

EIGHT WOMEN ON JURY

It was almost noon yesterday when the jury selection, which already had occupied two full court days, was completed. Eight women and four men were sworn with a man and a woman as alternates. The jury follows:

Mrs. Oma Patton, 1529 West Eighty-fifth street; Theodore F. Russell, Alhambra; George Kanesse, Reseda; Mrs. Nora A. Hogan, 4925 West Twenty-first street; Mrs. Eva Venable, 602 West Seventy-ninth street; Mrs. Lois G. Throne, La Verne; Edwin J. Fletcher, 929 Francisco street; Mrs. Maren A. Kimball, La Crescenta; Arnold Fitzgerald, El Segundo; Mrs. M. J. Bolte, Inglewood; Mrs. Cora E. Eyer, Wooman's Athletic Club. The two alternate jurors are Mrs. Alice M. Heber and Morris Wolfe.

A short opening statement was made by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Costello followed by another by Lewis before Yorba took the witness stand.

BERMAN'S $20,000 BOND EXONERATED BY COURT

Bond of $20,000 posted by Jacob Berman, alias Jack Bennett, of the Julian Petroleum Corporation debacle, in the United States District Court, was exonerated yesterday by Judge James. It was done upon a showing that Berman is now serving a term at McNeil Federal prison. The bond was posted on a charge of using the mails to defraud.

Contempt Held in Romola Case

For asserted interference with contract holders of Romola, Inc., a concern handling fig and grape lands, James A. Spates, head of the "Corporation Analytical Bureau," was found guilty of contempt of court yesterday by United States District Judge Cosgrave.

An injunction previously had been issued by former United States District Judge Henning, restraining Spates from interfering with the contract holders of the company. A subsequent order was issued by Judge Cosgrave, but it was held that Spates violated the first court order. Spates is scheduled to appear tomorrow for sentence.

TWO WOMEN SEEK TO END THEIR LIVES

Refusing to give police any explanation of their actions, two women lay in a critical condition at Georgia-street Receiving Hospital yesterday afternoon as the result of asserted suicide attempts. They are Mrs. Mary Henry, 34 years of age, of 2006 South San Pedro street, and Mrs. Katie Novokoff, 28, of 946 South Mott street. Mrs. Henry, according to Detective Lieutenant Luke, swallowed poison of an undetermined kind. Mrs. Novokoff, after unsuccessfully attempting to hang herself in her home, took a large quantity of ant paste. She is, police stated, the mother of four children. Following treatment the women were to be held for observation.

CARD PARTY TONIGHT

Members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Hotel Greeters of Southern California announce a card party for 8 o'clock tonight at the Belmont Apartments, 948 South Figueroa street.

NEW DELAY GRANTED TO KEYES AIDE

Donald MacKay Trial Put Off Until July 28 Due to Attorney's Absence

Donald MacKay, chief trial deputy under former Dist.-Atty. Keyes, obtained another continuance of his trial when he appeared yesterday before Superior Judge Wilson.

The continuance was granted because Richard Cantillon, MacKay's attorney, is in the East on legal matters.

The case was deferred until July 28, next, with the consent of the District Attorney.

MacKay is charged with having accepted a $7500 bribe from Ben Getzoff, Spring-street tailor, to "go easy" on the prosecution of A. I. Lasker, automobile finance man.

OLYMPIC GAME PLANS ADVANCE

time. The committee must still consider another Belgian proposal under which leave with salary paid would not be regarded as compensation for lost salary.

The program committee was subdivided into three subcommittees. It was expected that they would effect an all-around curtailment, but instead the subcommittees expanded all of the proposals which De Baillet-Latour placed before the congress in behalf of the international Olympic committee.

DURATION OF GAMES

In regard to the duration of the games M. Latour proposed that the period must not exceed a fortnight, not including the opening day. The first subcommittee decided to recommend sixteen days, including the opening and closing days. In regard to the participation of women, Latour proposed that they only be admitted to gymnastics, swimming, lawn tennis and skating competition. Frenchman Rosseau was against women participating, but he was voted down.

The second committee agreed that women should be admitted to these four sports. But then the second committee went further and decided by a 2-to-1 vote that women also should be admitted to light athletics, fencing and yachting.

Regarding the number of entries, Latour proposed for individual events that there be three competitors from each nation without reserves. The third subcommittee recommended four competitors without reserves.

The committee work will be concluded on Tuesday, the next plenary session being billed for Wednesday morning.

HINDENBURG HOST

This afternoon when the international delegates to the Olympic Congress called on President Von Hindenburg for tea, the American delegation was the spiffiest of all. They had silk hats and striped trousers, all paraphernalia of what the well-dressed gentleman wears, which gave the delegation an air of elegance so dear to the hearts of diplomats. The Americans were headed by William May Garland, vice-president of the Olympic Congress.

It was an old-fashioned garden party which President Von Hindenburg gave in the beautiful garden of the White House, where he chatted informally with the guests. Like a courtier of the old days Von Hindenburg kissed the hands of Mrs. Garland and the other women of the party when they were introduced to him. With the men he talked of Germany's chances in the forthcoming Olympic Games at Los Angeles and of the importance of sports for the health of the growing generation. His eyes glowed with warm delight when he heard Mr. Garland express admiration for yesterday's parade of the boatmen and rowers of the Berlin district and when the American voiced the belief that Germany and German sportsmen, the way they are working now, are bound to do much in the forthcoming Olympic Games at Los Angeles.

MUSHROOMS RELIEVED OF BLAME FOR DEATH

Death of Thomas McGlone of 729 South Union avenue was caused by heart disease and not from mushrooms eaten at a downtown cafe, according to Dr. Giles S. Porter, assistant city health officer.

A post-mortem examination made at the County Morgue developed that McGlone had been suffering from hardening of the arteries and an acutely dilated heart, according to Dr. Porter. The report that mushrooms brought death was caused by McGlone informing a physician, shortly before he died Sunday, that he had eaten the growths, according to Porter. The latter said that the mushrooms were of the cultivated species with slim chance that toadstools were among them.

The doctor's investigation into the asserted illness of Miss Ethel Byers of 2800 West Eighth street, who ate with McGlone, revealed that reports of her illness were erroneous, he said.

Masons Attend Oil Man's Rites

Friends and members of the Masonic Order crowded the Scottish Rite Temple yesterday afternoon, where the last rights for L. J. King, veteran oil operator and vice-president of the Associated Oil Company, were conducted under the Masonic ritual.

At the Inglewood Park Cemetery simple burial services were conducted in the presence of approximately 500 friends of the family. The floral tributes were unusually beautiful. They were banked high about the casket during the temple services and later were transported to the cemetery.

PROBATION PLAN GETS ATTENTION

Supervisors Ask Judge for Report on Bar Association Proposal for New Post

A proposal of the Los Angeles Bar Association that the work of the county charities department and the probation department be segregated, with the consequent creation of a new post to be known as chief probation officer, yesterday resulted in the Board of Supervisors adopting a resolution calling on Presiding Judge Doran of the Superior Court for a report on the feasibility of the plan.

The association's plan first was placed before the board a week ago, at which time its adoption was urged on the ground the work of the probation department has increased to an extent to justify creation of the new executive position.

At present W. H. Holland serves the county both as superintendent of charities and chief probation officer, receiving an annual salary of $7200 from the charities department and $300 additionally as head of the probation office.

The association plan calls for a competitive examination to provide a list of persons eligible to receive an appointment as chief probation officer at a minimum salary of $8000 a year.

The board's action calling upon Judge Doran for a report was taken upon motion of Supervisor Shaw, following receipt of an indorsement of the plan from the Municipal League.

Gary, director of the foreign trade division, in charge. The group traveling in cars left here yesterday morning.

FIGHTING FISH LATEST CAPTURE

Traveler Brings in Rare Vertebrates

ICHTHYOLOGISTS would have enjoyed a rare treat yesterday aboard the Dollar around-the-world liner President Fillmore. Her chief officer, L. S. Burgess, brought back from Penang two tiny Siamese fighting fish, which invariably fight to the death when placed together in captivity.

The rare little vertebrates, hardly more than three inches overall, were brought from Bangkok and presented to Mr. Burgess by a Siamese merchant who had been one of his passengers. To test the ferocity of his new pets, Mr. Burgess placed them together in a jar, and in less than a minute, he declares, they were fighting so strenuously that one of them lost the lower half of his tail. He separated them immediately and they have since been domiciled in separate fruit jars.

Death Battle Interrupted

Mr. Burgess will present them to the Steinhardt Aquarium, San Francisco, for which port the President Fillmore sailed yesterday noon.

COURT CONSIDERS PLEA

Marital troubles of Earle Morgan were taken under submission yesterday by Division Two, District Court of Appeal, in habeas corpus proceedings. Morgan was charged with contempt for failure to pay alimony to his wife, Effie Morgan. Sentenced to five days' imprisonment, he obtained his liberty on a writ of habeas corpus when he set forth that at the time of their marriage his "wife" was the legally wedded mate of another. The case began in January and has been continued from time to time.

Trousers Girl Wins Acquittal

Pauline Williams, arrested at First and Main streets while wearing a shirt and trousers, was acquitted of vagrancy yesterday before Municipal Judge MacCoy. At the time of her arrest, the girl had been in Los Angeles less than twenty-four hours, she said.

Following her acquittal, Police Captain Allen announced that she would be arrested as a juvenile when she left the courtroom. The arrest was not made, as Mrs. Williams is being cared for at the home of a jail worker, who told Allen she will be available if he desires to file another charge against her.

HUSBAND KILLED AND WIFE HURT

Auto Plunges from Highway and Turns Over

Woman Believed to Have Fractured Skull

Two Drivers Booked on Drunk Charges

Roy B. Clingerman, 47 years of age, 531 Rialto Boulevard, Venice, was killed, and his wife, 45, seriously injured shortly before midnight Sunday, when the car in which they were riding plunged off the road and overturned three times near the intersection of Slauson avenue and Jefferson street, according to a Sheriff's office report.

Mrs. Clingerman was removed to the General Hospital suffering from a possible skull fracture. Clingerman's body was taken to the Culver City Funeral Home pending an inquest today at 1:30 p.m.

While investigating the accident, Deputy Sheriffs Barsley and Slattery of the Vermont Sheriff's substation, arrested Lester Curry, 25, 1824 West Sixty-sixth street, on a charge of driving while drunk. Curry, they reported, collided with an automobile driven by William Blethen, 1738 East Sixty-ninth street, on Slauson avenue near the Fox Hills Country Club. They reported finding a small quantity of liquor in a bottle in Curry's car.

Still later on their way into the substation the two officers reported finding Louis Caron, 26, 1153 West Fifty-first Place, asleep in his car which was parked on Slauson avenue. He was booked in the County Jail on a charge of drunkenness.

An inquest is scheduled for today at 9:30 a.m. at the undertaking parlors of W. G. Noble, San Fernando, into the death Sunday of Jean Dunn, 18, 5511 Fallston avenue, in a traffic accident near Newhall.

HIS STORY WINS DECREE

Grace Gose Schrader left one pillow, one sheet and a note to her husband, Russell Nelson Schrader.

The note said, "Good-by and good luck," according to Schrader, who asked Superior Judge Archbald to give him a divorce at a hearing on his petition yesterday. A decree was granted.

HALT MADE ON PICKFORD FILM WORK

Retakes and Writing of New Sequence Blamed for Delay on Current Picture

Production on Mary Pickford's current picture was temporarily suspended yesterday at the United Artists Studios, according to announcement from the executive office. The necessity of extensive retakes and the writing of entirely new sequences into the story was assigned as the cause of the halt.

It was announced that Miss Pickford will resume work on the picture, "Forever Yours," about June 16. It is believed that before that time further announcements will be forthcoming as to her plans.

The picture was being filmed under the direction of Marshall Neilan, who handled the megaphone on a number of Miss Pickford's earlier successes. Barney Glazer handled the adaptation from the stage play of the same name by May Edginton and Rudolf Besier.

BISCUITS AND PIES TO BE DEMONSTRATED

The program at The Times' free cooking school today is devoted to demonstration of dishes requested by different members of the class, and should prove very interesting. Again Chef Wyman will show exactly how to make biscuits—something that should interest every new housekeeper—and demonstrate the method of making a perfect custard pie. Aside from these, she will prepare three unusual dishes; an East Indian vegetable curry, Danish dumplings and Martin salad—which is a "whole meal" salad prepared with fish and vegetables. The Times invites everyone to attend this class which, because of the holiday next Friday, will be the only cooking school this week. It is held in the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway, and begins at 2 o'clock.

THOUSANDS WILL ATTEND PENTECOSTAL SERVICES

Thousands of churchgoers are expected to attend the interdenominational services at First Congregational Church tomorrow in observance of the nineteen hundredth anniversary of Penetcost, "the birthday of the church."

The program, which will start at 10 a.m. and at which Mrs. Charles E. Richards will preside, will include vocal and instrumental numbers, an address on "Jewish Pentecost" by Dr. Carl S. Patton and a sermon on "The First Christian Penetcost" by Dr. William T. Gilliland.

Mrs. James H. Lash, Mrs. Charles D. Hill, Miss Henrietta Freeman and Dr. Harry Beal, dean of St. Paul's Cathedral, will be among the speakers on the program which will begin at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow.

LIBRARY OUSTER BATTLED

Mrs. Zane Grey, as President, and Also Secretary of Altadena District Named in Suit

Mrs. Zane Grey, wife of the novelist, president of the board of trustees of the Altadena Library, and William D. Davies, secretary, are made defendants in quo warranto proceedings brought to oust them from office on the theory that the election, held on December 6, 1926, creating the Altadena Library District, was illegal. The action brought by Atty.-Gen. Webb in the name of Gertrude Knapp, was submitted yesterday on briefs to Superior Judge Yankwich for a decision.

The suit involves questions of law on whether a county library district in unincorporated territory is a quasi municipal corporation, or a special assessment district. The plaintiffs contend that the rules governing the creation of a county library district are the same as those providing for the formation of a special assessment district. They assert that the election forming the Altadena Library District was illegal inasmuch as no hearings were held in advance to determine the necessity of such a district.

The defendants contend that no hearing was necessary, that a library district is a quasi municipal corporation and not a special assessment district, therefore the rules that apply to the latter are not applicable.

At the election creating the district 332 votes were cast of which 209 were for it and 123 against it. Following the election Mrs. Grey, Davies and Joseph H. Tumback were appointed by the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors as trustees of the library board.

BABY'S DEATH LAID TO HEART DISEASE

In an autopsy performed yesterday at the Coroner's office death of Sarah Louise Bowen, 2-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Bowen of 450 South Cochran avenue, Beverly Hills, was declared to be due to heart disease. The infant died Sunday following efforts of the fire department inhalator squad to revive her.

DISMISSAL GIVEN ONE ON SLAYING

Fulton Takes Stand as Witness in Defense of Former Codefendant

Insufficient evidence against Morris Fulton who, with Joseph Herring, was tried in Superior Judge McComb's court for the murder of Robert Leslie, yesterday caused the court to dismiss the charge as to Fulton after the prosecution had concluded presentation of its case. The motion for dismissal was made by William T. Kendrick, Jr., attorney for Fulton.

After the dismissal Fulton took the witness stand and testified in behalf of Herring, his former co-defendant.

The complaint against the two men charges that Fulton sent Herring to see Leslie and James J. Murphy to settle a bootlegging dispute and warned Herring to carry a gun in self-defense. Herring, in an asserted confession to police, said that when he met the two men one of them tried to take the gun away from him and that he shot in self-defense fatally wounding Leslie and injuring Murphy.

With the close of defense testimony directed by Attorney Don Lake, Dep. Dist.-Atty. Kearney, prosecuting the case, made his opening argument.

The shooting is asserted to have occurred at Clanton street and Griffith avenue on February 25, last.

Today's Bible Text

Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you.—2 Cor. xiii:11.

LET HIM SETTLE
Al Capone wants to settle down and be quiet. One way to do it will be for him to settle up for all he has done.

HAVE TO BE GOOD
New York convicts a jaywalker. In Los Angeles the cops don't get a chance to take them in. The drivers pick them off out here.

TOGA
Costing several hundred thousand dollars, Ruth Hanna McCormick's first measurement for a toga is the most expensive in history.

HOLLYWOOD CANDY
New sugar made from cottonseed hulls has no fattening effect. At last there is a chance to grab for a sweet instead of a cigarette.

LIFE OR WIFE
A life-saver on the beach was accused by his wife, seeking a divorce, of always saving pretty girls. He saved a life, but lost a wife.

CONVENIENT EXCUSES
Divorce and marriage records seem to prove that mental cruelty is what a husband or wife suffers after the third person enters the triangle.

STRAW VOTES
The Literary Digest poll showed Pennsylvania to be overwhelmingly wet, but the primary election returns didn't bear it out. Winds will change.

LUXURIOUS THRILLS
At last the ultra-wealthy have found a way to spend money denied to the ordinary human. Its costs $5000 for a ticket on the Graf Zeppelin.

TRY IT, AND SEE!
Mail now goes from Los Angeles to New York in about thirty hours by air. That is about as quick as it takes the ordinary mail to reach some of our suburban communities.

PERFUME
The perfumery dealers are complaining because of the difficulty of getting alcohol. If they would connect up with some of the drunk drivers, they might get a whiff of it.

FRACTIONS
In Java apples are sold by halves and quarters and two or three grapes are retailed from a bunch. Here in the Hollywood stadium, prize fighters sell their wares by the pound.

TALKIES BARRED
Cameras, electrically connected, keep a picture record of the postures of an individual during sleep. So long as they don't hook up sound apparatus with the camera most husbands wouldn't object.

HOME A HOOSEGOW
Mary Pickford's birthplace in Toronto, Can., is said to be used as a police station. At least Mary can feel that folks who go there usually pay when they see it. And visits are rather exclusive—generally by invitation.

NOT UNIONIZED
German Supreme Court decides that $250 a day is a large enough salary for any actor to receive. Hollywood became famous because it took a different view. Movie artists receive stipends that permit them really to share in the profits of their work, and to share generously.

GOT IN FREE
Edward P. Mulrooney, New York Police Commissioner, is what is known in the parlance of the Gotham force as "a Teddy cop." He was appointed when Roosevelt was New York Police Commissioner. Before and after the Teddy administration it cost a patrolman $300 for his appointment and the scale ran up to $14,000 for a captaincy, under Tammany rule. Mulrooney started "clean," because he received his appointment on merit only. His record, after thirty-four years, is an enviable one. Now he is a Tammany appointee. Has Tammany reformed?

JUSTICE FOR JAPAN

The movement started by the Portland Chamber of Commerce and warmly indorsed by the National Foreign Trade Council convention to have an immigration quota assigned to the Japanese deserves general support. The present exclusion puts the Japanese people in an anomalous position—one of implied racial inferiority—and all the explanation in the world that its real design is to prevent racial admixture, which is generally conceded to be undesirable, does not serve to salve wounded feelings. It is to be hoped that the movement will be taken up by other chambers of commerce and civic bodies, especially of the Pacific Coast, and that such an expression of opinion will go forward to Congress as to cause that body to act.

It is not alone for the advancement of international comity that such action is desirable. The United States owes itself the righting of this injustice to a nation which has, many times and in many ways, shown itself fully worthy to be received into the fellowship of nations on terms of equality. It is particularly fitting that the Pacific Coast, which took the lead for Japanese exclusion, should likewise take the lead in seeking to do away with an unwise and unnecessary discrimination, which has produced no good results, but on the contrary has embittered the people of the Japanese empire. While the relations of the United States and Japan are now friendly, they could easily be much more friendly if this stumblingblock to good feeling were removed.

As to the practical results of granting a quota on the composition of the population of the United States, it is clear there would be no noticeable effect. The Japanese quota under the national origins restriction plan now in effect would be at the maximum 146 per year. There were, according to the census of 1920, 111,000 Japanese in the United States, and an addition to this number of 146 a year by immigration could not be detected in the census statistics.

But the quota might not even be 146. In 1928 the joint committee of the State, Commerce and Labor departments which figured the quotas now in use assigned Japan the minimum quota, which is 100. Either number would be completely lost in the normal changes of Japanese population here due to births, emigrations and deaths.

While commercial motives have no logical connection with discussion of a question of right and wrong, they do affect the question of expediency, and it is certainly expedient as well as right to cultivate good relations with the leader of the Near West, a nation in a position not only to furnish a large market for American products herself, but to control and influence other outlets. Much of the trade of the Near West is in Japanese hands, and if that trade might be influenced ever so slightly it is so potentially vast that the difference would amount to millions of dollars.

It is unnecessary to state the position of Japan as a nation. It has been a civilized entity for upward of 3000 years and its present recognition as such is the recognition of merit.

There will be opposition, of course, to the granting of a quota. V. S. McClatchy, secretary of the so-called California Joint Immigration Committee, has already declared that so far as he is concerned he sees no reason to change the attitude the committee took six years ago. But neither Mr. McClatchy nor anyone else will be able to present a logical reason why the admission of 100 to 150 Japanese a year would be in the least harmful or objectionable. Mr. McClatchy is wrong when he says the plan was carefully considered by Congress in 1924 and rejected. The rejection was not the result of careful consideration; it was brought about principally by an unfortunate letter of the then Japanese Ambassador, which seemed to contain a threat, or at least was so interpreted. By recalling the Ambassador, the Japanese government by inference disavowed his language, and the passage of time has made it clear that no challenge to the right of the United States to deal with immigration was meant.

The change is desirable not because Japan wants it, but because it is ethically just. While the action of 1924 was a natural and perhaps inevitable answer to what looked like attempted foreign interference in a domestic matter, it is scarcely defensible on any other ground.

Mr. McClatchy brings up questions of other aliens excluded under the same provision as aliens ineligible to citizenship. That bridge can well be crossed when it is reached. There is no particular point to discussing it now. But since the maximum quota of no other class would exceed 100 a year, it would do not the slightest harm if the change were made general.

While the questions are not related, the attitude of Chairman Johnson of the House Immigration Committee on this matter is more to be commended than his stand on the Mexican exclusion proposals. This effort to do belated justice to one friendly nation may be helpful in discouraging the plan to offer an affront to another by singling out Mexico for quota restrictions. The reasoning of the National Foreign Trade Council applies to all such cases:

"This National Foreign Trade convention recognizes the fundamental fact that the only enduring basis for world trade is founded upon the principle of justice and fair play between nations and that international good will can only be maintained through the development of friendship and mutual understanding. This convention favors strongly the revision of the immigration act of 1924 in accordance with these views."

PUBLIC POACHERS

Poaching on other people's preserves was once punishable by death in England. Many owners of property along California highways doubtless feel the same way about it.

Fifteen or twenty years ago the motorist could travel from one end of California to the other and stop by the roadside or drive under a hospitable oak for a picnic or camping purposes. But he seems to have abused his privileges and today he has to ride between strands of barbed wire even out in the most desolate stretches.

The good old days are gone and often travelers criticise the country folks for inhospitality for erecting barriers that scratch and tear. And yet they themselves have largely brought about the change. They have nobody to blame but themselves.

The rancher has no inborn desire to invest his long green in long stretches of fencing. He does it wholly as a matter of self-protection.

Not many years ago the fisherman could enter a stream at any point and cast his fly. Now he has to get a permit to pass through locked gates, or buy a pair of hip boots and wade up midstream from some road. Owners of land and clubs have appropriated most of the streams. The fisherman is largely responsible. He polluted water courses and destroyed property. The right of way to the public yet lies along the river; but it is inaccessible.

City folks see no reason why they should not mooch flowers and fruit along the highways. They despoil and scatter debris. Melon rinds and other refuse are flung with papers to the winds as souvenirs of their uninvited visits. And the larger number of law-abiding travelers suffer for the few careless.

So walls and impenetrable hedges shut out the curious. There is no more reason why city folks should steal from the ranchers than there is for the farmers to come to the city and lift wares from the counters or appropriate fruits from stands. A large number of folks need to be trained that liberty is not license in this land of the free.

MR. COOLIDGE OBJECTS

Who can blame Calvin Coolidge for saying that he does not want photographs of his furniture taken while he is moving from house to house, as he has been doing of late? If the first sight of the proof of a photograph of a man or woman takes the conceit out of him, a picture of his household possessions standing on the sidewalk is a still harsher rap at his pride. The movers always place the most worn and battered furniture in the most conspicuous position for neighbors and passers-by to stare at.

Thoreau asks in his "Walden," "What man but a philosopher would not be ashamed to see his furniture packed in a cart and going up country exposed to the light of heaven and the eyes of men? I never could tell," he adds, "from inspecting such a load whether it belonged to a rich man or a poor one." Inquisitive neighbors seem to like nothing better than to "rubber" at one's chairs, tables and rugs while they are borne into new quarters or out of old ones and to estimate their value.

Of course, with Mr. Coolidge this is not the point. He is democratic enough not to object to people eyeing his lares and penates, but he draws the line, and quite warrantably, too, at their being photographed, particularly by strangers.

TRUE CONFESSIONS

What's all this about "art for art's sake"? Frances Alda, noted Metropolitan soprano, says in Good Housekeeping: "New York is the world's musical capital. Why? It is very simple. The greatest amount of money is there and artists inevitably gravitate toward the spot where their rewards are richest."

IT'S THE CATCH THAT COUNTS
By James J. Montague

It is ho! for the glint of the riffles
And the murmuring purr of the stream,
Or the wind-ruffled pond in the valley beyond
Where the little gold buttercups gleam;
To leave toil and trouble behind one,
To bid fret and worry good-by,
And watch for the swish of a silver bright fish
As he darts at a flickering fly.

As soon as the oaks and the maples
Are clad in the colors of spring,
And the hue of the sky can be seen in the dye
Of the hurrying kingfisher's wing,
I long for the song of the water,
I am eager to wander away
Where the creek carves a trail through the rock-bordered dale,
And rest in enchantment all day.

There is peace in the voice of the cedars
That answers the whispering breeze,
There is rest in the shade of the fern-sided glade
Hid away by the sycamore trees;
From the boughs of the pines and the hemlocks
The chattering chipmunks look down,
And afar from the mind is the roar and the grind
And the tumult and tension of town.

But soft as the cloud-sprinkled skies are,
And sweet as the scent of the fern,
And gay as the birds as they chant, without words,
Their joy at the springtime's return,
I should find far more pleasure in seeking
The forest-roofed brookside again
If I knew in advance that I stood a fair chance
To capture a fish now and then.

The LEE SIDE O' LA
BY Lee Shippey

TWO or three times, somewhat in derision, we have conferred a cactus medal on some one. But that was just because of our ignorance.

We didn't appreciate how valuable a cactus medal might be.

The first big cactus show ever held in the West is to be in the Ambassador Auditorium from May 29 to June 1, inclusive, and cactus enthusiasts all over the world will be interested. Cacti and other succulents will be shown there which cannot be matched anywhere else. The Cactus and Succulent Society of America, a very dignified organization with many members in foreign countries, has its headquarters here and is backing the show.

You Get Stuck on 'Em

The trouble with us was that we had never learned to appreciate the fine points of cactus. We thought we did, when we first met a cactus. We sat on it without being properly introduced and it seemed to resent our informality. We didn't realize then that cacti ought to be preserved. Our desire at that moment was for anything but preservation.

But cacti are things you are bound to get stuck on, once you really know them—and learn how not to get stuck on them.

A Cactus Medal Many Envy Her

O. W. Howard, now dead, seems to have been the first notable cactus enthusiast here, the first collector to gain prominence. He made a collection, or started a collection, for Mrs. Sherman Hoyt of Pasadena, which she took to the New York International Flower Show three years ago, and her exhibit was the hit of the show. Boston and Philadelphia wanted to see it, and finally Kew Gardens asked her to bring it over there. It was the outstanding novelty of that show and Mrs. Hoyt came home with the gold medal of the Royal Horticultural Society. There was a cactus medal for you!

Little Honor in Own Country

Naturally enough, this being the native haunt of the cactus, we have been slow about honoring it. It was not till after Mrs. Hoyt had aroused such interest in the East and in foreign countries that Southern California got actively interested. Then Dr. A. B. Houghton of San Fernando, who had been a cactus grower for many years and who is a fellow of the Royal Horticultural Society, got a number of other students of cacti and other succulents together and the society was organized. Dr. Houghton, as its first president, had contacts elsewhere which brought the society to international attention, and its Journal is recognized as an authoritive publication by Kew Gardens and by the national horticultural society of Holland. R. E. Willis, who, just after his return from the World War, started a cactus garden in a window box in a city apartment and perhaps started the fad for miniature cactus gardens, is the president now. William Hertrich of the Huntington Gardens and Eric Walther of Santa Barbara are two other Southland enthusiasts whose experiments with cactus are widely known. The Boyce Thompson Institute of Cornell University maintains an experiment station at Tucson, Ariz., for the study of cacti.

Try This on Your Eight-Year-Old

You simply can't tell who is going to become a cactus hound. A New York artist, who says he never saw a blade of grass except when he went to a park when he was "back home," is one of the most ardent members of the cactus society. Billie Charles, an 8-year-old La Canada lad, not long ago conducted a one-man cactus show at the Shakespeare Club in Pasadena, and Billie's scrawl was rather childish, so his mother wrote the labels for him. "That's a neoammalaria," Billie would inform her. "And that one there is a cephalocereous." "How do you spell them?" she had to ask. And Billie told her.

Pupils in the McKinley School, Pasadena, the Third-Street School in Los Angeles, in Laurel Center and probably in other schools have cactus gardens, cared for as part of their school work. G. A. Frick, who has the most notable collection of succulents here, has two sons, a little older than Billie Charles, who can talk so scientifically about euphorbias, whatever they are, that they give a mere reporter the headache. They took prizes at our first little show, last year, and since then have organized a Boys' Cactus Club. The junior division of this year's big show is sure to bring out some lively competition.

Inspires Tennyson to Faint Alfred Noise

Come down to Kew in cactus time, in cactus time, in cactus time,
Come down to Kew in cactus time, although it's far from deserts,
For you can wander hand in hand with scientists from every land
And gather pointers where you stand or where you sit (who says hurts?)

To line the straight and narrow way and make you careful what you play,
What else can rival cactus, hey? And termites can't abide 'em.
So take this cue in cactus time, come down to Kew in cactus time,
We've points for all in cactus time, although it's far from deserts.

TENNYSON MABIE.

FREUD ON CIVILIZATION

BY BAILEY MILLARD

One who has read Freud for a number of years without much conviction is likely to go to the reading of a new book of his with a sort of hostile irritability. Though disinclined to accept some of his strange doctrines and to balk at his nebulous presentation of them, we may treat "Civilization and Its Discontents" with the same spirit of tolerance with which Carlyle approached the subject of Diderot, the atheistical philosopher.

Here is Sigmund Freud, in his seventy-fifth year, with his latest, and it may be his last, comprehensive setting forth of what we are bound to accept as his sincere beliefs concerning mankind and its struggle to attain happiness. Let us not pick him to pieces, but try to understand him.

Freud endeavors to tell why modern life brings so much discontent. In it he dissects the emotions and illusions of mankind unsparingly. He says that life is too hard for us, that it entails too much pain and disappointment and that we cannot do without palliative remedies. These we find in powerful diversions, substitute gratifications and in intoxicating substances which make us insensitive to misery. Also we find them in religion and in work.

Most philosophers agree with Freud in the matter of work being a means to happiness. Emerson preached the doctrine of labor and so did Carlyle, Channing and Thoreau. Tennyson and Longfellow sang it. Hugo, Dickens and Stevenson lived it in their intense literary activity. But to treat art as a substitute gratification and an illusion, as Freud does, rather staggers us. To most of us it seems very real and beautiful and its pursuit full of perennial joy. True, he admits that fate has little power against the man who knows how to heighten his capacity for obtaining pleasure for work, including art, but he does not seem to believe that many have that knowledge.

As for stupefying or stimulating intoxicants, with their inevitable reaction, we shall not find their use anything more than a temporary palliation for discontent or hardship. Freud doubtless knows this well enough, but he strangely makes no point of it. Serious approval may be given to his setting forth of conjugal love as a source of joy, but his "economics of the libido" raises a smile.

Our analytical friend betrays the influence of Voltaire when he classifies religion as "mass delusion." Doubtless this is true of fanatical dogmatism. It also is true, as Carlyle insists, of the theist, who "theoretically asserts a God," makes great show of the worship of God, "and for the rest is found living as if his theory were some polite figure of speech." Furthermore, it is true of the orthodoxy of those who loudly proclaim a faith which they do not express in their daily acts. Freud prefers to treat religion as a whole as "mass delusion" and to say that it circumscribes and hampers those who profess it. All the comfort people get from religion, in his view of it, is that it "saves many from individual neuroses."

The prospect of discovering anything new to establish us in happiness seems to Freud very dubious. Yet he says that if we cannot abolish all suffering we can abolish some of it and can mitigate more. He points to the well-known truth that the systems we have created do not insure us protection and well-being. But one wonders if he is right in postulating upon this truth the dismal view that "our so-called civilization itself is to blame for a great part of our misery" and that "we should be much happier if we were to give it up and go back to primitive conditions."

Freud believes that many people have adopted this attitude of hostility to civilization. He explains this attitude by saying that "men cannot tolerate the degree of privation which civilization imposes upon them by virtue of its cultural ideals." From this hypothesis he argues that our "technical progress is worthless from the standpoint of happiness" and learnedly refers to "the psychological misery of groups"—a Freudianism that means much or little according to one's point of view. It is harking back to Thoreau and his theory that "the mass of men lead lives of quiet despair" and it is going still further back to Pascal, who terms human progress "a disease."

Freud is on firmer ground when he urges justice as the first requisite of civilized culture. But when he says that a sense of guilt is something that arises from the "dread of the loss of love," he leaves out so many other considerations, among them one's instinctive notions of right and wrong, early religious training and duty to God and society, that his definition is incomplete. I believe that most men are convinced of the sovereignty of ethics and are governed by it in a greater or less degree.

In his last chapter Freud says that "the cultural super-ego has set great value on ethics," which he regards as "a therapeutic effort" toward happiness, but "its exactions are too great and must be moderated." The command to love our neighbor as ourselves he holds to be impossible to fulfill. Civilization, he says, pays no heed to it.

Then he asks the novel question, "Will civilization pass beyond human endurance?" He makes no reply save to say that "the whole thing"—civilization and the means it employs—"is not worth the effort." On such a pessimistic statement of the case a logician might counter with the statement that if this is the result of years of study of psychology and the intense application of psychoanalysis, then it is no wonder that Freudianism has been rejected by so many of the highest schools of thought.

A politician is one who delights in doing an unimportant thing in a very important way.

PEACE GARDENS

BY LANNIE HAYNES MARTIN

For a long time people have been gardening for beauty, gardening for profit, for healthful exercise, or for various thrifty, civic or economic reasons. Now we are going to start in gardening for peace!

The National Gardeners' Association is sponsoring the international peace garden to commemorate the hundred years of peace between the United States and Canada, to be situated somewhere along the Canadian border and to consist of 1000 acres.

A few days ago a garden club of Southern California indorsed this Peace Garden and pledged, not only its support in a monetary way, but volunteered to send choice specimens of California plants, trees and flowers to grow in that garden.

This small club, of less than forty members, is made up entirely of women who are making, or have made, their own gardens, and they are located all over Los Angeles county, some living in Santa Monica, some in Van Nuys, several in Hollywood, some in La Crescenta, San Fernando, Los Angeles and they have met once a month for the last five years without missing a meeting.

They make their meeting an all-day event and go from garden to garden showing each other the new colors the delphiniums have this spring, or the latest variety in striped pansies, just as women used to show the latest stitch in tatting or exhibit a new recipe for making jam.

Each woman in this garden club is going to plant a seed, water it, watch and nurture it into its most perfect growth; then a committee will decide on the most perfect and suitable specimens to send, and these will be shipped to that great garden of peace which will mark the friendship between two great nations. What if everyone in the world began to grow a peace flower, not only in the ground, but in the garden of the heart? Perhaps this thousand acres will become a symbol which will grow a garden for world peace.

WHERE CAN I LEARN
Dramatics?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

On May 28 the dramatic class at the Polytechnic Evening High School, 400 West Washington Boulevard, will present a farce comedy, "Go Easy, Mabel," in the Little Theater, which is numbered as room 139 on the ground floor of the main building. The curtains will part at 8:15 p.m. and the charge will be nominal, to cover the cost of costumes and properties.

This class is always open to new students, who may enter at any time in the year, with the exception of the first week in July and the last two weeks in August. At present students are preparing for a contest between two casts of "Adam and Eve." The successful contestants will stage the play in the Polytechnic Auditorium on June 13 at 8:15 p.m. Again, only a nominal charge will be made.

There is no charge for students entering these classes and people of all ages are admitted.

CHEAP CURRENT FOR CANADA

The farmers of the Province of Ontario are to be assisted by the government to make use of electricity, judging from the provisions of two bills which have been recently introduced into the Provincial Legislature. One of these bills provides for a maximum service charge of $2.50 per month for all classes of rural service in all areas now paying that rate or higher. It also provides that all deficits between the amounts realized at this rate and the actual cost of service will be paid by the Provincial government out of general taxation.

The second bill provides for an allotment of $2,000,000 to be used exclusively for loans made to farmers for the installation of power-using equipment. These advances will bear very low rates of interest, but if not repaid at the end of twenty years, will be inserted in the tax rolls as municipal taxes.

The light and power industry of the United States has always believed that the fundamental principle in fixing rates for light and power for various types of services is that each service shall carry its own load and that under no circumstances shall any one particular class of service, or the taxpayers generally, be penalized to subsidize some other class of service. The result of this policy has been that large wholesale users, such as manufacturing enterprises, have enjoyed rates for current much lower than the rate for consumers. The principle is exactly the same as that of any merchandising business.

LIKE BARBARA FRIETCHIE

A road construction gang, cutting down a row of large old trees near Onawa, Iowa, was stopped by Mrs. Ida Reitan in front of whose home stands a venerable maple tree 50 years old. But her pleas to the foreman to save this fine old tree fell on deaf ears. When her appeal to the Highway Commission fared no better, she got out an American flag and hired a boy to climb up into the tree where he lashed the flag to the topmost branch. Then she told the road gang of the penalty for desecrating the United States colors. The tree still stands with the Stars and Stripes floating over it.

RIPPLING RHYMES by Walt Mason

IN OLDEN TIMES

It is not strange that Shakespeare wrote such triumphs of the pen, for modern schemes to get man's goat were not existent then. He could sit down in peace, alone, to write a deathless play, and none would call him on the phone and keep it up all day. There was no fiend next door to bellow tuneless songs, and make his jade's spouse sore while brooding o'er her wrongs. No phonographs were grinding late, on records loud and soft, stale records he had learned to hate, from hearing them so oft. No car went honking past his door with noise enough to deaden, and so he sat upon the floor and plied his gifted pen. No agents to his window came to sell him bonds and stocks and that would bring in the dough. The interruptions William had were trifling, I suppose; hungry flies around him played and bit him on the nose. He longed for an electric fan when sweat rolled by the quart, but no one then had tried to plan dingus of that sort. Perhaps the blink; the cistern was the best bet when he would have a drink. He had his troubles, one may say, when he sat down to write; but there was much at night. And if he stepped outside the door, to look for signs of rain, photographers some six or four, caused him no grievous pain. He was not asked to write his name in many million books, to play the autographic game for tourists' whims. How could Shakespeare be called "Brook's" now, or human write "Hamlet" now, or "Love's Labor Lost," when there's an everlasting row, to exhaust his patience to exhaust? How could he dodge the salesman gay who pester us to death, and still produce a corking play as good as his "Macbeth"?

SALE OF POPPY BUDS OPENED

Veterans Launch Drive to Raise Funds for Care of Orphans

Officially launched by Dist.-Atty. Fitts, the four-day sale of "buddy" poppies opened in Los Angeles yesterday. Under the auspices of the county's sixteen posts of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, distribution of the flowers will continue in the downtown district until 25,000 scarlet buds are sold.

Receipts will be used in caring for orphans of veterans in California. The drive is modeled after a campaign recently opened in Washington by President Hoover.

In the presence of several disabled war veterans, city and county officials and a group of young girls, Barbara Toohey, 9-year-old daughter of John P. Toohey, veteran in charge of the campaign, opened the campaign at the District Attorney's office. Immediately thereafter, the girls invaded the business district, distributing the buds, the price being determined by the generosity of the purchasers.

AIRSHIPS WILL DROP FLOWERS

Memorial to Flyers Killed in World War to be Part of Port Dedication

Air services in honor of flyers who were killed in the World War will be conducted Friday, Memorial Day, in conjunction with opening ceremonies of the new $1,000,000 United Airport at Burbank.

A flight of local ships will swoop low over local cemeteries where lie the bodies of the war's air heroes, drop flowers and return to the United field. The formation and floral gesture will be sponsored by the local Aviators' Post, American Legion.

The ships are scheduled to start the flight at 11 a.m., and on their return the services will proceed at the airport with a parade of American Legion and Civil War veterans at 1:30 p.m.

Fifteen minutes later the official dedication of the port will be conducted. Members of the Early Birds, and veterans of America's wars will be in attendance.

Following a band concert at 2:15 p.m. by the Burbank Municipal Band, local planes will compete in two races, demonstration flights will be made by planes and gliders, and the day will close with a dance on the roof garden of the Terminal Building for American Legion District No. 20, and the Aviators' post.

The opening ceremonies will continue next Saturday and Sunday with programs of air thrillers.

Isidore B. Dockweiler, Democratic National Committeeman for California, announced yesterday that he has received notice from Henry H. Flood Control Engineer Eaton has estimated the cost of the land to be obtained by condemnation at $61,000, which amount now is available from tax funds. The physical work attendant to extending the channel to the ocean has been estimated at approximately $600,000, and it is planned either to use flood control money or funds from a special tax levy in the district to raise this amount.

Health and Diet

ADVICE

by DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

EXCLUDE FEAR

Fear is like a shadow following many people wherever they go and whatever they do. Fear is a vicious habit that deforms the intellect and vitiates the health. It might almost be termed a cancer of the mind, so corroding does it become if unchecked.

We must understand the mental causes which lead to fear if we are to realize health in its fullest measure. You may eat the right kind of food, use sufficient exercise, and inhale fresh air deeply, but if your mind is constantly worried and harrassed by the destructive emotion of fear, you will never be able to obtain the best of health or the satisfaction of a contented life.

The power of the human mind may be used as a help either for health and happiness, or, if not controlled, a hindrance. There is no neutral ground. If you do not create healthy mental viewpoint when you are young, you will find that it is harder to correct as you grow older just as the lines of the face deepen with time.

Few people realize how much fear guides and shapes their lives, especially when developed through the carelessness of parents who train their children to think of fear rather than of courage. When children are brought up on "must nots," "can'ts," and "don'ts," they usually develop an attitude of fear and suspicion as they are hourly told of new things to avoid instead of being taught in a constructive way just how they can get the most out of life.

How often have I seen the truth of the saying, "The thing they feared came upon them." Those who fear financial losses usually become bankrupt. Those who fear sickness often develop the disease which they most fear. Those who are afraid that people will not like them generally are disliked.

Anyone who has this fear habit will do well to study the ways and means by which he can develop his mental as well as physical courage. Most of the fears which trouble people are nonexistent, and anyone can learn to substitute good mental pictures of strength, confidence and courage. Of course, you should try to make your body as strong as possible by the right physical training, good food, sufficient sleep, and the right kind of exercise, but one should also train the mind by the right kind of entertainment, thought and mental activity. Read good books, cultivate the friendship of those who are thinkers, and try to accumulate enough savings so that you do not have to worry in case of an emergency. It is surprising how fast a few dollars regularly saved and carefully invested will accumulate. Speculation does not pay as a rule, and even when one is lucky the mental anxiety and worry which are usually expended in gambling investments only wreck the health and vitality.

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

ARE YOU HAVING DIFFICULTY "CONQUERING" YOUR CHILD?

There are two ancient attitudes adopted by parents which I wish might be altered. One of them is described by that thread-bare phrase "I've got to conquer him." Another is the not dissimilar contention that if one is severe enpugh with a child he knows that you mean "business."

Both attitudes lead parents to do just the things which make them enemies and antagonists of their children instead of leaders and guides. Mothers are wont to remark, "My mother can do anything with Betty," or "the teacher says that Jean obeys her perfectly and is such a good, quiet child in school." It isn't that the child loves the grandmother or teacher any more than his parents but they have assumed a different attitude toward her, one of suggestion. They lead instead of drive, and the child, feeling herself an individual, does not resent this.

COMMANDS ANTAGONIZE

Here is an illustration to point the argument. Three-year-old Peter gets up every morning with a chip on his shoulder, so says his mother. When she says, "Peter put on your overalls," he invariably refuses and sits on the side of the bed crying, whining, calling his mother a mean old thing, even though she sticks to it until he puts them on. And how self-righteous she does feel about that!

All day it's the same story. Tell him something and he says "no" despite the fact that he knows in the end he has to do it. He is constantly in a state of bad temper, hating everyone and everything.

The mother is a conscientous person. She feels that Peter's future depends upon "conquering him now." What she needs to bring calm out of this chaos and make a good-tempered individual Peter is to recognize the goal toward which she is driving, not to conquer Peter but to make a man of him.

PERMIT CHILD TO CHOOSE

One of his present privileges is in the matter of dressing himself. Why should he be commanded to put on a certain article of clothing? If he has two overalls (and he must have or there would have been no argument at all) then why not say, "Peter, which shall it be, the blue or the brown?" This makes Peter feel happy and big because he can make a choice of which overalls he wants to wear. It is the same all through the day, there are numerous things about which Peter has a right to make a decision. It is in these little unimportant ways that we can rightfully help a child to achieve a feeling that he is growing up, that he is learning to discriminate between two lines of conduct. When it is a matter so important that there are no two ways about it Peter will not fuss about carrying out his mother's suggestions, he will understand that on this point there can be no quibbling.

Important things rise less and less frequently in a household where the child has as much freedom as possible and is not tagged about all day with commands which, once uttered, become too sacred in the mother's eyes to be disobeyed.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

This fact to me is very clear:
Most folks are prone the worst to fear.
—Danny Meadow Mouse.

DANNY'S TERRIBLE FRIGHT

By Thornton W. Burgess

An old tin can up in a tree was a queer place for a Meadow Mouse home. A Meadow Mouse is supposed to live on the ground, or sometimes in it. But there are exceptions. Just as Whitefoot the Wood Mouse occasionally builds over a bird's nest and makes it his home, so does Danny Meadow Mouse. It isn't a habit. Oh, my, no! It happens only once in a great while.

And then to Danny's horror Mr. Blacksnake put his head inside

Of course, Danny and Nanny would never have thought of building a home in that tin can up in a tree had it not been for two or three things. Nanny would never have thought of climbing up to that tin can. You see, she was in the can when it was put up there by Farmer Brown's Boy. Probably she wouldn't have thought of going back to it had it not been for Reddy Fox. She and Danny had to go somewhere and being strangers in that particular place, they knew of nowhere to go until Nanny thought of that tin can. Then when they got there they decided it would make a lovely home. You see, what with a grapevine and the shape of the tree, it was a very easy matter for them to climb up.

"It's wonderful," said Danny, "and no one knows that we are living here."

"You forget Reddy Fox," said Nanny. "If it were not for Reddy, we wouldn't be here."

"That's so," said Danny. "I did forget Reddy. I notice he comes over here quite often. Never in all my life have I felt so safe from Reddy Fox, excepting when we were living in Farmer Brown's barn. No one can get at us up here. Even Killy the Sparrow Hawk can't get us here. All we have to do is to run inside and we are safe."

"You forget Shadow the Weasel," Nanny reminded him.

"True," replied Danny, "I did forget Shadow. Shadow could climb up here just as well as we can and could enter this little round doorway. But he is the only one; and even if he should come over this way, he never would think of finding us up a tree. There isn't any one else."

But Danny was mistaken. He found that out that very day. Nanny was off somewhere looking for food. Danny was just about to climb up to his home in the tin can when he heard a rustling sound above his head. He looked up. What he saw almost made his heart stop beating. It was Mr. Blacksnake. Yes, sir, it was Mr. Blacksnake. He was up in that tree. You know, Mr. Blacksnake is a very good climber. Truth to tell, Mr. Blacksnake was looking for nests. He has a liking for baby birds. At first Danny was simply surprised and frightened by the sight of Mr. Blacksnake. Then he was glad that Mr. Blacksnake was up in the tree instead of on the ground. He didn't once think that Mr. Blacksnake might visit that tin can.

Slowly Mr. Blacksnake moved up toward Danny's home. At last he reached it. And then, to Danny's horror, Mr. Blacksnake put his head inside, he went part way in. Danny couldn't remember whether or not Nanny was at home. If she was, he knew he would never see her again. Here was an enemy would could enter that house with the greatest ease and Danny hadn't once thought of him.

"Oh, dear! oh, dear!" whimpered Danny under his breath. "What shall I do now?"

"What shall you do about what?" asked a squeaky voice. "What is the matter with you, Danny Meadow Mouse?"

It was Nanny! She was on her way home. Perhaps you can guess how Danny felt.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

MOUSSE OF VIRGINIA HAM

Place through the fine knife of the meat grinder, one-half a pound of cooked ham, free from gristle and fat, add to the mixture two whole eggs, and one-fourth of a cupful of cold cream sauce, or heavy cream. Rub this mixture through a sieve, place in a bowl and add to it one-third as much finely pounded chicken, gradually add to it, beating constantly a half a cupful of thick cream, oil small individual molds, and sprinkle them with finely chopped cooked ham. Fill the molds two-thirds full of the mousse, place in a pan of water, cover and allow to bake until solid in the center.

COLD BEET SOUP

Grate eight medium-sized peeled raw beets, place them in a saucepan and add to them one cupful of cider, bring to a boil and boil for five minutes. Strain through a fine cloth, and set on the ice to chill, press the yolks of four hard-boiled eggs through a sieve into a cold bowl, mix with two cupfuls of chilled sour cream and the beet juice, mix well, season with salt and white pepper, pour into cups, set in a bed of shaved ice, sprinkle the tops with the mixture of finely chopped whites of the hard-boiled eggs, one peeled and finely chopped cucumber and six finely chopped radishes.

SPAGHETTI MEXICAN

Cook one small package of spaghetti in boiling water until tender, drain well, place in a saucepan three tablespoonfuls of oil, heat and add to it one fine chopped onion, one chopped green pepper, and one sliced clove of garlic. Cook until the onion is soft then add one cupful of chopped round steak, and cook until the meat is slightly brown, add two cupfuls of tomatoes, two level teaspoonfuls of chili powder, one tablespoonful of chopped parsley and a seasoning of salt. Allow the mixture to simmer for fifteen minutes, add the cooked spaghetti and beat for another five minutes. Place on a deep platter, sprinkle with grated cheese and set in the oven until the cheese has melted.

ORANGE PUDDING

Sift two cupfuls of flour with three level teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one teaspoonful of salt and one tablespoonful of powdered sugar. Chop into this the same as for biscuits three tablespoonfuls of butter or shortening. Add enough milk to make a stiff dough, roll out into an oblong sheet a half an inch thick, brush with melted butter, and sprinkle with sugar, cover the dough with peeled oranges that have been sliced thin, roll into a tight roll and tie in a buttered and floured cloth, and steam for two hours. Place on a hot platter, sprinkle with chopped almonds and pour over a lemon custard made with one cupful of sugar, one tablespoonful of flour, the yolks of two eggs, one tablespoonful of grated lemon rind and one-half a cupful of lemon juice, and one and one-third cupfuls of water.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department. PRACTICAL RECIPES published every Friday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Out of Lard

If just by accident you are out of lard and drippings and wish to fry some article of food, don't forget salad oil will answer the same purpose and will help you out.

A Soap Shaker

Always keep a soap shaker near the sink for dishwashing. All the bits of soap in the house may be put in it and a few shakes give just the right amount of suds for dishwashing. It is an economical adjunct to the kitchen.

Daily Lunches

If you are in the habit of packing lunches every day, keep all the things pertaining to them in the same place and pack the lunches right where the oiled paper, paper napkins, etc., are convenient. It means much speedier work.

Clean Beds

In these days of vacuum cleaners there is no excuse for dusty mattresses. Once a month run the cleaner over them and there will be one job that can pass by at housecleaning time. Systematic cleaning with a vacuum means no dusty beating at any time.

What's What

When moving, it is wise to number the packing boxes and in a notebook write opposite the number just what the box contains. This will be very convenient when unpacking, as the unimportant boxes can wait a while and the necessary ones unpacked at once.

Cheering for breakfast. A treat for lunch. Kellogg's Pep Bran Flakes have the famous flavor of PEP. The matchless goodness of crunchy whole wheat. And bran! There's just enough added to be mildly laxative.

Just one taste and you'll agree that Kellogg's Pep Bran Flakes are better bran flakes.

In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

DO YOU WANT SIZE OR SOAP?

WHEN you buy soap, the only way you can tell how much you are getting for your money is by the weight of the package. But it is nothing. A large cream soap flakes or bubbles can contain actually less soap than a carton of White King Granulated Soap half its size!

That's because White King Granulated Soap is compressed. It packs closely in the box like powdered sugar. And it will absolutely have enough suds to wash blankets, dishes or linens.

White King Granulated Soap is not only the softest but the most economical soap you can buy. A little of it goes a long way. A teaspoonful to the basin of water or a cupful to the tub—no more. Your grocer has it.

DRY LAW CHANGE DECRIED

Bledsoe in Junior Forum Address Says Liberalizing Act Will Not Obtain Wets' Observance

"Those who will obey any prohibition law will obey the one we now have, and those who will not obey any prohibition law should not be allowed to intrigue us into the substitution of some other law less efficacious, and which will be shown the same disrespect, disregard and resistance," Judge Benjamin F. Bledsoe said last night in an address to the junior open forum at the City Club.

Speaking of the liberalizing of the present law and of the proposal to substitute light wines and beers, the speaker contended that we have nonalcoholic wines and beers now, but that they do not suffice. "And the reason that they do not suffice is that their alcoholic content is so low that they do not intoxicate," he continued.

"If organized society—government—has any right or authority at all, growing out of the sane and reasonable construction of the social compact, to limit or prohibit the use of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes, it possesses the right whether it proceed under local option or national prohibition.

"If a thing is wrong and should be put down in a small community, it is wrong and may be put down in a large community," Judge Bledsoe argued in discussing the question of local option.

"The measure of the necessity is the measure of the power. By substituting local option or State's rights for national prohibition, we are not solving the problem, we are simply walking around it. The real problem is: 'Is drunkenness with all of its attendant evils and dangers to be encouraged, or is it to be prohibited?'" the speaker continued.

A bigot is not one merely determined definitely to stand for a thing he believes right, the speaker said. "As for myself, I can live under any law or rule of conduct that any normal man can. I will live cheerfully and abidingly under any law constitutionally enacted, and with God's help will do my best to observe and support it. That is my conception of an American citizen. It is my understanding of the sort of loyalty that must be entertained by American citizens generally if American institutions, as we love and revere them, are to live and thrive."

In conclusion Judge Bledsoe said that we can obtain peace in two ways: Win it or buy it. Win it by resistance to evil or buy it by compromise with evil. "We can win it by an appeal to the reason and intelligence of men, or buy it by a sheer surrender to the clamors of men. The former is our manifest duty. The latter is unthinkable."

Following the speaker, discussion from the floor was heard, the meeting concluding with a statement by the chairman, N. Bradford Trenham, of his observations of alcoholism in two years spent in Europe.

Resolution Crowns Efforts of Retiring President

New Club Officers Installed at Closing Meeting

BY MYRA NYE

A significant resolution passed at the closing meeting of the year of the Woman's City Club of Long Beach, last Friday, was one for which the outgoing president, Mrs. Robert Lee Hatcher, had worked and an accomplishment she had set as a goal at the beginning of her regime. The members voted unanimously in support of the following:

"Whereas, the most serious problem confronting our American citizenship is that of a widespread disregard of law; and the example of American womanhood is more powerful than precept in its influence upon the youth of today, be it resolved that the members of this Woman's City Club do hereby pledge themselves to support the program of President Hoover in his efforts toward law enforcement and to set an example of personal law observance by declining invitations to social functions, public or private, where they have reason to believe that the hospitality offered will involve a violation of the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States."

Mrs. Arthur M. Porter will follow Mrs. Hatcher as president. Other officers were installed in the following order: Mmes. Howard Rankin, H. K. Wheelock and Wellington W. Snide, first, second and third vice-presidents; Jerry W. Starr, recording secretary; W. S. Sweet, corresponding secretary; Carrie Shandelmier, financial secretary; Miss Clara McPherson, treasurer; Mrs. A. J. Laughlin, auditor; P. Ray Elsey, parliamentarian; George Cottrell, federation secretary, and Mrs. Porter, president.

Soroptimists

Enid Beck is sponsoring the program today for the Soroptimists' meeting in the Music Room of the Biltmore at the luncheon hour. She will present Frank A. Nance, Los Angeles County Coroner, who will speak on "Traffic Conditions as Reflected Through the Coroner's Office."

An attendance prize will be given by Hilda A. Kohr. Margaret D. Reordan, vice-president, will preside, in the absence of Dr. Lillian Grandmason who, together with a large group, has left for the national convave in Philadelphia, where an invitation to meet in Los Angeles for the next convention will be extended.

Margaret Reordan is the popular candidate for the presidency to succeed Dr. Grandmason, election to occur in June.

Hostesses for today include Susan Bosung, Lydia Crossley, Harriet O. Kenyon, Haydee B. Clarkson, Evangeline Percival, Dr. Edith L. Moon, Franc Putnam and Inez Welling.

Woman's City Club

Flagrant evils existing in civic life were aired and at least theoretically solved yesterday at the Woman's City Club when Deputy Chief of Police Cross outlined the reorganization plan of the police department and R. A. Vandergrift, secretary to the California Taxpayers' Association, discussed the misuse of the special assessment privilege.

"Los Angeles has the highest rate of special assessments of any community in the world," Mr. Vandergrift declared. "But I am for them to get the improvements we need—if people can afford them. I was a member of a body which presented a bill before the last session of the State Legislature to eradicate the existing evils of special assessments. Our bill was defeated through the efforts of an organized minority I term 'the special interests.' We will present it again.

"There are at present sixty-seven acts on the statute books relative to special assessments which could easily be embodied in two acts—acts which would set a definite limit on the amount of any assessment, would eliminate overlapping and would make it possible for the citizens to get the facts."

The speaker referred to the misuse of signed petitions as an evil in the present system, declaring that many necessary improvements are vetoed by thoughtless citizens who sign petitions without reading them and, on the other hand, a number of landowners are burdened with unnecessary assessments through the same means.

Chief Deputy Cross' main criticism of the past police department regime was that there was a lack of centralization which is being overcome by the present organization after an exhaustive study of the situation made by himself under the direction of Police Chief Steckel.

"Our jail isn't fit for an animal," he stated in conclusion. "But we do point with pride to our record department which, I am sure, is the most complete one in the country."

League of American Pen Women

In honor of several celebrities now living in Los Angeles the League of American Pen Women will entertain with a luncheon and program today at the Royal Arms Hotel at 12:30 p.m. Among the honor guests will be Signor and Signora Pietro Gladiatore Gentile, Mr. and Mrs. George Liebling and Cara Roma. Mrs. Adeline Marshall Durlin is president of the club.

Contributing to the program, Signora Gentile, who is a member of the Washington branch of the league, will review her own book, "Word Pictures." Signor Gentile will sing, and Mrs. Liebling, an English journalist, will give a brief talk on "Journalism." Mr. Liebling's subject will be "Composers I Have Known."

Baroness E. Rhiner Morrill and Mary Walker Whitworth will give two piano duets.

The Los Angeles branch is offering prizes for short stories and poems, the contest ending September 1, next. Mrs. Alberta Carter is chairman of the short-story contest and Grace Hyde Trine of the poetry contest. Mrs. Durlin will continue another year as president.

STREET NAME CHANGED

By ordinance the City Council yesterday changed the name of Potter avenue to Eighty-ninth street between Gramercy Place and Cimarron street.

Airplanes Will Drop Flowers on Soldiers' Graves

A squadron of seventeen army airplanes will drop flowers on the 10,000 graves of veterans at the National Military Home, Sawtelle, as part of the exercises scheduled to be held there Memorial Day. They will appear in the sky above the institution at 9 a.m. as the veterans assemble for the day's ceremonies.

John R. Quinn, past national commander of the American Legion, is announced as the speaker of the day. Col. John A. Hadley, governor of the home, also will deliver an address. The invocation will be pronounced by Chaplain S. A. Drummond and the benediction by Rev. William O'Donnell, pastor of the Catholic chapel at the home.

Delegates of the Memorial Day committee were notified yesterday by Harry Atwood, secretary, to attend a final meeting at 7:30 p.m. tonight in Patriotic Hall.

Final preparations for Memorial Day observance will be perfected.

Official Count of Water Bonds Vote Completed

The $38,800,000 water bonds were voted by a majority of more than 8½-to-1 last Tuesday, the canvass of the vote, completed yesterday by the City Council, shows.

The figures submitted by City Clerk Domingues are, for the bonds, 190,042; against the bonds, 22,088.

The total vote cast was 212,443, which established a high record of nearly 53 per cent of the registration of 400,794 on a special election.

NEW TRIAL RESULTS IN SENTENCE

Term of Seven Years to Life Imposed on Lewis in Gas Station Robbery

Jesse D. Lewis, twice convicted on a charge of robbing a Los Angeles service station, yesterday was sentenced to San Quentin prison for a term of from seven years to life imprisonment by Superior Judge Wilson.

Lewis first was convicted in Superior Judge Hardy's court, but was granted a new trial because three hours before he went on the witness stand in his own defense his young daughter had died in the General Hospital. Judge Hardy held that due to grief at the time the defendant may not have been able to present an adequate defense.

At his second trial before Superior Judge Wilson, Lewis again was convicted of the robbery charge and the sentence followed immediately.

PIECE OF TWINE USED BY MAN TO HANG SELF

His widow, Mrs. Anna Knueppel, who found the body, told Captain of Detectives Massey that her husband had been despondent because of chronic ill health. The body was removed to the Van Nuys Funeral Home.

COAST LURES ENGLISH ACTRESS

Los Angeles Seems Like "New Sphere"

The Marchesa Spinola and Mrs. Patrick Campbell

MRS. PATRICK CAMPBELL, English actress, who ranks among the great artists of the stage, just could not return to her home in London after a visit in the East without coming to the Pacific Coast to see how it looks, she said here yesterday. Her last trip here was a quarter of a century ago when she played on an improvised stage in San Francisco while the city still was smoldering after the disaster of 1906.

So, she arrived in Los Angeles late Sunday night and is making her headquarters at the Ambassador while she "looks about a bit."

"It is so lovely here," she said, "you have no idea how refreshing and cheerful and wholesome it seems after the fog and rain of London. Do you know, really, I feel as if I had left this sphere and were in some strange place like Mars."

Mrs. Campbell has made a lifelong study of speech, she said, and she believes that diction is an art which should be loved and studied, and that beautiful speech should be a habit.

Accompanying Mrs. Campbell is the Marchesa Spinola, who was the wife of Mrs. Campbell's son before he was killed in the World War. The Marchesa is an American woman, daughter of Mrs. Woods Bull of Pasadena and formerly of Chicago. This is the Marchesa's first visit to the Pacific Coast.

All meetings will be addressed by irrigation specialists.

DETWILER WILL FIGHT LAUNCHED

Ruth Anderson, foster daughter of A. K. Detwiler, capitalist and civil leader, has filed suit to have declared invalid, an amendment to the will disposing of Detwiler's $50,000 estate, which it is asserted, disinherits Mrs. Anderson in favor of three other foster children. Detwiler died in October, 1929, at 81 years of age, leaving $106,000 to charities, relatives and friends, and the residue to De Ette Carolyne Petterson Wetwiler, Hope Ann Petterson Detwiler, and John P. M. Petterson Detwiler.

In an original trust, Mrs. Anderson was made beneficiary, but in the amendment, she was left out. She asserts that because of a lingering illness, Detwiler was mentally incompetent, and forgot to include her. It also is contended that the trust amendment was not witnessed as required by law, and so is not part of the will.

Census Opens Eyes of East

"Big business throughout the East has had its eyes opened by the marvelous growth of the Pacific Coast as indicated by early census reptrs," declared William R. Fraser, general manager of the Harold Lloyd Corporation, who returned to Los Angeles yesterday following a six weeks business trip.

"The remarkable increase in population shown by California has been a revelation to easterners."

"The motion-picture theater business is going ahead nicely," Fraser said, "and I found nothing but the highest optimism among the hundreds of Paramount-Publix officials I met during their two conventions in Atlantic City and San Francisco. I was impressed by the emphasis placed on the fact that good talking pictures are doing better business than the good silent pictures did but that poor talkies are recording worse box-office figures than the poorer class of 'dumb' productions."

Jewish Leaders Debate Tonight

The last event of the season under the auspices of the Jewish Institute Forum will be held this evening at the Beaux Arts Auditorium. Rabbi Louis I. Newman of Temple Emanu El, San Francisco, Rabbi Herman Lissauer, leader of the Jewish Institute, will debate on "Resolved That Humanism is Incomparatible With Judasim."

Rabbi Newman, who is the author of viumes on biblical literature, has recently accepted the call of one of the oldest congregations in New York City, and his local appearance this evening will be his list prior to his leaving for the East.

Rabbi Lissauer is considered one of the leading exponents of the humanistic philosophy in the country. He founded the Institute.

BRITISH CRUISER OFFICERS FETED

Santa Monica "Navy Town" for Brilliant Ball

H.M.S. Dauntless Visitors in Dress Uniforms

Guests Will Visit M.-G.-M. Film Studios Today

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, May 26.—The Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes formed gay decorations tonight on the broad lawn and in the ballroom of the Miramar Hotel when prominent Santa Monica and Los Angeles citizens greeted the officers of H. M. S. Dauntless, British light cruiser, which came to anchor for a visit in Santa Monica Bay last Saturday.

The formal reception started at 8:30 o'clock in the ballroom, and was followed by a ball to which 120 persons had been invited. Prior to the reception the Santa Monica Municipal Band played on the lawn, giving a program of British and American music. It was a return compliment by this city for the splendid patriotic concert of airs of both nations given yesterday on the Municipal Pier by the band from the warship.

Santa Monica was a "navy town" for tonight's affair, and the ballroom presented a gay scene with the mingling of full-dress uniforms and formal civilian garb. The officers from the Dauntless included: Capt. H. R. More, D.S.O.; Commander J. B. Bruce, Commander B. W. Greathead, Lieutenant-Commander R. F. J. Onslow, D.S.O.; Lieut. L. B. Whetstone, Lieut. W. L. Bond, Lieut. A. B. R. Sands, Lieut. T. J. Turner, Surgeon-Commander G. W. Woodhouse, Paymaster-Commander J. R. Sale, Sub-Lieut. I. G. Robertson, Mate S. L. B. Maybury, Paymaster-Sub-Lieut. J. E. Langdon.

Tonight's affair was in charge of a committee headed by Dr. Dorothy Smyley and Dr. J. W. Turnbull.

Today the Sons of St. George and the British War Veterans held a formal reception in honor of the visitors in Los Angeles, and tomorrow plans have been made for the officers to be guests of Louis B. Mayer at the M.-G.-M. studios in Culver City.

Woman Asserts She Killed Mate Many Years Ago

For seventeen years Mrs. Margaret Norman Anderson, 51 years of age, kept the secret of how her husband, a supposed suicide, met his death. Yesterday, goaded by her guilty conscience, she said, she resolved to confess and, if need be, spend the remainder of her life in prison.

Accordingly, she walked into Central Police Station and told Acting Captain Condaffer she had caused the death of her husband, John W. Schmeer, in March, 1913, while they were living in Coeur d'Alene, Idaho. Official records there indicate that Schmeer's death was caused by poison, self-administered, she said, but it was she who gave him the poisonous mixture.

She is held pending inquiry.

Mrs. Anderson said she was born in Los Angeles and lived here until she was 9. She has been married three times, having wed and divorced Joseph Anderson in Seattle since Schmeer's death.

FUNDS RAISED BY GIRLS

More than $1500 was raised by the Camp Fire Girls of Los Angeles last night at a banquet given at Central Manufacturing District Banquet Hall. Entertainment was provided by Alberta Vaughn, Monte Montana and other motion picture players. Mme. Jean Gerne was guest of honor and the address of the evening was given by Joseph Scott.

Students to Give Dancing Recital

Mary Blanchard
U.C.L.A. co-ed will interpret Harlequin in Pierrot's Dream.

Members of the natural dancing classes of the University of California at Los Angeles under the direction of Miss Martha Deane of the physical-education department, will present a modern dancing recital Wednesday at 4 p.m. in Royce Hall auditorium.

The program will consist of three groups, the first including a scarf dance, a fire dance, and a chariot of Apollo with four girls representing horses in perfect rhythm.

The second group features songs presented by Rose Dirmann. The final group is a carnival suite of six dances symbolical of the romance between Columbine, Harlequin, Pierrot and Punchinello. Frances Michelson, Mary Blanchard, Margaret Dawson and Esther Johnson portray these characters.

Dour Demeanor Laid to Husband

Mrs. Mary B. Peyton obtained a divorce yesterday from James Goss Peyton, superintendent of the California Yacht Club at Wilmington, after a short hearing before Superior Judge Archbald.

Mrs. Peyton declared that her husband never smiled at her and always had a wise crack ready when she asked him for money, or admonished him to save his money.

The wife also declared that her husband in March, 1922, when she was ill with pneumonia said to her:

"You have had a nurse and a doctor and vacation and it is about time you got up and around." She said the statements caused her to suffer a relapse.

A property settlement was approved by the court.

HEARING FOR BROKER DELAYED TILL JUNE 4

Preliminary hearing for Sam Rosenthal, Hollywood broker, on five grand-theft charges, was delayed yesterday by Municipal Judge Ballard until June 4, next, when Dep. Dist.-Atty. Stahlman told the court he needs more time to prepare his case. Rosenthal is accused of obtaining approximately $100,000 by misapplying funds of the Investors' Guaranty Corporation.

FORMER FRESNO BANK CLERK PLEADS GUILTY

Claude Daniels, former book-keeper for a Fresno bank, yesterday pleaded guilty to a charge of misapplication of bank funds. Daniels was arrested in London, after a chase across the continent, and was brought back to this country by a government agent. It is asserted that he was $8000 short in his accounts. He is to appear for sentence on June 9.

FIRST STEP TAKEN IN APPEAL OF MAJ. BIRD

Transcripts of proceedings in the trial court were filed yesterday by attorneys for Maj. Owen R. Bird, Los Angeles sportsman, as the first step in an appeal from conviction in Superior Court on a manslaughter charge for the slaying of Percival G. Watson, the appellant's "best friend." Maj. Bird recently was granted liberty for ninety days to wind up his business affairs before beginning his prison term.

UNIVERSAL FILMS TOLSTOY TALE

Fifi Dorsay Goes to M.-G.-M. for "Three French Girls;" Warners Sign Dorothy Matthews on Long Contract; Mary Astor Will Play First National Lead

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

While some of the other film concerns were wrangling over who should film "Resurrection," Universal officials went quietly ahead and got possession of the plum, we learned yesterday. The announcement was made by Carl Laemmle, Jr., Universal head, who is now in New York, but who will leave for Hollywood today.

JOHN BOLES

Not only this, but Edwin Carewe will direct the picture, which this time will be made as a singing and talking feature. You will remember that Carewe directed the silent version of the Tolstoy novel, starring Dolores Del Rio for United Artists.

John Boles will have the leading male role, it is reported, although this has not been definitely settled, since Boles is scheduled for several other important features, and may not be available. No actress for the feminine lead is yet decided on, although we hear that either Mary Nolan or Lupe Velez will win the part.

Tiffany and other organizations have been announced heretofore as planning to film the great Tolstoy novel.

FIFI DORSAY PLAYS LEAD FOR M.-G.-M.

If Fifi Dorsay continues on the way she is going now, from a professional standpoint, she is due to become a star before the year is out.

FIFI DORSAY

In the meantime Miss Dorsay has two excellent leading roles on her schedule. She will appear in the leading feminine part in Victor McLaglen's next Fox starring vehicle, and she will also be loaned by Fox to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer for a featured lead.

This lead will be in a picture called "Three French Girls," and will give Miss Dorsay an excellent acting opportunity, it is said. She will, of course, appear also in the French version.

Ever since Miss Dorsay won honors opposite Will Rogers in "They Had to See Paris," she has been heading for stardom.

Warners Sign Young Actress

Another promising young actress has just been signed by Warner Brothers. She is Dorothy Matthews, whose progress from extradom to a leading lady contract has been quite breath-takingly rapid.

Miss Matthews started as an extra, then she played a bit in Richard Barthelmess' picture, "Son of the Gods," doing it so well that Warner Brothers signed her for the leading feminine role in "A Handful of Clouds." From the rushes of this picture, Warner officials decided that they weren't going to take any chance of losing this talented young actress, and yesterday they signed her on a long-term contract.

She is to be featured in a series of pictures, but no titles are yet ready to announce.

Arthur Byron Cast

It was a foregone conclusion that, once Arthur Byron reached town, the talkers would gobble him up.

And just that thing has come to pass. Byron is playing the lead on the stage down at the Belasco in "The Criminal Code," but was signed yesterday by Universal for the leading male role opposite Mary Nolan in "Outside the Law."

It is quite likely that, following this engagement, he will be signed on a long-term contract by some one or other of the film concerns who have been interested in securing his services.

Mary Astor Wins Lead

That clever young actress, Mary Astor, seems to be tremendously in demand these days.

MARY ASTOR

Miss Astor has not finished a current lead at Pathe, but First National didn't wait, signing her yesterday for the leading feminine role opposite Richard Barthelmess in "Adios," the Bartlett story of early California life.

The picture is to be made largely in colors, and promises to be one of the most charming productions of the year.

Pauline Garon Arrives

No sooner had Pauline Garon, who has been out in vaudeville, hopped from the train yesterday afternoon than her agent presented her with a contract to play a nice role for Tiffany.

The part is the feminine lead in "His Last Race," which Richard Thorp will direct.

Eddie Horton Vacations

Despite two or three tempting picture offers, Edward Everett Horton is not going to work for a while, but is planning a nice three-months' vacation.

He and his mother own a farm at Lake George, New York, and the popular actor is to leave in a few days for that delightful spot. Of course, he will run over to New York to see the plays, and we do hear that he has an offer or two from New York managers; but as he has a couple of contracts for pictures in Hollywood, it is not known whether he will accept.

Bickford With Warners

When Warner Brothers were looking about for someone to play the male lead in "River's End," they felt that no one could do justice to the part so satisfactorily as could Charles Bickford.

CHARLES BICKFORD

So they borrowed Bickford from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer for the role in the picture.

This is the picture which served Lewis Stone as a starring vehicle in the old days of silent pictures.

Claudia Dell will have the leading feminine role, and Michael Curtiz will direct.

Driver Faces Bribery Trial

An asserted attempt to "pay off" the arresting officer by offering him a $5 bill to "forget" a traffic tag instead of going to the Traffic Court and paying the usual $2 fine resulted in Moses Harris, 1644 East One Hundred and Fifteenth street, being held for trial on bribery charges in Municipal Judge Turney's court yesterday.

Officer E. J. Campbell testified that Harris offered him the money when given a tag for parking on the wrong side of the street at Forty-seventh and Hoover streets on the 8th inst. Judge Turney fixed bail pending trial on the bribery charge at $2000.

PLAY FORGETS WAR TRADITION

Flag-Raising Dispensed With in "Wound Stripes"

Interesting Plot Presented by Capable Cast

Repertory Drama Ambitious Undertaking

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Edging further and further away from the old patriotic base is the war play. Flag-waving was dispensed with long ago, needless to say, but in its depiction of the great European conflict, the drama of today mixes allegiances royally. And seemingly the showgoer cares little so long as the plot and the situations presented are interesting.

"Wound Stripes," given for the first time last night at the Civic Repertory Theater, is one of the plays "furtherest north" in its departure from the old war-time traditions and it met with an attentive reception from a large premiere audience.

The production was one of the most ambitious staged this season by the organization dedicated to the more worth-while type of plays and the play was the first brand-new one that they have undertaken. It was written by Nell Blackwell and Rowland G. Edwards and had as leading members of the cast Vernon Steele, Doris Packer, Edna Bennett and Walter Bonn. It was presented under the personal direction of Mr. Edwards.

This piece in many of its situations is more than ordinarily interesting. Indeed, its plot contains elements of novelty that focus the ardor of concentration, and that hold with a persistent building on an idea.

A very liberal acceptance is required for the entire foundation of the play—the motherhood of the principal feminine character, but if this is granted as a believable circumstance the subsequent development is a rather logical progression.

Here is the story briefly—

A woman marries an officer in the British army on the eve of his departure for the front. There is no consummation of the union, because he is called to his organization right after the wedding.

The woman goes to France as a nurse. She is in a sector that is taken over by the Germans, and she being captured and possessing valuable information, is sent back into the enemy country, where she continues in hospital work.

A ruthless and domineering officer demands that she sacrifice herself to him so that when he goes to the front he may have a son. This pre-emptory proposal is consummated, and a child is born—a daughter.

After the war the woman returns to England, and her husband, crippled as a result of his wounds, returns to her. She confesses her "tragic experience" to him, and he accepts it as one of the war's exactions of sorrow. And they go on living together.

This is the premise, and if you wish you may say at this point "I don't believe a word of it." But whether this is your inclination or not, it must be granted that the play makes the entire preamble of the plot exceptionally plausible. It does not stand the penetrating analysis, to be sure, but superficially it will pass.

With its setting transferred from England to St. Moritz in Switzerland, the play goes on steadily toward the one big major situation, where the woman at the behest of her husband is forced to choose between her one-time lover, if such he might be called, and himself. The father of her child exercises a decisive influence over her that might be termed in the nature of an animal attraction. She comes very much under its sway during the unfoldment of the play at the Alpine resort.

Situations in "Wound Stripes" are often very well motivated. If a fault can be found with them it is that their motivation is too mechanical. Furthermore, from a popular standpoint, the whole treatment of the idea is inclined to be inordinately heavy. There is practically only one character that throws any humorous relief into the evolvement, and judging from the applause he received, he was in the nature of a favorite.

"Wound Stripes" is more than creditably done as regards its writing. It is, on the whole, very concise and does not stray from its theme. If you like the character of that you may approve the play very thoroughly. I felt personally a lack of sympathy with the people in the plot, but then others may find their particular perplexities more appealing. At all events, the idea of this piece, and its presentation are interesting.

Play Debates Olden Theory

The psychology back of the antagonism between father and son is brought out in George Fawcett's starring vehicle, "The Great John Ganton," now playing at the Vine-street Theater.

John Ganton is a successful man who expects absolute obedience from those around him. As his son grows to manhood, he resents this authority, especially since he has inherited his father's strong character. The old theory that there may not be two leaders in one family group creeps out. The millionaire finds, to his chagrin, that he may control a large business and thousands of underlings, but that he cannot dictate to his own son.

JOSEPH POLAND TO WRITE ORIGINALS

Joseph Franklin Poland is the latest of the successful screen writers to put himself on a basis where he can write material to fit the demands of producers, it is said. Following the completion of an original story for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Poland has opened offices in a quiet section of the city where he will devote his time to writing originals.

WELL-CAST FILM FARCE AT WARNER

"Sweethearts and Wives" Tells of Adventure and Gay Intrigue

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

An amusing, sophisticated farce-comedy with a Parisian background is "Sweethearts and Wives," arriving yesterday afternoon at Warner Brothers' Hollywood Theater.

This is set down at the beginning in case some folks may glean from the title that the picture is about sailors on leave. Nothing of the sort, Sherlock. Here is Billie Dove, romantically beautiful, enacting the role of a titled English woman in search of adventure among crooks and murderers.

Although the story premise is thin and the story is light enough—but then what do people in search of entertainment want?—"Sweethearts and Wives" is rather good fun.

Billie Dove, Sidney Blackmer, Clive Brook and Lelia Hyams share the leading roles between them. Blackmer and Miss Hyams find themselves stranded on a dark night opposite a roadside inn, not far from Paris. Blackmer is a bachelor. Miss Hyams is a wife. And, from the picture, one gleans there has been a light if harmless romance between the two.

Well, out of petrol (that's the way they of talk it—one realizes they mean gasoline) they storm the inn for help. All sorts of funny things are going on here—a rendezvous between crooks in which figure a missing diamond necklace, a murder and goodness knows what. Blackmer and Miss Hyams are caught in the rapid movement of events.

Here's where Miss Dove steps into the picture. It looks quite as if she is an adventuress. She persuades Blackmer to pose as her husband, Miss Hyams as a maid and despite the absurdity of the situation, they carry on through a hectic twenty-four hours, during which Clive Brook, as a detective, makes things none too easy.

Smart, rapid-fire dialogue and amusing situations given point by good actors and clever directorial work point the whole.

Miss Dove, usually so languid, displays a surprising vivacity. Fan followers of Miss Dove will find in her character new qualities. Blackmer is gently sophisticated and entirely likeable. Brook, usually so grave and serious, is so again, but in a vein of comedy which emphasizes his ability as an actor. In a somewhat unsympathetic role Miss Hyams is quite enjoyable.

Clarence Badger's direction is excellent. Whoever was responsible for the dialogue deserves praise, although no program credit is given. "Sweethearts and Wives" is from the play, "Other Men's Wives," by Walter Hackett.

Vitaphone shorts preceding the showing of the feature, merit praise, particularly "The Heart Breaker," featuring Eddie Foy, Jr.

Discussion in Film Applauded

One scene in "All Quiet on the Western Front," which receives hearty applause from Carthay Circle audiences is that in which Louis Wolheim, William Bakewell, Slim Summerville and Lewis Ayres give their opinion of what creates war and how the evil might be stopped.

The discussion takes place after the weary soldiers have partaken of a double order of army rations and the shade of a tree invites complete relaxation.

Olsen to Honor Film Actress

Jean Harlow, youthful blond star of "Hell's Angels," will be guest of honor at George Olsen's revue club, Culver City, tonight, following the premiere of Howard Hughes's air epic at Grauman's Chinese Theater.

As a tribute to Miss Harlow, a gala program has been arranged which will outdo all previous events at this rendezvous, it is said. Olsen and his orchestra will feature new dance music. A number of prominent stage and screen stars and directors have made reservations.

Noted Clowns to Appear at Loew's State

With Ted Healy and his Racketeers on the stage and Warner Baxter in "The Arizona Kid" as the screen attraction, Loew's State announces what is claimed to be its greatest show, starting Thursday.

Fanchon and Marco, securing Ted Healy and his company through arrangements with Fox Film Corporation, thought so much of the clowns who gathered most of the laughs in "A Night in Spain," that they postponed the regular stage idea to turn the entire show over to the comedy star.

Warner Baxter again steps into the character of the Cisco Kid, which won him note and stardom in "In Old Arizona," to portray the further adventures of this romantic bandit. Mona Maris, Carol Lombard, Theodore Von Eltz, Hank Marna and others are in the cast. Alfred Santell directed.

'Sweet Mama' Scheduled for Downtown Run

"Sweet Mama," Alice White's latest First National picture, begins a one-week engagement at Warner Brothers Downtown Theater Friday.

David Manners, youthful Broadway stage star who made his film debut in "Journey's End," and then signed a long-term contract with First National, appears opposite Miss White in "Sweet Mama." Kenneth Thompson plays an important part as the villain. Rita Flynn and Lee Moran are also cast.

The story is said to present a new side of a traveling show company, cafe-dancing and gangster-plot combination. Edward Cline directed.

New Paramount Picture Based on Novel Plot

Imagine a man's embarrassment as the heir to millions and alone in New York with five beautiful girls as guardians. This is the predicament in which Charles Rogers finds himself in his latest picture, "Safety in Numbers," starting at the Paramount Theater Thursday.

This state of affairs comes about when the popular young star in the role of heir to a fortune is shipped to New York by a worldly uncle, who has an idea or two of his own about a young man's education. With the thought in mind that safety can be found in numbers, he assigns the five young ladies to the task of educating his ward to the pitfalls and wiles of city life.

The young ladies seen and heard opposite the star are Kathryn Crawford, Josephine Dunn, Carol Lombard, Geneva Mitchell and Virginia Bruce. Others in the cast include Richard Tucker, Roscoe Karns, Francis McDonald and Louise Beavers. Victor Schertzinger directed.

R.-K.-O. Books New Pictures

Bebe Daniels in her latest Radio picture, "Alias French Gertie," with Ben Lyon in the leading male role, is the oustanding star on the list of attractions to be shown at the R.-K.-O. Theater during June. It will start on June 19.

Aileen Pringle, Grant Withers and Helen Johnson are the featured players in the Columbia picture, "Soldiers and Women," which is set for presentation the week beginning Thursday.

Charlie Murray and George Sydney are teamed in the comedy, "Around the Corner," which will be shown on June 5. Dorothy Mackaill and Sidney Blackmer are cofeatured in the production, "Strictly Modern," scheduled for the following week.

TIERNEY COMPOSING

Harry Tierney, R.-K.-O. composer, is completing work on "Hearts of the Rockies," a musical play to star Everett Marshall.

'DOVER ROAD' PRESENTED AT MASON

Light Milne Farce Proves Pleasing Entertainment; Cast Efficient

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

That old Shaw favorite, "The Dover Road," by A. A. Milne, was presented last evening as the second offering of the Bernard Shaw Festival Company—under which label, I believe, the troupe at the Mason Theater commenced local activities a week ago. Truthfully speaking, however, it is Maurice Colbourne and Barry Jones who are mentioned as the sponsors of the current Milne comedy; current, that will be, until Thursday night, when it will be succeeded by the large Oscar Wilde epigram calling attention to "The Importance of Being Earnest."

As one making his first acquaintance with the whimsical Mr. Milne, I must confess to a mild admiration for his ability to squeeze an evening out of a premise so thin as to become practically imperceptible as the hours wear on. Certainly "The Dover Road" boasts nothing more robust throughout than the particular girth of the butler, Dominic; and even this grows to be less and less of a surprise with each act. I must say, though, that Mr. Milne is thorough.

Treating at length of the philanthropic—in a sense—mission of a Mr. Latimer, the play brings two runaway couples to his stately manse just off the Dover Road. Now, it so happens that one of the elopers is the wife of another of the elopers. They are not together, you understand—Leonard is with an unmarried miss named Anne, and Eustasia is with an unmarried chap named Nicholas. And the mission of Mr. Latimer is to straighten out what he chooses to consider a confounded mess, even if it takes all summer. (This is November.) Fortunately, it is all settled by 10:45.

Circumspect, gentle, tinctured—as the writers put it—with the milk of human kindness, the comedy pursues its course up to that moment when, the matter disposed of to the satisfaction of Mr. Latimer, a new runaway pair tugs at the bell-cord of the house just off the Dover Road, and, simultaneously, we may suppose, at the heart-strings of its master. Until this point is reached, one chuckles now and again; one is not so impolite as ever to laugh out loud, but one may chuckle unrestrainedly.

Rule Pyott is delightful as Mr. Latimer. Maurice Colbourne's Nicholas, always a bit bewildered, proves amusing, as does Barry Jones's head cold in the second act. Phyllis Coghlan is pleasant as Anne, and Lambert Larking efficient as the butler. Constance Pelissier plays the truant wife.

If you should care to have tea at Mr. Latimer's, I am sure he would be delighted to receive you. But make certain that you do not take another man's wife with you, lest he keep you there till all hours.

Hollywood Puts on Gala Dress for Premiere

Hollywood Boulevard will be a one-way street from Vine street to Grauman's Chinese Theater in order that those planning to attend tonight's world premiere of "Hell's Angels" may reach their objective. All eastbound traffic on the boulevard will be diverted and there will be no entrance from side streets from Vine to La Brea.

Tonight's special regulations are made in anticipation of the vast throng expected for the spectacular civic and military festivities to welcome Sid Grauman back to the world of theatrical production, after an absence of more than a year, with the Howard Hughes spectacle. Grauman is not only sponsoring the Hollywood engagement, but will roadshow the production all over the world.

Noted pilots are already engaged in tuning up squadrons of aircraft to participate in sky maneuvers, units of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps to take part are receiving final orders and hundreds of searchlights are being assembled in the film capital for what is promised to be the greatest illumination ever attempted in Southern California.

Duncan Sisters to Appear Here

The Duncan Sisters, noted on stage and screen, will present a varied program of intimate numbers at the Philharmonic Auditorium Thursday night and Saturday matinee.

Included in the repertoire will be grand opera (Duncanized.) "Topsy and Eva" and something called "Strange Interlude" (not O'Neill's.) Known universally for their character portrayals, the Duncans are expected to draw a large audience not only of their friends of the stage and screen, but of their fans and friends in Los Angeles. The two girls started their careers in California.

'Montana Moon' Ends Run Today

Starring Joan Crawford, "Montana Moon," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film romance, will close today. It will be replaced tomorrow on the Fox Palace Theater screen by "Devil May Care," which will continue for a week. Ramon Novarro, last seen in "The Pagan," plays the leading role.

Dorothy Jordan enacts the feminine lead. Marion Harris makes her talking picture debut as the designing countess, and John Miljan is cast as the villain. Sidney Franklin directed.

KEATON TALKIE SHOWING

"Free and Easy" is playing currently at the Westlake Theater. Edward Sedgwick directed the comedy, with Buster Keaton, and Anita Page in the chief roles. Keaton makes his debut in talking in "Free and Easy."

BOTTLE BANDIT HOLDS UP BANK

Gets $1200 by Threat to Blow Up Place

Drug Store Also Robbed Few Minutes Later

Two Taxi Drivers Victims of Outlaw Pairs

Coincident with the announcement of Captain of Detectives Seager, head of the central police robbery squad, that he will have under arrest today the bandit who is suspected of having held up half a dozen banks single-handed since the first of the year, a robber of similar description yesterday noon held employees of the Citizens' First National Trust and Savings Bank at 3421 Leimert Park Place at bay with a bottle believed to have contained nitroglycerin and escaped with $1200 in cash.

Within a few minutes after the bank robbery another bandit held up P. Prehusky in his drug store at 1309 West Jefferson street and robbed him of $200 after locking him in a rear room.

At the same time detectives of the robbery detail were making desperate efforts to apprehend the various gangs of bandits who during the night hours preceding, held up a pharmacy, two taxi-cab drivers, a gasoline service station and snatched purses from two women.

HANDS IN NOTE

In the robbery of the bank, the bandit, described as tall, good-looking, well dressed and quiet of manner, entered the bank just at the noon hour. He walked up to the assistant manager, A. J. Knudson, and book-keeper, Miss Gladys Farmer, and with one hand presented them with a threatening note. In the other he displayed the bottle of suspected high explosive.

The note read:

"I am a desperate man and in a desperate mood and I prefer death to identification. There is nitroglycerin in this bottle and we will go up together if that is your choice. Discretion is the better part of valor. There is no profit in being a dead hero. Hand me all of the money quickly. Don't be in a hurry to follow me or a lot of innocent people will be hurt."

The bandit pocketed the money handed to him by Knudson and backed toward the street door. He then quickly stepped outside and barred the door by inserting a piece of iron bar through the handles.

UNSOLVED ROBBERIES

A few moments later J. W. Henderson, manager, returned from lunch and released the assistant manager and book-keeper. Detective Lieutenants Stowell and Davis of the Wilshire division, arriving some time later, discovered the bottle carried by the bandit near the front door. It was turned over to Police Chemist Welsh for analysis.

Unsolved robberies of the night before were the hold-up of H. Johnson in the Lippen pharmacy at 559 North Western avenue, in which one bandit obtained $100 in cash and escaped with three confederates in an automobile; the robbery of taxicabs, caps and small amount of money from R. M. Armstead and J. C. Riley, drivers, by two pairs of passengers at Cherokee and De Longpre and Franklin and Hillhurst avenues, respectively, and robbery of $10 from C. L. Breer in a service station at Sixteenth and Los Angeles streets.

Mrs. L. H. Bourdno of 860 South Bronson avenue and Mrs. Mary O'Brien of 1630 Pleasant avenue were victims of purse snatchers. Mrs. Bourdno was held up in front of her home and lost nothing but her purse. Mrs. O'Brien was held up at Second street and Boyle avenue and robbed of $15 and purse.

ORCHESTRA LEADER'S AUTO FINE SUSPENDED

Abe Lyman, orchestra leader, was late for a charity concert at which he was to play, he told Municipal Judge Valentine yesterday after pleading guilty in Traffic Court to a charge of driving at a rate of forty miles an hour in a twenty-mile zone. Lyman was arrested on the 19th inst. on La Brea avenue. Judge Valentine suspended a $10 fine.

Suspect Sought After Shooting

Accused of having shot Chris Cobas, dairy employee of Downey Sunday night, Ralph Perez, 30 years of age, Glendale dairy worker, is the object of a search by Sheriff's office investigators.

Perez, according to officers who interviewed witnesses, became angry when Cobas offered a third man a drink from a bottle taken by Perez to a party in progress at 726 Foster Road, Downey. Witnesses stated that he drew a gun and shot Cobas in the hip and fled.

STENOGRAPHERS SOUGHT

City Prosecutor Nix yesterday asked the City Council to authorize the employment of three additional stenographers for his department. The pay is to be $125 per month. The Council referred the request to the Efficiency and Personnel Committee.

Druggist Given Sixty Days on Liquor Charge

Alfred B. Jacobs, wealthy wholesale druggist, found guilty recently before United States District Judge Cosgrave on five counts of violating the National Prohibition Act, was sentenced yesterday to serve sixty days in the County Jail on each count. The court, however, ordered that the sentences run concurrently; therefore, Jacobs will have to serve only sixty days.

Jacobs was convicted of extracting denaturing ingredients from large quantities of rubbing alcohol and selling it for beverage purposes.

Mr. Kearns died last Saturday after an operation at the Hollywood Hospital. He was 73 years of age. His home was at 1826 West Thirty-ninth street. He was born in Puthiamputter, British India, and spent most of his life in that country, where he owned large plantations.

He leaves two daughters, the Misses Hannah A. E. and Margaretha J. K. Kearns, both of Los Angeles, and other relatives in England.

REFRIGERATION PLAN ADOPTED BY COUNCIL

A report of the Building and Safety Committee, recommending that jurisdiction over refrigerating plants be placed with the Board of Building and Safety Commissioners, was adopted yesterday by the City Council.

BUNKER HILL'S SURVEY AIDED

County Provides $5000 to Assist Undertaking

Action Made Contingent on City Doing Likewise

Effect on Civic Center Plan One of Chief Factors

Assurance that a survey soon will be conducted to determine the feasibility of a plan calling for lowering and grading of the Bunker Hill district was seen yesterday in the action of the Board of Supervisors in voting appropriation of $5000 toward the cost of the survey.

The board made its appropriation contingent on similar action by the city. A week ago the City Council adopted a resolution providing $5000 and that action now is awaiting approval of Mayor Porter.

LARGE SUM READY

With the appropriations of the city and county, a total amount of $35,000 will be available for employing the engineering concern of Babcock & Sons to conduct the survey, which will cover the area between Sunset Boulevard on the north, Hill street on the east, Fifth street on the south and Figueroa street on the west.

In voting to contribute $5000 to the survey fund, the board set aside its action of a week ago at which time it filed a request from a City Council committee asking for the appropriation.

TWO REASONS

The board was governed in its action yesterday by two factors: That any grading or lowering of the hill area will have a profound effect on plans for the Civic Center, and that previous failure of the board to contribute to the fund was holding up plans for the survey, to the cost of which $25,000 has been subscribed by private interests.

The proposal to grade and lower the hill area to the level of the surrounding metropolitan district has been before the board a number of times within the past several years. Through the proposed survey it is hoped to determine definitely whether such a plan can be executed from an economic standpoint and to the benefit of the community.

ATTIC CASE ARGUMENTS POSTPONED

Attorneys for Sanhuber and Mrs. Oesterreich Not Able to Agree on Trial

Arguments seeking a further continuance of the trial of Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich and Otto Sanhuber, charged with the murder of Fred Oesterreich in his Los Angeles home on August 22, 1922, yesterday were deferred until next Monday by Superior Judge Desmond.

Jerry Geisler, attorney for Mrs. Oesterreich, and Earle S. Wakeman, attorney for Sanhuber, yesterday were unable to reach an agreement upon the trial date and Judge Desmond decided to postpone arguments on the matter until a time when Judge Hardy, who is scheduled to hear the trial, will return from a temporary assignment in Long Beach and resume his regular calendar.

The two defendants at present are scheduled to go to trial before Judge Hardy next Monday.

The indictment charges that Mrs. Oesterreich and Sanhuber conspired together to kill and finally did slay her husband, Fred Oesterreich, wealthy garment manufacturer.

The eight-year-old murder was revived two months ago when Sanhuber is asserted to have confessed to shooting Oesterreich down in his own home. At the same time Sanhuber is asserted to have admitted hiding in attics in the Oesterreich homes in Milwaukee and Los Angeles for ten years unbeknown to Oesterreich while he maintained his friendship with Mrs. Oesterreich.

Airplane Owner Wins Probation

George E. Flaherty, owner of an airplane valued at $25,000, and said to have been used for the smuggling of Chinese into this country from Mexico, yesterday was granted two years' probation when he appeared before United States District Judge Cosgrave.

Flaherty's previous good record and the declaration that he had no knowledge of the smuggling plans, led to the award of probation. John Frank Smith, jointly arrested, appeared before Judge McCormick and Judge Cosgrave. Judge McCormick set one case for trial on July 8. Judge Cosgrave continued one charge of smuggling and one of perjury until July to be set for trial.

EX-POLICE CHIEF ARRESTED

South Gate Man Arraigned on Two Theft Charges and Hearing Set for Next Tuesday

Franklin C. Bridcott, former Chief of Police of South Gate, sought for several months on warrants charging embezzlement of public funds and grand theft, was arrested early yesterday morning by deputy sheriffs.

The former police official, Deputy Sheriffs Seth and Fitzgerald reported, was taken into custody at the home of a relative at 1660 East Sixtieth street. The charges against Bridcott involve the asserted appropriation to his own use of fine money total ing $200 collected while he was serving as a police executive and also the asserted theft of $210 from the South Gate police sick-relief fund.

Following the issuance of a complaint by the District Attorney's office last December it was learned Bridcott was in the army hospital in Honolulu. He was not heard of since until arrested yesterday.

Bridcott said he returned to California several weeks ago with the intention of having the charges against him straightened out. He said he went to Honolulu to receive medical attention he was entitled to as a disabled veteran.

He was arraigned before Municipal Judge Ballard on both charges and his preliminary hearing set for next Tuesday. He was released on $500 bail pending the hearing.

AMERICAN STARS ADVANCE

Helen Wills Moody, Wilbur Coen, Bill Tilden and Elizabeth Ryan Still in French Play

AUTEUIL (France) May 26. (AP)—The American field in the French hard court tennis championships advanced without loss today along both the singles and doubles lines. Helen Wills Moody, Big Bill Tilden, and Elizabeth Ryan had to work for their victories while Wilbur Coen benefited by a default.

Both Mrs. Moody and Tilden in their singles engagements displayed sparkling tennis, although the caliber of the opposition was not such as they will meet later in the tournament. Their play did, however, give a record crowd of 5000 in the Roland Garros Stadium fears or hopes — according to whether they were French or American—that the champions from overseas will be among those present when the finals in the men's and women's singles are disputed.

Mrs. Moody, playing at top form, overwhelmed Adeline Neufeld, a young French player,

Youthful Net Stars Win Matches from Mexican Cup Players

WASHINGTON, May 26. (AP)—John Van Ryn of New Jersey and John Doeg of California, today completed the conquest of Mexico's tennis invaders, their straight-set victories giving the United States Davis Cup team an unblemished record in American zone competition.

Storming the net at every opportunity, Van Ryn defeated Ricardo Tapia, 20-year-old ace of the Mexican contingent, 6-2, 6-3, 6-1.

JOHNNY DOEG

Doeg, the youngest American Davis Cup netman, overwhelmed Frederick Sendel, 19-year-old Mexican, 6-1, 6-0, 6-2, requiring but thirty-five minutes for his conquest.

BY BENNY LEONARD
Retired Undefeated Lightweight Champion of the World

SCHMELING TRAINING CAMP, ENDICOTT (N. Y.) May 26. (NANA.)—Max Schmeling has taken the tip I've been trying to give him and now he is doing more boxing. He's beginning to train for his fight with Jack Sharkey, which is to decide the heavyweight championship of the world in the Yankee Stadium on June 12. He's boxing at least seven rounds a day, and is using four sparring partners.

MAX SCHMELING

First, let me impress on you that Schmeling is not a gymnasium fighter. He does not make his best showing in practice bouts. I cannot find fault with him in this, for some of the best gymnasium fighters I ever saw did not do so well when it came to actual combat in the ring, and vice versa. There was a fellow named Spider Roach who used to give me fits in the gym bouts, but when he got into the ring he was a pushover for me. Ted Kid Lewis was another fighter who didn't look so good in the gym, but was a whiz in the ring.

So it seems to be with Schmeling. Max is in there trying out new things; he's scheming and planning and studying the game, using his sparring partners as

DE PAOLO FLIRTS WITH DEATH IN TRAIN'S PATH

INDIANAPOLIS, May 26. (AP)—Pete De Paolo, famous American-Italian race driver, narrowly escaped death under the wheels of a Big Four passenger train late today as he was hurrying to the motor speedway in a car later qualified by Bill Cummings for the 500-mile race.

The 1925 and 1927 racing champion was speeding in order to get the racer to the track before sundown for the trial Cummings was to make, and forget to watch for the railroad crossing. Suddenly he heard the screech of a locomotive whistle, and just in time applied his brakes, spun about twice and landed his mount in the ditch. The hood of the car missed the tender of the locomotive by inches.

The driver and the racing car were unharmed, and the car was pulled from the ditch and driven on to the speedway, where Cummings, an Indianapolis boy fresh from the dirt tracks, whirled it about the course at 106.173 miles per hours to qualify it. Both car and driver were new to the track. Cummings's time was the fourth fastest made in qualifying trials to date for the 1930 race.

Melvin Kenealy, Los Angeles, and Jimmy Gleason, Philadelphia veteran, also qualified today, bringing the total number of eligible starters to twenty-

CATALINA COUNTRY CLUB, May 26. (Exclusive)—Transported from the pleasant, rolling fairway of their mainland courses to the rugged hills of this exacting island test, Mrs. May Johnson of Flintridge and Mrs. Paul Dietrick of Hollywood adapted themselves admirably to conditions here today to lead a field of eighty-five high handicap players in the Catalina invitation women's golf tournament.

MRS GREGG LIEUR

FINISHES STRONG

Finishing strong late this afternoon, Mrs. Johnson stroked the difficult last nine in 42 for a winning score of 44-42—86, to take low gross honors in Class C for players with handicaps from 17 to 27.

Mrs. Johnson was spurred on to victory by a fellow club member, Mrs. Ethel Lathrop, who turned in a card of 44-41—85. It was announced that Mrs. Lathrop had won with an 18 handicap, but Mrs. George M. Midgley, chairman of the women's auxiliary, reported that she had been cut to 16, and was therefore not eligible. The Flintridge golfer edged out Mrs. P. C. Loeffler of Lakeside, who finished earlier in the day with an 87.

There is no happier woman in the tournament than Mrs. Dietrick. The sensational Hollywood player, who scored, according to friends, an average close to 140, not only had the pleasure of breaking the century mark for the first time today, an epic milestone in any golfer's career, but her 97 stood up for first low gross in Class

EASTERN TEAMS SHOW GREAT STRENGTH IN I.C.4A. TRACK EVENT

BY RALPH HUSTON

Eastern athletes figure to cut heavily into the track point which the U.S.C. athletes expect to score in the I.C.4A. meet at Boston Friday and Saturday. But they do not figure to play havoc to any great extent in the points which Stanford figures to score in the field. All of which may or may not mean that Stanford can be expected to chalk up its fourth straight championship in the national collegiate meet.

Figures taken from the various eastern result indicate that every Trojan runner, from the quarter on up, can be expected to encounter speedy opposition, and inasmuch as half of the Trojan points are concentrated on the cinders, it is far from anything resembling a cinch that Dean Cromwell's athletes will win.

Here is a comprehensive standing, giving the best results of the eastern I.C.4A. contenders in meets to date this year. A summary of the best Trojan marks was given yesterday. Compare them and see what chance the Trojans have of winning the intercollegiate title:

FOUR MARINES ENTERED IN "TIMES" MARATHON

That the United States government is taking a tremendous interest in the 1932 Olympic Games in general, and the Times marathon in particular, was evidenced yesterday, when four official entries were received from the Marine base at San Diego.

Capt. C. Mc. L. Lott, base athletic officer of the San Diego encampment, forwarded the entries of four enlisted men who are entered in the pre-Olympic classic which is to be run here June 14.

The runners are Herbert G. Shaffer, John A. Perkins, James H. Hazeltine and Earl M. McWilliams. All four will represent the U.S.S. Marine Corps in the annual classic.

These four entries bring the total to date to 58. Charles Wesley Keppen, director of the race, expects that more runners than last year will compete in the marathon, as several of those that entered in 1929 did not run. Every entrant this year is expected to go to the starting post at noon June 14.

Recent army orders have indicated that the government has taken a great interest in the 1932 Olympic Games, which are to be held in Los Angeles, and a number of men have been ordered to a camp to prepare for the modern pentathlon. If the Marine entrants display especial ability in the marathon, it is expected that they, too, will receive special instruction for the long-distance race.

The event for June 14 will be run over the full marathon course of twenty-six miles 385 yards, starting in front of the City Hall and finishing on the First-street side of the Times Building.

Stars Open Against Seals in Bay City

Only half a game out of first place, Jack Lelivelt's Angels return to Wrigley Field this afternoon following a road trip of three weeks. Red Killefer's Missions oppose the Seraphs in this week's series. The Bells are in fifth place, two games behind the Angels.

JACK LELIVELT

Ordinarily the Seraphs might be expected to gain some ground on the league-leading Sacramento club this week, but it so happens that the Solons are playing Seattle and by no stretch of the imagination can the Indians be mistaken for tough competition. Hence, any ground that the Seraphs are going to gain can hardly be attained without some co-operation from the Siwashes. Whether this will be forthcoming remains to be seen.

Clyde Barfoot, ace of Lelivelt's hurling staff, will probably be out of the game for two weeks, due to a split hand suffered in Sunday's game at Sacramento.

Hollywood opens a seven-game series against the Seals at San Francisco. The Stars sometimes do surprisingly well in the Bay City and it would not be unlike them to take the series, although San Francisco really figures to give the Sheiks a sound thumping.

The other series finds the strong Oakland team meeting Portland in the Northwest. It will be surprising if the Oaks don't wind up the week well intrenched in first place.

Coal Miner Gives Jones and Spectators a Thrill

Harrison Johnston Cops Pair from English Rivals

BY FRANK H. KING
Associated Press Staff Writer

ST. ANDREWS (Scoland) May 26. (AP)—Opening play of the British amateur golf championship today was featured by weird weather and weirdly spectacular golf by Bobby Jones and a hitherto unknown English youth, Sidney Roper, who learned his golf between shifts as a coal miner.

Bobby Jones

Against an avalanche of four birdies and an eagle during the first nine holes, which Jones shot in thirty-three strokes, Roper replied with a string of nine fours, turning only 2 down, and he cling tenaciously to Bobby all the way to the sixteenth hole, where he was eliminated, 3 up and 2 to play.

Roper, entered from a municipal course at Nottingham, where he is the Nottinghamshire champion, did not even have a caddy who knew the course, a friend carrying his clubs for him, but he had the shots which brought praise from Jones after the match, and hope in the hearts of British golfers as he poured his steady fire of fours against the American star.

WORE HOBNAIL SHOES

Roper, dressed in an old coat and flannel trousers and wearing a slouch cap and ordinary street shoes with hobnails, never faltered against his famous opponent, and if the American open champion had played just a little less sensational golf, he might have been beaten.

Jones and Roper provided the thrills today, while the other Walker Cup players in action, Harrison R. Johnston and George Voigt, did the hard work.

Johnston never found the touch of the St. Andrews greens all day and he had to work hard for the two victories he needed to remain in the competition. The American amateur champion won his morn-

List of 138 Athletes Announced for Los Angeles County Junior Olympic Fi

MEET SLATED FOR SATURDAY

Moore Field to be Scene of Competition

Shoults and Okura Boast Leading Scores

Totals Are Better Than Last Year's

BY BRAVEN DYER

Having heroically survived elimination meets which brought together 31,000 athletes, 138 youngsters will go into action at Moore Field Saturday afternoon in the Los Angeles county finals of the Southern California Junior Olympic Games.

JIMMY MONTGOMERY

These 138 boys are the winners in approximately fifteen district meets and are, therefore, the pick of Los Angeles county. They have made splendid scores, have put their best foot forward through a long period of training and have several cheers coming for their intestinal fortitude in surviving so lengthy a preliminary test.

SHOULTS LEADS

Ord Shoults of Anderson Memorial Playground in San Pedro is the leading senior with 654 points.

T. Okura of Banning playground in San Pedro tops the list of junior performers with 608.

These scores are for competition in the district finals, all other marks being unofficial.

Sam Waxman of Echo Park playground in Los Angeles and Clark Crane of Huntington Park are pressing Shoults closely. Waxman's total is 638 and, Crane's 619.

Jimmy Montgomery of El Monte, with 592, and H. Yamamoto of Anderson Memorial, with 576, are close behind Okura in the junior race.

It is interesting to note the sensational improvement made by Los Angeles county athletes in scoring this year, despite the fact that lower scores are supposed to be the rule because of cutting down the number of points possible through expert chinning.

Last year in the junior division there were five boys above the 500 mark, three of these bettering 600 points. This season there are eleven above 500, one of whom has bettered 600. In 1929 there were seventeen additional youngsters above the 400 mark, while this year there are nineteen.

EVEN BETTER

The improvement is even more pronounced in the senior class. Last year there were seven boys in Los Angeles county who bettered the 500 mark and four of these have bettered 600. In 1929 an additional twenty-one exceeded 400 points, while this year twenty-four have gone above this figure.

All of which proves the old adage that practice makes for perfection. The boys have worked more diligently than ever this year and many of those who have done so well were entered in the games last season. The showing is all the more remarkable, however, when it is recalled that none of last year's champions are included in the list.

Saturday's meet will start promptly at 1:30 o'clock. All contestants must report at Moore Field at 12:30 to be classified.

The complete list of youngsters who have qualified for the affair follows:

Gleason's mount was the same car in which Tommy Milton won the 500-mile race here in 1928.

Rickliffe Decker, Brendenwood, N. J., and Julius C. Slada, Jackson, Miss., each failed for the second time to qualify their cars. Each has one more chance. William Denver of Philadelphia also failed in his initial ten-mile test today.

The two Italian drivers, Baconi Borsacchini, and Letterio P. Cucinnotta, were not ready to try their cars today, confining their efforts toward making them more adaptable to conditions of the brick course. They expect to take their trials tomorrow.

Other drivers have Tuesday and Wednesday in which to qualify their cars.

MOONLIGHT FISHING PRAISED BY ANGLERS

With the aid of cleverly concealed tinted flood lights, members of the Rainbow Angling Club have been getting the thrill of a lifetime fishing at the Azusa branch beneath the "moonlight."

Several weeks ago the Azusa branch was opened and fishing in the evening until 9 o'clock was inaugurated. This latest Rainbow feature has brought words of praise from the hundreds of members. The moonlight effects combined with the roar of the huge waterfalls at one end of the lake during these eventide fishing sessions has made the most blase angler sit up and take notice.

Lift Ban on Christner for Carnera Bout

DAYTON (O.) May 26. (AP) The Dayton Boxing Commission tonight lifted its suspension of K. O. Christner, Akron heavyweight, in order that Christner might go through with his scheduled bout against Primo Carnera in Detroit June 5, next.

He was suspended March 10, last, for failure to keep an engagement with Joe Sekyra of Dayton here.

Carnera, also under suspension by the N.B.A., had contracted for the Detroit fight and a permit had been granted by the Michigan commission before his suspension, President Isaacs of N.B.A. said, and therefore, he will be allowed to go through with the encounter. Isaacs said Carnera's suspension was not retroactive. It will remain in force, however, after the Detroit fight.

RABBIT PUNCHES

by PAUL LOWRY

WHAT PRICE FAME?

LESS than a year ago Jackie Fields hopped off a train in this city to the blare of trumpets. He had just won the welterweight championship from battered old Joe Dundee in a Detroit ring. They held a banquet for Jackie at the Biltmore, and made much ado over him. Such is fame.

Four days ago the same Jackie Fields again hopped off a train in this city. But this time there was no welcoming committee. There was no banquet at the Biltmore. There was no ado. Jackie had just lost his crown in the same Detroit ring where he gained it. Fame is fleeting.

It remained for Ralph Volke, Jackie's trainer, to spread the news of the ex-champion's home-coming. Ralph was at Carlo Curtis's outdoor fight show Saturday night.

"Yep, we got back yesterday," he said. "Everything's all right, though. Jackie just got a bad break at Detroit. He was overtrained, I guess. Didn't have his customary speed, and he hurt both his hands—one in the second and the other in the fourth. But he kinda got his second wind in the fifteenth round and almost had Thompson out. A push would have sent the black boy to the floor."

Fields and his manager, Gig Rooney, came home on trains fifteen minutes apart, but Volke says there is no significance in that. He denies the rift between the pair and all stories reaching the Coast of trouble between them.

STILL PALS

"THAT'S all bunk," Volke said.

"Jackie and Gig are the best of friends, and I ought to know because I'm traveling with them all the time.

"Anyway, we'll have the title back in less than three months. That'll stop the wisenheimers."

"What do you mean you'll have the title back in three months?" was the query.

"Why, Jackie's going to fight Thompson at Detroit September 11. Ray Alvis, Thompson's manager, promised us the match."

"Who's going to promote the show—the Olympia arena folks?"

"No, I think it's going to be Floyd Fitzsimmons. And Jackie's a cinch to get his championship back.

"Why, Thompson had to be taken to the hospital after the fight, and darned near died there."

LENGTHY CAREER

HIS thirteenth year in the ring and his 415th fight.

That's Dave Shade's record when he steps through the ropes to face Ace Hudkins tonight.

Born at Vallejo in this State, Dave has been fighting since 1918. He was the punk of the family when Leo P. Flynn took him under his banner.

And Leo only took him because the kid forced his way into attention when the late Leo P. was booking Dave's brothers, George and Billy.

Flynn got Dave a tough fight over in Brooklyn one night, and the kid made good.

Convinced he could fight, Leo then booked him mail-order fashion. Once Dave fought five times in a week. Dave's check amounted to $21,000. He has made that grow into $600,000 of apartment-house buildings in New York.

A TRACK RECORD

LESS than 5000 persons turned out for the California Intercollegiates at Stanford recently, and the two best college track teams in the country were in the competition.

Considering the class of the performances, the attendance was pitiful.

Apparently the little brown men of Nippon know their onions better than Americans when it comes to track meets.

They held the Far Western championships at Tokio the other day, and 45,000 persons were in attendance.

There were goods times, too—100 meters in 10 1-10s., 200 meters in 21 8-10s., 110-meter hurdles in 15 4-10s., 400 meters in 49 2-10s.

HOME GUARDS CLIMB

THE home teams did well last week, and tightened up the Coast League race considerably—four games to two for the Angels over the league-leading Senators and five games to three for Hollywood over the lowly Ducks.

If they do as well this week there will be more rejoicing among the natives.

Hollywood has gone north to play San Francisco, and the Angels are at home to the Missions, Red Dog Killefer bringing his men south for their first appearance of the year.

BOONE BOOSTS MARK AMONG COAST HITTERS

Ike Boone, Mission Red outfielder, was on a terrific batting spree last week, clicking off seventeen safe hits and boosting his season batting mark 25 points to .470. He now holds top spot in the Coast League batting averages with no close competitor. Boone bagged six home runs during the week, giving him an even dozen for the season. He leads all players as a manufacturer of safe hits, with seventy-eight to his credit. Looks as though Boone is out to beat his last season record when he hit .407, to establish an all-time high batting mark for the Coast League.

Harry Rosenberg, also of the Mission club, is second in the batting with a mark of .422. Wes Schulmerich, Los Angeles outfielder, is listed third with .416. The three foremost swatsmiths of the Coast League appear in the Mission-Los Angeles series at Wrigley Field this week.

The club and individual averages compiled to date follow:

FIRST YELLOWTAIL HOOKED OFF HERMOSA

HERMOSA BEACH, May 26.—Whatever honors are attached to catching the first yellowtail of the season on board the big Olympic fishing barge, go to Ed Smith of Los Angeles, who yesterday, while angling for bonito, pulled in a two-and-one-half-foot member of the yellowtail family.

Yellowtail were also caught by Capt. Cliff Garner's live-bait boats, as well as huge catches of barracuda and bass.

Capt. J. M. Anderson, skipper of the Olympic, was very enthusiastic about the early run of yellowtail and predicts a heavy summer for barge anglers.

TUNNEY'S EX-BOSS FOUND INCOMPETENT

NEW YORK, May 26. (AP)—A jury today declared William Gibson, boxing promoter and former manager of Gene Tunney, mentally incompetent to manage his affairs. The jury sat before Commissioner of Lunacy William F. Schneider. Friends said Gibson's trouble, which was diagnosed as general paresis, resulted from grief over the death of his wife, Florence H. Gibson, on November 12, 1928.

JOHN BALL was a great golfer, but one of the main reasons why he won the British amateur championship eight times was that he never got keyed up. On one or two occasions they had to hurry him out of his garden at Hoylake to start in time where the first tee was only 300 yards away.

In this connection Jess Sweetser, who won the British title in 1926, tells an interesting story about Brownlow, the golfer who took him twenty-one holes in the semifinal round and who last week lost to Bobby Jones by a stroke in the gold vase competition.

"I never played in a match I enjoyed more," said Jess. "Brownlow sauntered up to the first tee in his street clothes, street shoes, every-day hat, and in straight love sets, 6-0, 6-0, in which only two games went to deuce. Tilden took the youthful German hope, Edmund Nourney, into camp with the utmost ease, 6-0, 6-1, 6-2, experimenting and practicing all sorts of strokes after winning the first set at love. Miss Ryan, the Californian, now living abroad, played her usual fine tennis, although the former French champion, Suzanne Deve, now playing as Mme. Desloges, gave her a hard battle in the second set. Miss Ryan won, 6-2, 10-8.

AMERICAN NET STARS ADVANCE

Tilden and Fraulein Cecile Aussem, Germany miss, were the first pair to reach the semifinals in the mixed doubles. They were hard pressed to win the second set from Takeichi Harada and Mme. Matthieu, 9-7, after winning the first 6-3.

France's old doubles standbys, Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon, saved their men's doubles championship final from becoming an all-Australian affair, but were forced into five bitterly disputed sets to achieve this result. Cochet and Brugnon beat E. F. Moon and J. Crawford, 6-4, 6-4, 5-7, 5-7, 6-3. The other Australian pair, Hopman and Willard, whom the French meet in the men's finals tomorrow, have shown the best brand of doubles play seen in France in many years.

Finishing in semidarkness, Miss Ryan and Jean Borotra defeated Mlle. Jeanne Sigart of Belgium, and Jack Crawford of Australia, 10-8, 8-6, to reach the semifinals of the mixed doubles, where they will meet the Tilden-Aussem combination.

WESTERN GOLF COURSE TO HAVE LINKS TEAM

The Western-avenue Public Golf Course announces the organization a ten-man team to represent their course in the forthcoming public links team match play which the Public Golf Course League is sponsoring. About twenty low-handicap players, who regularly play over the Western-avenue course are attempting to qualify for the team. Six players have already completed their rounds. Their names and scores: Fred Hansen, 73; Bob Patterson, 75; Ed Von Gorleetz, 76; Fred Wright, 76; Ray Cope, 77; Gill Evans, 78.

The course, with revamped fairways and greens and new sand traps is in wonderful shape and proves to be a real test. Hansen's 73 was really brilliant golf.

HUDKINS AND SHADE TOP OLYMPIC CARD

stopped by Sammy Baker at Chicago. They came out here for the rematch and Hudkins speared the fighting sergeant all over Wrigley Field.

That's the only time Hudkins ever had any kind of a knockout hung up against his record.

TEN-YEAR MARK

He's been in the ring game a long time, this Wildcat, although the record books only show him fighting since 1923. However, he claims he's been going at least ten years.

Shade has been at it thirteen. He started in 1918. He is 28 and Hudkins is 25.

Shade has had more fights and he has taken less punishment than Hudkins. The Wildcat would always take a couple to give one. Shade has emphasized defense but at the same time hits stiffly and with stunning emphasis. His short jolts as he bobs and weaves and comes off the floor will be hard for Hudkins to avoid.

He should pile up a big lead in the first five rounds, and unless Hudkins can overcome this with his rushing tactics in the closing heats Shade should win.

In better shape than he was for the Walker fight, Hudkins will set a stiff pace. He has always been noted for his indomitable perseverance, and he never quits trying. If Shade tires Hudkins will then come on to win.

Both fighters have put in unusually hard licks for this fight. Hudkins has been at Murrietta and Shade at Soper's. Both have trained on sunshine.

Hudkins has been more gluttonous for work than Shade, but the latter has excelled in boxing. Hurkins, with his long winging punches was unable to do much in sparring sessions with Eddie Burnbrook, who is a simple edition of Shade.

No word was forthcoming from the commission yesterday as to the identity of the referee, but it is generally agreed that Billy Burke is likely to be the man.

He is acceptable to both fighters, who scratched several other names which came up for consideration at commission headquarters yesterday afternoon.

Hudkins came back to town Sunday afternoon, but Shade, with a full crop of whiskers, did not drop in until yesterday morning.

Shade wanted to enter the ring with whiskers and all, but the commission ruled otherwise. The rules call for a boxer to be clean shaven, so Shade had his first cut in three weeks. The unveiling was remarkable. Even some of his closest friends failed to recognize him.

Hudkinz announced yesterday that his seconds would be Tom Kennedy, Billy Uvick and Chick Lewis. Shade says his corner men will be Tom Maloney, Cal Working, Larry Morrison and Joey Greenberg.

WEIGH IN AT TWO

The weighing in today will be at 2 o'clock in the offices of the State Athletic Commission. Shade said he expects to scale as low as 157 pounds. Hudkins said he would hit from 158 to 160—but not over the middleweight limit.

Neither Mickey Walker nor Jack Kearns is here for the fight as they had planned. They are the most interested parties in this battle for future business.

Shade will wear a tailor-made silk bathrobe of deep blue. The Kitty will wear a heavy gray and brown striped blanket robe and an old cap which he has had on his head for the last five years. He thinks the cap brings him luck.

SCHMELING IN FAST WORKOUT

an abl to this study. He is learning. In his sparring bouts he is figuring out a way to beat Jack Sharkey. And Schmeling is pretty good at figuring, too. Don't get the idea that this fellow is going to be any soft snap.

I have been watching him box. He crowds his sparring partners, and that leads me to believe his plan is to fight Sharkey a crowding fight. Probably, Max realizes that Sharkey is a clever boxer. The fundamental principle of the game is "fight a boxer and box a fighter."

In this Schmeling is on the right track. It is the thing for him to do, if he can, against Sharkey. That's what Johnny Risko and Tom Heeney did when they met Sharkey. They kept crowding him. Schmeling must know this, for Joe Jacobs would tell him. If Max crowds Sharkey, he will force Jack to fight back, and in this way the American champion will not be able to box so much as he will have to fight. Thus, you see, Schmeling will be making Sharkey fight the way Max wants him to fight.

JAVELIN THROW

A CHUCKLE FOR EVERYBODY

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Lieutenant Albert Werper, terrified at the fate which might await him at Adis Abeba, tried to think of some scheme of escape. After Musgamhi had eluded their vigilance, the Abyssinians redoubled their guard about Werper. For awhile he considered bribing Abdul Mourak with some of the jewels of Opar, and then there dawned on him an idea whereby he could keep the jewels, satisfy the greed of the Abyssinian and also gain his freedom. He requested an audience with the big chief.

As the Belgian entered the presence of his captor, Abdul Mourak eyed him frowningly. When Werper announced he wished to purchase his liberty, the Abyssinian laughed long and loud. "Pay for it?" he sneered. "What with—the rags upon your back? Get out!" "Listen to me," pleaded Werper. "If I can give you as much gold as ten men may carry, will you promise to take me safely to the English Commissioner?" "You are crazy," replied Abdul. "Where have you as much gold as that?"

"Promise," said Werper, "and I will lead you to it." Abdul Mourak had ceased to laugh. His eyes the Belgian intently. The fellow seemed sane enough—yet ten loads of gold! The Abyssinian thought in silence for a moment. "Well, and if I promise, how far is this gold?" "A long week's march to the south," replied Werper. "And if we do not find it where you say it is, do you realize what your punishment will be?" "If it is not there, I will forfeit my life," replied the Belgian.

"I know it is there, for I saw it buried with my own eyes," he continued earnestly. "You will stake your life against the finding of the gold?" asked Abdul. Werper assented with a nod of his head. "Very well," said the Abyssinian. "I promise to free you even though we find but five loads of gold. But until it is in my possession you remain a prisoner." "I am satisfied," said Werper. "Tomorrow we start?" Abdul Mourak nodded, and the Belgian returned to his guards.

IT'S ALL RIGHT, I GUESS. I WON'T REPORT IT UNLESS YOU TRY TO MOVE IT OFF YOUR LOT HERE.
WHAT DO YOU MEAN, REPORT? WHO ARE YOU?

SANITY CASE DEFENDANT ARRAIGNED

Bailey Hearing Fixed for Thursday and He Will be Kept Under Observation

Fisher C. Bailey, 43 years of age, Beverly Hills millionaire who suddenly became violent Sunday and was taken in custody by a squad of police after a struggle, was arraigned yesterday before Superior Judge Gould in the psychopathic court and his hearing set for next Thursday. In the interim he will be under the observation at the General Hospital.

The affidavit of insanity was made out Sunday and signed by the patient's wife, Mrs. Dorothy H. Bailey, who asserts her husband has been acting in an irrational manner. She declares he refused to eat, locked himself in his room, laboring under delusions of persecution, believed people were spying on him and kept two loaded revolvers in their home at 143 Mapleton Drive.

When Bailey became violent Mrs. Bailey, fearing for her life, called the police.

Fifteen Alaskan cities have extended invitations to the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce excursion party scheduled to leave this city for the north country on June 5, according to Charles P. Bayer, field secretary of the chamber, who will be in charge of the tour. The entertainment planned is in nearly every instance typical of Alaska, including reindeer barbecues, salmon dinners and trips through famous glacier and river country. Reservations for the tour are still open and chamber officials hope to sell 200 tickets, which will permit chartering the S.S. Aleutian for the voyage from Seattle.

NEW LINERS ON LASSCO DOCKET

Manager Announces Plans on Way for Two

Cost of Each Set at Around $3,000,000

Will Place Vessels in West Coast Trade

BY WALDO DRAKE

Plans are being developed by the Los Angeles Steamship Company for the early construction of two superexpress liners, to cost between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 each, for its California coastwise service, it was announced yesterday by Ralph J. Chandler, vice-president and general manager. The new speedsters, which with its present steamers, Yale and Harvard, will give Lassco daily service between the local port, San Francisco and San Diego, will have a speed of at least twenty-four knots and will carry more than 500 cabin passengers and about 1000 tons of express cargo.

Mr. Chandler revealed that tentative plans and specifications for the vessels have already been prepared and submitted to Lassco executives by one California shipbuilder. Exhaustive research and tests are being made, however, that ultimate efficiency in hull design and propeller will be built to the highest classification of the American Bureau of Shipping, with all modern devices for safety and aids to navigation.

Since they re-entered the service in 1930, the Yale and Harvard have carried more than 1,000,000 passengers between the three California ports without a single casualty, Lassco's annual coastwise traffic, which last year exceeded 121,000 persons, has reached a point of expansion where additional tonnage is imperative. Mr. Chandler denied published reports that the service will be extended to Seattle upon completion of the proposed new liners.

PLANS MAKING FOR TWO UNUSUAL CRAFT

William Lambie and Curtis Mabry, local naval architects, will submit completed plans within the fortnight to local shipbuilders for two unusual craft of their design—a 10,000-barrel Diesel-driven coastwise tanker to be built for the Rio Grande Oil Company and a 200-foot Diesel-electric passenger and automobile ferry for the Automobile Ferry Company of Coronado.

The tanker will be used both for coastal cargo transport and for bunkering vessels in port here, its twin aptary pumps being able to pump 6000 barrels of fuel oil into a ship's bunkers in a single hour. The vessel, to be driven by two 250-horsepower Diesel engines, will be 180 feet long between perpendiculars with a beam of 36 feet and a 16.8-foot draft. Its cost will be approximately $185,000. Shipyards will be asked to bid on its construction without machinery.

The ferry, to cost about $125,000, is to be ready for operation by January 25, 1931. It will have Diesel-electric propelling machinery developing 1300 horsepower, giving a loaded speed of thirteen knots. It will carry sixty automobiles and several hundred passengers.

The McCormick steamer Charles L. Wheeler, discharging ties at the foot of Seventh street, San Pedro, was rammed in the stern yesterday noon by the Isthmian liner Anniston City, arriving from Houston, Tex.

The Isthmian steamer was slowly moving into the berth just south of the Charles L. Wheeler. Confusion in answering bells, it is said, sent the Anniston City ahead instead of astern, cutting a hole through the Wheeler's transom. Four plates were damaged on the Wheeler and a two-foot hole gouged in the starboard bow of the Anniston City.

The Charles L. Wheeler will continue discharging, when she is expected to go to a local shipyard for several days' repairs. Whether the Anniston City would repair until she continued to northern ports was not decided yesterday.

In the midst of the crash, Aevid Pearson stepped on the wrong pedal and backed his Pacific Dye Works truck over the wharf and into the bay. He vacated his seat as it reached the water and swam ashore.

Lieutenant-Commander James A. Crutchfield reported for duty yesterday in charge of the Navy's local Hydrographic Office, after a week's delay on account of illness. He has been fleet secretary to Admiral L. A. Bostwick, retiring commander of the battleship divisions of the battle fleet, residing at Long Beach. He succeeds Lieutenant-Commander Robertson J. Weeks, who recently took command of the U.S.S. Greer at San Diego.

The new motor liner Asama Maru arrived yesterday from Yokohama via San Francisco on her third trip for the Nippon Yusen Kaisha. She disembarked 150 passengers, and will embark as many when she sails tomorrow at 2 p.m.

Due tomorrow for bunkers, the Mitsui steamer Akibasan Maru will continue to San Marcos Island in the Gulf of California where she will load a full cargo of crude gypsum for Japan. Several such shipments have gone out to Japan recently and more are scheduled.
